

Landform Regions of North America

1 The Rocky Mountains are formed from sedimentary rock folded and thrust up by the collision of plates.