

JOY OF PRETEND COOKING

At the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, kids education was shut down for months and parents were stuck at home with their young children. So, using simple supplies and toys found at home, we created this pretend cookbook to spark the imagination of our own toddler (and fellow parents), and then shared it with @TheDadView's 60,000 followers online, encouraging fellow parents to print it themselves or create their own.
