TEACHING EXPERIENCE (1997 – present)

South Carolina Governors School for the Arts and Humanities
(August 2011 – present) Full-time Visual Arts Faculty

Teach printmaking, drawing, Visual Language and Contemporary Art Theory to 11th and 12th grade students in the visual arts. Expand upon and develop curriculum that connects drawing, studio practice, theory and printmaking into the instruction keeping in mind the best interest of each student.

Anderson University, Anderson, SC

(Fall 2010-Spring 2011) Adjunct Lecturer, "Foundations I and Foundations II"

Part of a team of instructors teaching the required freshman fine art foundation course. Follow established curriculum to guide students through projects that incorporate the elements and principles of design, fundamental drawing skills, color theory, and presentation and craftsmanship skills. Lecture and present projects to students in large and small groups and work with students one on one as they develop and carry out each project.

Clemson University, Clemson, SC

(Spring 2011) Adjunct Lecturer, "Drawing II"

Develop course syllabus and projects as a continuation of Drawing I. Course is intended to increase students' skills in observational drawing, use of formal, compositional elements, 1-, 2-, and 3-point perspective and the development of conceptual ideas and themes through visual language.

(Fall 2010) Adjunct Lecturer, "Foundations I"

Follow established curriculum to guide students through projects that incorporate the elements and principles of design, fundamental drawing skills, color theory, presentation and craftsmanship skills. Develop a familiarity with the vocabulary of art and design and introduce the importance of brainstorming to create a conceptual visual language as a means of communication through art.

(Spring 2010) Adjunct Lecturer, "Introduction to Graphic Design"

Developed course syllabus, projects, assigned reading and exercises based on cumulative exposure to graphic design elements and theory. Conduct class discussions, lead critiques and introduce a multi-disciplinary student group to the goal of visual literacy.

(Spring 2009) Instructor of Record, "Beginning Printmaking"

Co-teach beginning printmaking classes with another graduate student. Create and lead projects that introduce printmaking techniques and encourage understanding and mastery of those techniques. Instruction focuses on the history of printmaking, tool use and care, paper varieties, and the processes of intaglio, woodcut, monotype and collagraph.

(Fall 2008) Instructor of Record, "Advanced Printmaking"

Create and lead printmaking class for undergraduate printmaking majors and graduate students. Academic tasks include curriculum design based on current requirements for this mixed-level course, conduct demonstrations reviewing familiar techniques and introducing new ones, and invite visiting artists for demonstrations. Techniques taught include lithography, screen print and solar plate. Responsibilities also include communicating assignments and deadlines, moderating class critiques, and grading each student's work based on clearly defined guidelines.

(Fall 2007 and Spring 2008) Teaching Assistant for "Advanced Printmaking"

Assist printmaking professor with teaching responsibilities. Assist with demonstrations, address student questions and technical problems, and help with shop maintenance and supply inventory. Introduce, teach and demonstrate two projects and grade each student's work for those projects based on predetermined criteria.

Greenville County Museum of Art, Greenville, SC

(2010) Instructor for adult beginning classes in drawing and acrylic painting. Create the classes based on the facilities available, write syllabi for each, provide material lists to the school and the students, and conduct all demonstrations and classes. These are four-week courses meeting once a week and provide an introduction to basic concepts of drawing and painting with the intention that students get a feel for the medium and a desire to continue with more classes.

(2007) Instructor for art classes designed for children ages 8 through 16. Create the classes based on the facilities available, write syllabi for each, provide material lists to the school and the students, and conduct all demonstrations and classes. "Draw, Design, Paint" and "Draw, Design, Sculpt" take students through the fundamentals of drawing out a concept, designing a plan, be it color choices, composition or in the case of sculpture, structural and built elements, and then executing the work based on the drawing and design. "Drawing Inside and Out," takes students into the museum to draw from exhibits and outside the museum to draw sculptures, buildings and found sites in the surrounding neighborhood. "Museum in Miniature" shows students the "back rooms" of the museum and then takes them through the construction of their own diorama complete with reproductions of existing pieces and their own additions. "Teen Printmaking" is an introductory printmaking class using an etching press and water-based inks to create drypoints, monotypes, linocuts and woodcuts.

Children's Art Centre, United South End Settlements, Boston, MA

(2006) Instructor for weekly art sessions

Teach 4 classes per week to inner-city preschool children, ages 2.9 – 6 years. Classes correspond to themes being taught in the classroom and focus on age-appropriate developmental skills as well as recognition and understanding of art materials and skills over time.

(2005 – 2006) Instructor for "Art Explorations for Little Ones"

Teach young children (toddler and preschool) with an adult partner the foundations of art-making while having fun, stimulating creative exploration and building skills. Projects include color mixing, clay-play, stamping, finger painting, and simple crafts. The focus is on confidence building, fine motor control and familiarity with basic art materials.

DeCordova Museum School of Art, Lincoln, MA

(2004 – 2006) Printmaking Instructor for “Monoprint/Monotype”

(1997 – 1999) Printmaking Instructor for “Printmaking Techniques”

Teach adult printmaking classes. Responsible for creating 8 week course curriculum and demonstrating a variety of printmaking techniques, working with students as a group and individually to insure experimentation and competence in each technique. Responsibilities also include general shop upkeep and inventory of supplies and materials.

Truro Center for the Arts, Truro, MA

(2005) Printmaking Instructor for “Carborundum and Drypoint Printmaking”

Teach adult printmaking class. The weeklong course explores carborundum monoprint and drypoint techniques and is divided between studio/press time and outdoor excursions to collect imagery and ideas.

Two Rivers Press, White River Junction, Vermont

(2004) Printmaking Instructor for “Carborundum and Drypoint Printmaking”

Teach adult printmaking class. The two-day course explores carborundum monoprint and drypoint techniques.

Mixit Print Studio, Somerville, MA

(2004) Printmaking Instructor

Teach weekend workshops to adults at a private printmaking studio. Responsible for preparing all aspects of the workshop including the 2-day lesson plan and demonstrations, overseeing each student’s work, and guiding a critique session at the end of the weekend.

Fine Arts Work Center, Provincetown, MA

(2004) Instructor for “Random Systems for Drawings”

Teach weekend workshop to adults. This workshop focuses on creating “systems of randomness” for the making of spontaneous and new drawings, using mixed-media materials and non-traditional approaches to drawing.

Marty Epp Studio, Hyde Park, MA

(2002 – 2006) Drawing and Printmaking Instructor and “Art Coach”

Provide private or semi-private (2-3 people) drawing and printmaking instruction for students of all abilities and ages. The focus is on creating a plan that suits the abilities and needs of each student. For beginning students the projects vary from traditional, representational techniques, to abstraction and the development of a personal mark-making vocabulary. Artists who hire me as an “Art Coach” usually have a studio of their own and are engaged in ongoing art-making and exhibiting. My role is varied, but includes: troubleshooting technical issues, challenging stale work-habits or blocks they’ve encountered and providing a fresh eye on current work in progress.

Massachusetts College of Art, Boston, MA

(1994) Teaching Assistant and Print Shop Monitor, Printmaking Dept.

Provided technical assistance to students during open studio hours. Assisted the printmaking department manager in keeping track of supplies and materials. Assisted with general shop maintenance.

Boston University, Boston, MA

(1983) Teaching Assistant, School of Public Communication

Co-led weekly graphic design workshops and discussion groups for freshmen and sophomores; created lesson plans to supplement concepts from core class; graded and wrote critiques for all work done by twenty-student section. Held office hours for individual consultation and worked with co-leader to plan each class meeting.
