Exceptions/Additions

- Penitential Prayers will be shorter on some days, longer on others, and completely absent on happy days. A longer set of penitential prayers are recited on Mondays and Thursdays.
- All Mondays and Thursdays include a Torah Reading (usually the first selection of that Shabbat's portion). All special days include a special Torah reading, even those not on Mondays/Fridays.
- Holidays that do not prohibit labor (e.g., New Moon, Chanukah, Intermediate Festival Days with the exception of Purim) replace penitential prayer (V) with the recitation of Half or Full Hallel (Psalms 113–118), found on Page 632.
- These days (with the exception of Chanukah and Purim) also include Musaph, an Additional Amidah following Torah Reading. Musaph for the New Moon is found on 644, for holidays on 674. It is recited following a Chatzi-Kaddish (Half Kaddish), following VI-c.
