Whenever we begin a secular New Year, we often find ourselves wondering, “Where have all the years gone?” “How is it that time seems to pass so quickly as we get older?” Certainly this is the feeling that comes into my mind at this season, not only because of the idea of the “new year,” but even more so because my oldest grandchild, Daniel, was born on January 4, nine years ago. I don’t know how many of you remember a sermon I delivered on the Jewish New Year, on Rosh Hashanah, in the year 5767, five months before Daniel was born, when I spoke about the appropriate Hebrew name that my first grandchild would be given. I had researched a plethora of possibilities, but thanks to my daughter Rebekah and son-in-law David, it was decided to name my grandson after my father of blessed memory. These nine years have passed so quickly and knowing that this sacred child, this gift from God, will be preparing for his Bar Mitzvah in just four years from now is truly amazing.

As you all are aware, I am actually completing my third decade as the Rabbi of Congregation B’nai Zion, and forgive the cliché, but it seems “like only yesterday” that I began my rabbinate here. In fact, every Tuesday when I meet with Drew Frank to prepare him for his Bar Mitzvah in May, I can’t help but reflect on the fact that I was the Rabbi who prepared his beautiful mother, Dana, for her Bat Mitzvah. Somehow, the life cycle events on the Jewish calendar, along with the many festivals that we observe during the course of a year, appear to move the days, months and years at a rather fast pace.

A few years ago, I gave a sermon based on the film “The Butler,” and spoke about all the special moments in our synagogue’s history during the terms of the fifteen, now sixteen, presidents that I have served under. I believe that for many of us, we watch the pages of the calendar turn from one month to the next, and one year to the next, and when we take a moment to pause and reflect we really find it hard to comprehend how quickly those days and years, and even decades have gone by. Very recently a congregant discovered a Bat Mitzvah check in a card in a book, that was from Jack Berg, of blessed memory, to Jackie Nadler!

When my family traveled together to Phoenix over Thanksgiving in November, we had professional photographs taken as we had done two years before. Although each of us, including the grandchildren, has changed somewhat during the interim of those two years, it seemed as if only two minutes had actually passed. Our congregation has had a rich and extraordinary history and I am sure that each of us can think of some event, some occurrence, some ritual, or some holiday that we will never forget and which will continue to bring us fond memories as these days and years continue to move forward. As we celebrate the year 2016, let us continue to create new memories for ourselves, our children and grandchildren. Some of us in recent years have not been as involved in our congregation as we used to be, and while it’s always fine to inspire new people to take up the charge, it really is us who lose out by not continuing to create memorable moments in our connection to our Shul and our community. I hope that this coming year, each of us will decide that we will make a real effort to be more active and energetic in our participation in the synagogue’s programs, whether they be religious, educational, or social. May each of us have a very healthy, prosperous, and fulfilling New Year.

Stephen A. Leon
Rabbi
With the New Year upon us, many of us take this opportunity to set resolutions. For some, this may include spending more time with our family/friends, reducing stress and enriching our lives. All these goals can be achieved through more involvement with B’nai Zion.

Family reunions are possible every Shabbat and even lunch is included! Relaxation is possible through the social programs offered such as Casino Night on January 30th. However, most importantly, you can enrich your life through spiritual growth which is provided with the many educational programs presented by Rabbi Leon. In addition, special upcoming events include the Building Rededication in late February and a Recognition Dinner for Annalie Rollins to honor her 25 years of service (date to be determined). If you would like to assist in the planning of any of these, contact the Shul office for details on how to volunteer.

So, B’nai Zion is able to assist you with your resolutions but only when you attend and become involved. Our “Jewish Home” is not complete without you. Please visit soon and often to help us make 2016 a wonderful year.

Lamed Bet, Giving from the Heart, Campaign

Thirty-two years ago our congregation dedicated the synagogue on Cherry Hill Lane. Securing the land, raising the necessary funds, and seeing the building to completion took an incredible amount of commitment and dedication from lay and professional leaders and all congregants.

On February 27, 2016, Congregation B’nai Zion will rededicate its building and honor its past-presidents. All are invited to this program at 7pm following Ma’ariv. RSVPs are requested by February 5, 2016, to the office by phone (915-833-2222), email (cbzdevelopment@gmail.com), or online registration at congregationbnaizion.org.

In honor of the 32nd anniversary of our synagogue, B’nai Zion is also launching a Lamed Bet—Giving from the Heart—Campaign to ensure that our synagogue is sound and strong for the future. You should have received information about this Campaign in the mail, and it is also available in the office and on our website, congregationbnaizion.org.

The Lamed Bet Campaign includes dedicating parts of the building and recognizing contributions on The Builders plaques on the marble wall in the lobby. Join these Builders by dedicating a portion of the building in honor or in memory of a loved one. A schedule of possible dedications is available in the office and online.

Half of the Lamed Bet proceeds will be dedicated to the Building Fund for building repairs and improvements. The remainder will be part of the general operating fund to allow shul programming to continue and improve.

Thank you for your participation and support!

Sincerely,
Kristin Kimmelman & Denise Tolentino
Rededication Co-Chairs

In December Sisterhood was privileged to help with the B’nai Zion Hannukah event. The Saturday evening event drew over one hundred people for mincha services, a delicious seudah with entertainment by Talmud Torah, ma’ariv and Havdalah services, and the lighting of our outdoor menorah. Thank you to Rabbi Leon and the Talmud Torah teachers for their preparation of the Talmud Torah students.

In January Sisterhood will be observing Women’s League Shabbat 2016. Sisterhood members will participate in Saturday morning services on January 16. If you are a Sisterhood member and would like to participate in the services by doing a reading (in English or Hebrew), having an Aliyah, or leading a portion of the services, please contact me as soon as possible for an assignment. Services will be followed by a luncheon in the Friedman Social Hall.

As you know, this year’s theme for Women’s League is Nat’ah karem – She plants a vineyard. Women’s League literature reminds us that this is derived from the Eishet Chayil poem from the last chapter of the book of Proverbs. In this poem, the woman of achievement is commended as she is a woman of industry, commitment, creativity and foresight. She is the consummate multi-tasker, the crafter, the bookkeeper, the diplomat and the vintner. It is unfortunate that in recent times, this poem had been deemed cliché by many. This is regrettable because the biblical models of accomplished women are too few – and this woman, and the values she exhibits is a worthy model for any woman to emulate. Moreover, the particular imagery of nat’ah karem focuses not only on her productivity in the present, but imagines the rewards from planting a vineyard that will be realized well into the future. So the physical achievements are not the only things to be celebrated – we also applaud her desire to create a legacy for future generations.

This will resonate with members of Women’s League which has been in existence for nearly one hundred years. Our own Sisterhood was established more than eighty years ago. During that time, our women have crafted and cooked, studied and taught, raised money and balanced books, guided and advised. We have done this to ensure the future.

The eishet chayil is the accomplished woman who has transcended time and venue. She is you. She is me. She is all of us.

In 1982, our congregation moved into the beautiful synagogue that is now our home. Looking on as Rabbi Martin Berman removes bricks from around the cornerstone of the old synagogue on N. Mesa St, are members of B’nai Zion. Among the items found in the “time capsule” metal box were: a roster of the 194 members, a history of B’nai Zion written by Rabbi Joseph M. Roth who served for 30 years, two issues of “The Messenger” and a note from a group of six women called the Busy Bees who had raised over $300 for the then new building.
