Judging a person favorably is not merely a nice thing to do, it also has very serious implications in heaven. When someone fails to judge another Jew favorably and instead criticizes him he is in effect playing the role of satan, whose task it is to prosecute us before the heavenly court. It is common for a person hearing negative information about someone else's behavior to react with anger. "What a chutzpa! what a chilul hashem! How could he do something like that? Did this person ever pause to consider that this maybe an outright lie?" It may be based on hearsay or gossip taken out of context or blown out of proportion. And even if it is true there may be a perfectly valid reason for the person's behavior. Without knowing the facts people should mind their own business!
