Kim Curran

Founder, In Two Places • Networking Strategist • Bestselling Author

Kim Curran is a dynamic speaker, trainer, and relationship-builder who teaches professionals how to transform networking from awkward small talk into authentic, purpose-driven connection. As the creator of the B.R.I.D.G.E. Networking System, Kim equips audiences with a clear, repeatable framework that helps them show up confidently, communicate meaningfully, and build networks that actually work in the real world.

She has delivered engaging talks and trainings for groups ranging from 5 to 75 attendees, offering sessions from 20-minute keynotes to 90-minute workshops. Her style is warm, practical, and deeply relatable — blending real-world experience, biblical wisdom, and actionable steps participants can use immediately.

Kim is the #1 bestselling author of Cast Your Net Wide: Lessons from the Greatest Networker Who Ever Lived, a groundbreaking book that reveals how Jesus built the most influential community in history through courage, curiosity, compassion, and intentional connection. Drawing from the stories of the apostles — unlikely individuals who became world-changing leaders — Kim shows modern audiences how to grow community with the same clarity and purpose.

Through her company, In Two Places, she helps leaders, teams, and organizations strengthen their “Network IQ,” deepen trust, and expand visibility without burnout. She is known for her ability to make networking feel human, mission-aligned, and even enjoyable.
