

KAREN LIN USLIN, PH.D.

SCHOLAR & PUBLIC EDUCATOR
HOLOCAUST MEMORY, INTERFAITH
ENGAGEMENT, CULTURAL IDENTITY

(267)-566-9178

karen.uslin@gmail.com

Washington, DC
area

About Me

Karen Lin Uslin, Ph.D., is a scholar, educator, and public speaker specializing in Holocaust memory, interfaith engagement, and cultural identity. She serves as Director of Research for the Defiant Requiem Foundation and teaches Jewish Studies at Stockton University and Musicology at The Catholic University of America. She holds a Ph.D. in Musicology and Central/Eastern European Studies from The Catholic University of America, with research focused on music, memory, and faith under persecution. She is Vice President of the Carpatho-Rusyn Society and, as an adoptee, brings personal insight to genealogy and questions of identity, heritage, and belonging.

SPEAKING TOPICS

- Holocaust Memory and Moral Responsibility Today
- Music as Resistance: Creativity, Faith, and Survival in the Holocaust
- Interfaith Dialogue That Works: Building Trust Across Religious Differences
- Finding Identity through Cultural Memory: Adoption, Genealogy and Belonging

SELECTED ENGAGEMENTS

- * Defiant Requiem Foundation (USA, Canada, & Europe)
- * National Carpatho-Rusyn Society
- * Catholic Parishes and Interfaith Communities (Mid-Atlantic Region)
- * University and community audiences (USA & Europe)
- * International Forum of Jewish Studies COZ
- * History Hack podcast

SOCIAL MEDIA INFO

Karen L. Uslin, Ph.D.

@drklu.bsky.social

@drkareuslin