

SeSocio.com, the leading Latin American based investment marketplace is developing Investoland, with its native currency, the InveCoin.

SeSocio has more than 70,000 investments and 30 team members. Its valuation was set at USD 50 million dollars after its latest funding round.

Investoland will be a smart contract-governed investment ecosystem that will connect entrepreneurs and investors worldwide, with no regard for political borders, and thus provide the first truly decentralized investment network.

This efficient peer-to-peer investment network will enable:

-  Savers to yield returns and turn their funds from stagnant capital into productive endeavors.
-  To integrate a continuous liquidity protocol with a price that constantly adjusts based on supply and demand, to compete with the P2P trading platform.
-  Any company or individual to base their financial interactions on smart contracts of the Ethereum network with ease and without the need to develop a technology team.
-  The decentralization of trust in SeSocio.com's platform, through its economic incentive-based social network.

We aim to elevate crowd investments to its true potential, empowering small and unsophisticated investors to participate and enabling the access of a heavily underexploited source of capital into the productive economy. Investoland will create a bridge between blockchain technology and real-world economic projects.

The Inve will be the network's fuel, allowing for any and all investments to take place.

The token would have a floor price, determined by the value of the tradable assets on the network, with a current value of 56 million USD, and trillions of dollar of potential. In a wise market, the price per token wont go below it.
