

Three brand-new Wami guides for mountain lovers

Campiglio, Val di Fassa and Alta Badia apps are officially available

Free and offline

To celebrate the start of the 2014/2015 ski season in style, Wami has prepared a special gift for mountain lovers: three brand-new applications dedicated to three gems of the Dolomites.

Campiglio, Val di Fassa and Alta Badia present the best of these iconic locations. The main points of interest and the activities for your free time, comfortably at hand on your smartphone or tablet. Both skiers and non-skiers will find plenty of options to plan and enjoy their staying, having easy access to up-to-date information.

As for all Wami mobile guides, Campiglio, Val di Fassa and Alta Badia are free and do not require an active internet connection. In fact, once you've downloaded them, content and maps can be viewed offline (updates will be managed when connected, instead).

If you are one of those who can't wait to hit the ski slopes, the new Wami apps will be a must-have tool to find your way among the hundreds of miles of pistes and ski facilities. Thanks to the offline maps, users will be able to see where all the slopes are and how they are connected and easily move within the area, without wasting time and enjoying every single moment!

When you're not skiing, you will find useful tips to discover the hidden treasures of these mountains and get some well-deserved rest.

Finally, our smart suggestion system Amerigo will point out all the interesting places and activities around you, according to your position, the time of the day and the weather conditions.
