been featured on Capital TV, the Star Newspaper and many other news. During his entrepreneurship journey, David noticed that many around him were struggling financially. This is the reason why he is dedicated to conduct seminars educating people on financial freedom. David personally feels sad watching people get lost, run around in circles and chase the rat race in search of a better life. He realised there is a need for a direct, straight to the point book on financial education - the 21st century version of "Think and Grow Rich". Thus, he wrote his third book "Millionairehood" with the purpose of helping people to achieve success and save their most important asset - Time - by avoiding common challenges and roadblocks along the way. David is currently in the works of his fourth book "Confession of a Seminar Junkie", sharing the insider secrets and trades of the seminar industry.
