Dollar Dance (also known as Mini Dance) is an interactive part of the wedding reception when guests pay to dance with brides and brides, giving them money to start their new life with each other. Some couples prefer their friends and family pin bills for brides or just let them slip a box or two, but a traditional dollar dance is a way to make it a little more fun. There are two ways of approachby picking up the perfect song for your dollar dance. If you want to go with something inane, try the material girl from The Kanyï West by The Maid, The Medona or the Gold Labourer. If you want to keep things emotional, select to sing by James Taylor, The Beatles, or Billy Yole. Next, we've rounded up the 65 best $dancing song to play at your wedding.
