

The Goose That
Laid
Golden Eggs

Once upon a time, there was a man who had a goose. It was quite special, as it laid golden eggs. Now, this man got very greedy.

He became so greedy that he wanted the goose to lay more than one golden egg a day. He thought that instead of waiting every day for an egg, he should cut up the goose to get more eggs.

So he did exactly that. He caught the poor goose and cut her stomach, but there were no golden eggs inside.

The man realized that what he did was wrong and felt sad that he had killed the goose. He was never greedy again.

One should not be greedy.

