

Natu the baby elephant

Natu, the baby elephant, was very bad-tempered and would fight with everyone. Nobody liked to play with Natu.

One day, he was swimming in the river when someone pushed Natu by mistake, and he got very angry.

Then began to push all the other baby elephants around him.

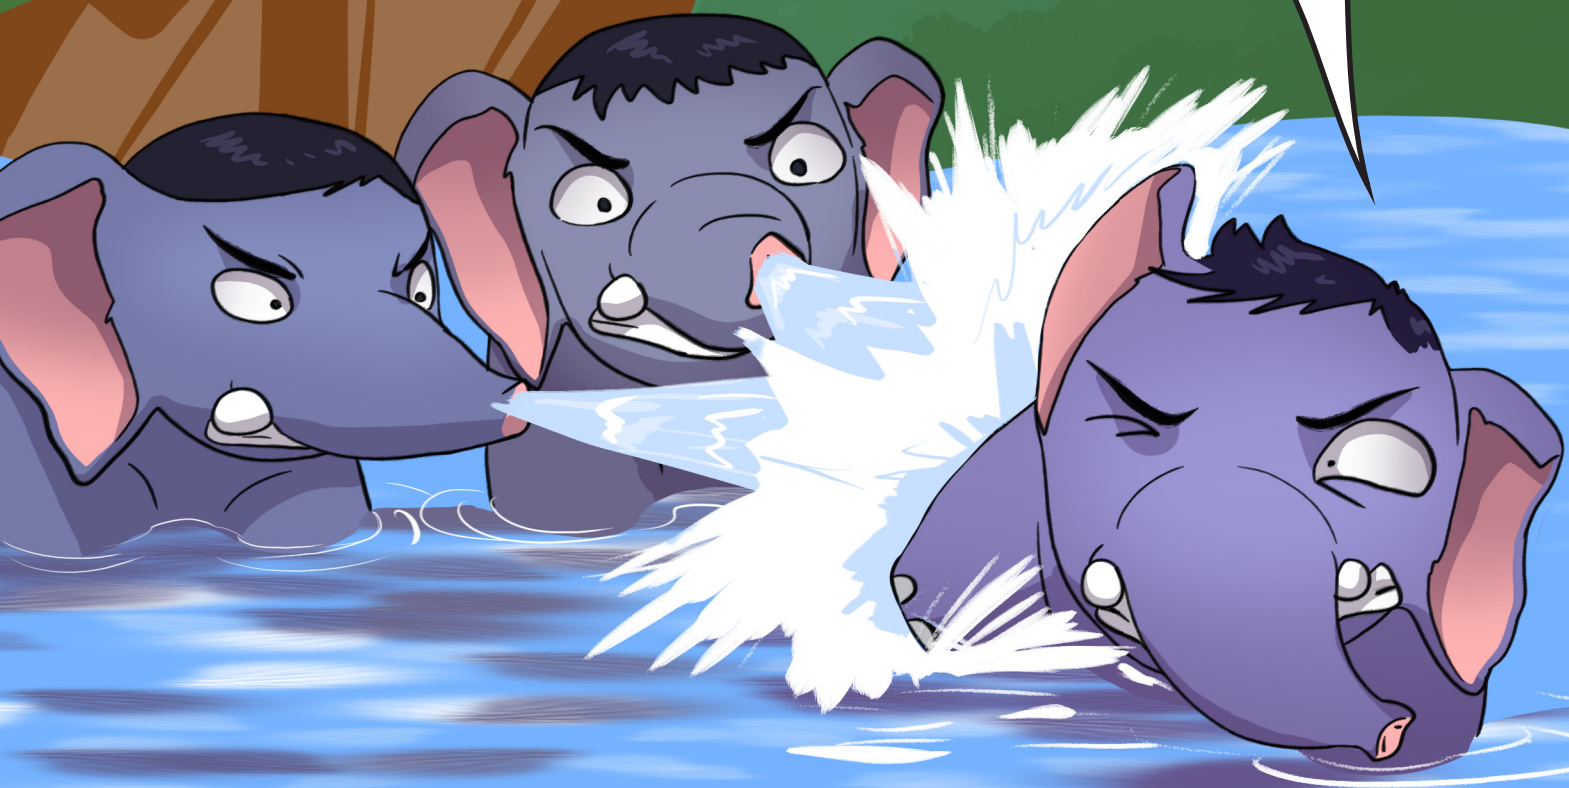

The other baby elephants were not happy. They did not like it when Natu got angry and fought with them.

How dare anyone push me?

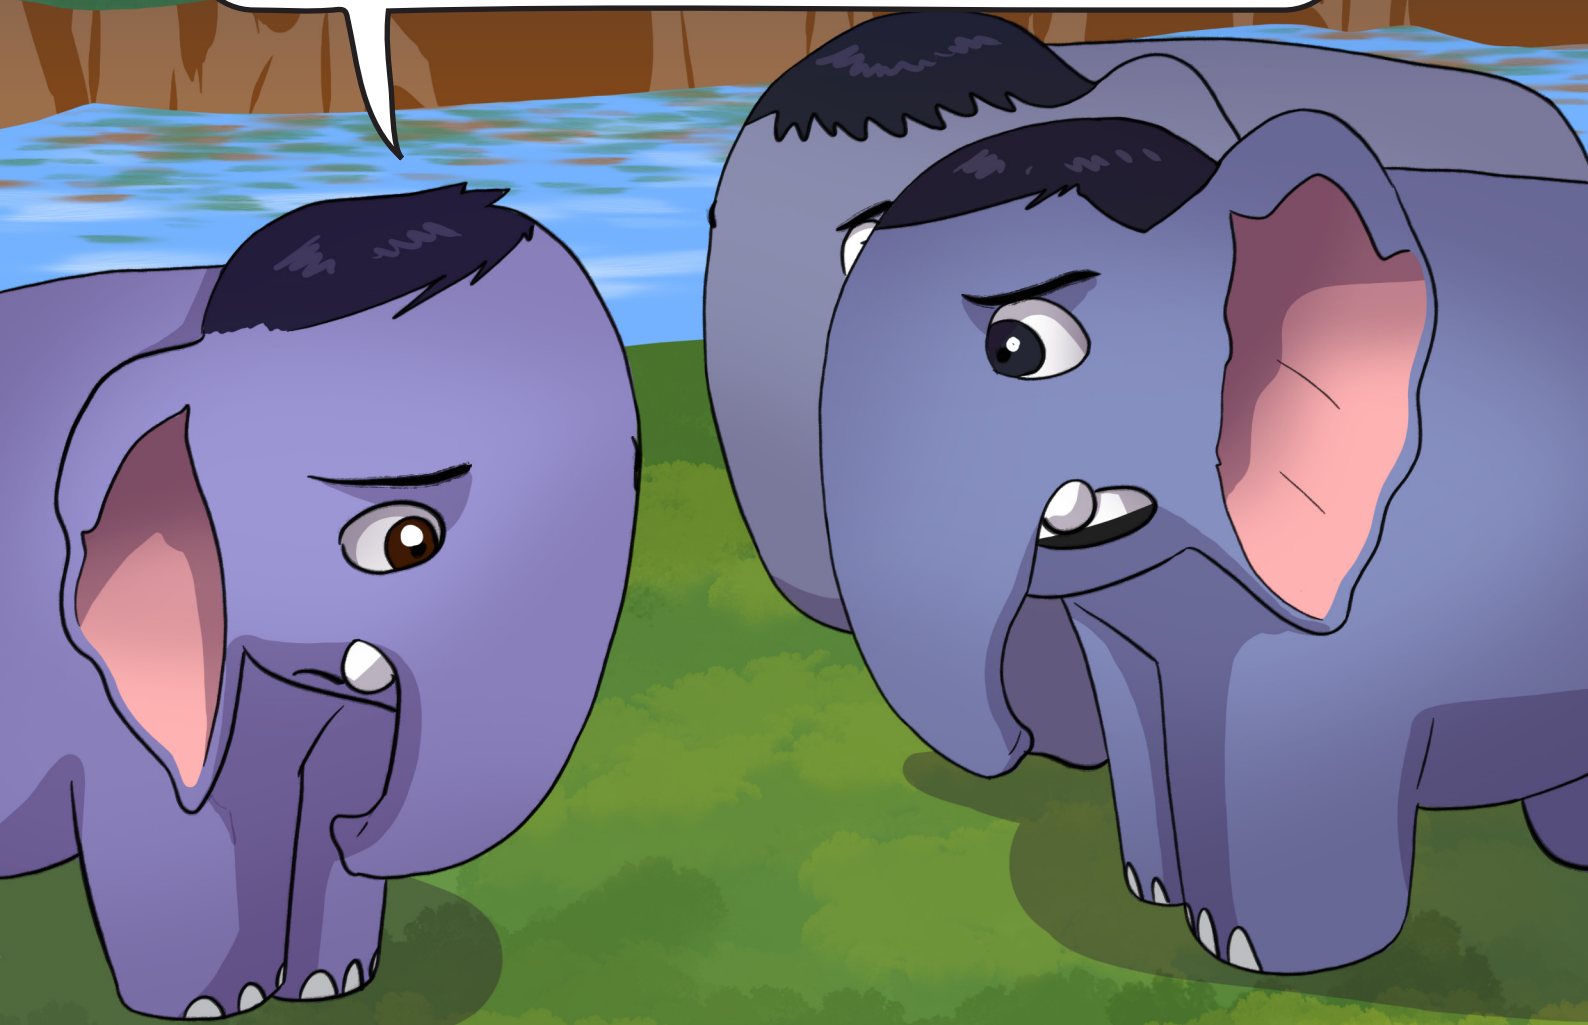

So, the other elephants took some water in their trunks and poured it all over Natu. Natu screamed and shouted, but they continued splashing him.

Stop, stop, don't pour water on me!

Bittu, the elephant, then asked him, "How do you like it when we fight back?"

It doesn't feel nice to be annoyed. Sorry, I will stop fighting with everyone! I'll be a good elephant from today! I will be as good as gold!

From that day, Natu became the nicest elephant that ever lived!

WE MUST NOT BEHAVE BADLY WITH OTHERS

