

Fight

One day, Jinendra said to his wife,

"I am going to another village tomorrow. Take care of our house."

She asked,

"Why? Did you find a job there?"

"I am going to bring the buffalos.",

he said.

His wife replied,

"Just so you know, I will give all the milk cream to my mother."

Jinendra said,

"How is it that I will bring the buffalo, and your mother will eat the cream?"

This discussion became hot, and they started abusing each other. The quarrel continued for a long time. The neighbors heard them shouting, so they came to ask what had happened.

Jinendra told them the story, so they started breaking the earthen pots one after the other.

Jinendra said,

"Why are you breaking the pots?
It is an unnecessary loss to me."

The neighbor argued,

"Your buffalo spoiled my farm."

Jinendra said,

"Why are you lying? I do not even have a buffalo, so how can your farm become spoiled?"

The neighbor said,

"Then why are you fighting unnecessarily for a cream which is not here?"

Jinendra realized his mistake,
so he became calm and lived peacefully with his wife.

