

The Story Of Mahaveerji

There lived the shoemaker in a village.

He had one cow, but one day it stopped giving milk.
The shoemaker asked the people what was wrong with it, but no one could explain it.

He then decided to follow the cow when it went into the jungle for grazing. He saw that cow would climb the hill and drop all its milk on a particular spot. He followed it for a few days and noticed the same thing happening every day.

One day, he tried to stop the cow, but somehow it escaped and did the same thing.

Finally, he decided to dig the spot on the hill. As he started digging, he felt something hard and went to remove it.

It was the statue of Lord Mahavira, so he took it out carefully and placed it in the same spot.

The news spread everywhere, so the people gathered to worship it. More people started coming, so they decided to build a temple, and that is how the Mahaveerji temple was built.
