

Ramesh and The Puppy

One fine and beautiful day on the beach, a very unkind thing kept happening. Ramesh, a rather nasty little fellow, kept grabbing one poor puppy and throwing it in the big waves of the sea. The puppy was scared of the waves, but Ramesh did not care as it was just a silly joke to him.

A magician saw this and thought to himself,

"This boy will only learn to be kind to animals once he feels the pain of the puppy. I will turn him into one!"

He said the magic words and turned the puppy into a boy and Ramesh into a puppy.

The puppy was now a boy and wanted Ramesh to learn his lesson. So, he began throwing Ramesh into the water. Ramesh cried for help and promised he would never be mean to an animal again.

The magician knew that Ramesh had learned his lesson, so he turned him back to a little boy.

Since that day, Ramesh has been kind to animals and helps out in an animal shelter every holiday.

The animals are our friends. We must be kind to them.
