

Note: Questions may be abbreviated or summarized. The answers of the Triad are word for word. Incidentals hello's, thank you's, etc, are usually omitted.

Q1. Pat: I've been reluctant to speak in the past, but here I am. I'd first like to make a comment and then a query. I have noticed a lot of spiritual evolvment on my part in many different areas: the clairvoyance, the clairsentience. And I've noticed that as I sit and focus on the Light coming from me that it's quite strong. And I feel very confident in that I have been able to use the Undifferentiated Light, that I feel so grateful for, to create and manifest, particularly in my counseling practice with simply thinking about a client coming to me. And within 24 hours there's a call. And while my practice is clinical, it is also very much spiritual. I have a foot in either area. So I do feel myself growing and I feel myself very grateful.

My challenge is that I feel like I'm disconnected a lot from my physical body and I have to kind of collect it up. And so I don't feel this necessarily Light interface. I have several medical issues I'm challenged with. I guess I would like some clarification on that.

Triad: What kind of clarification would you like?

Pat: When I'm meditating, I just feel the brilliance of the Light around me and feel very connected. I try and bring that into the physical body via the other bodies. And I'm just not seeing it necessarily happening for the physical body. I know it's dense; it takes time. I feel it happening for the mental-emotional body, causal body, but I sometimes just feel like I'm dragging around my physical body. And any thoughts you might have on that, I would deeply appreciate.

Triad: Well, first of all, you are right. The physical body is dense and it is slow. However, you'll begin to see a difference as you work with the axiatonal lines and the meridian system. Especially what you will want to do is connect in with those axial spin points of the meridian system, because it brings forth a faster rotation within the energy system of the body. So, as you work with these things that we have talked about a few minutes ago and actually put them into practice, focus your attention on directing these lines, activating these lines, connecting in with the meridian system, activating those spin points in the cellular system to begin to have a faster rotation, because that within the cellular, the cells – when the cells themselves start functioning at that faster rotation, they begin to replicate themselves at that more complete perfected state. And they no longer.... because the rotation is accelerated.

And you also have at your disposal all of these activations of the electrical currents within the neurology of the body, within the cellular system itself. So the communication is accelerated within the body.

So, have confidence in yourself that you are creating that, that you are creating these lines of communication, the interface with the axial spin points within the body and within the cellular structure, bringing in much more Light and activity within the way in which these rotations are occurring within the body. This accelerates the body and brings it up to a higher frequency.

And the continual interface with these electrical charges that are now emanating from that 4th Triad – this 4th Triad activation is huge, beyond what you can even perceive at this time. But the important thing for you and anyone experiencing physical anomalies -- where it's been very difficult for you to make changes in the physicality because of the dense slowness of the body -- that the activity brought into the body through these electrical charges that you're now being able to create through the interface of that 4th Triad and the Arc of the Covenant, you bring all of that into the body, because the axiatonal lines extend through all of those fields. And you bring that into the body and accelerate the body's capacity to then make usable those Light energies and the electrical components of the body that are very, very necessary.

The other part of that, that the healing that has taken place in the mental-emotional body and the coherence of that body that you are developing, each one of you are developing, has great benefits to the physical body. There's less tension that is produced in the body, which creates chemicals that are not conducive to your body's functioning in a coherent manner. So, this alone contributes to a better state of health of the body.

So, our suggestion is for you to use what we've given you this evening. Go back and use these electrical charges. And realize, sit in the comfort of that more healed mental-emotional body, where your thoughts are very calm and coherent with the level of your SoulSpirit, with the level of your OverSoul. So there is less tension and these chemicals that bring adversity in the system are no longer being produced.

Does that help?

Pat: It does help, it helps enormously. So each day meditate on that, visualize the axiatonal lines, the charges that come through. It might explain why I've had kind of electrical feelings in my brain and kind of some imbalance, a little bit of lightheadedness, which is gone now but was pretty significant about a month ago.

Triad: Yes, they're very powerful charges. And they need to be distributed throughout the neurology of your body, throughout every cell, because every cell is dependent on those electrical charges, as it evolves.

[9:55] Q2. Pat: Can I ask something else about the axiatonal lines?

I noticed even before the call started that my body was actually pulsating with those axiatonal lines. And I think that connection is happening more and more.

Could you expand a little bit – those axiatonal lines are really connecting us up to the 22 galaxies and beyond – I realized I'm eating less and I have more energy. It's interesting to see how my body is changing dramatically and very fast. But I'm assuming that we are just feeding really on the electricity that's coming in through the 4th Triad and the fact that we are starting to use the axiatonal lines in connecting with the energy of the universe.

Triad: Yes! Absolutely.

That said, now, it's really important that you get this one piece that we've communicated to you this evening. And that's about extending those lines within the body system, within all levels of the body, physical and nonphysical, within all channels of the body, connecting in with that meridian system, so that the entire Unified Field is completely integrated with these axiatonal lines, so that the communication that comes from these other star systems that hold the perfected biological system can be drawn effectively into the body itself. So those lines, the meridians, the axial spin points all have to be functioning properly in order that the interface with the other star systems and galaxies can be really physically effective. Thank you so much!

Triad: You are welcome. And just as you said, you are already experiencing it. So, that's something to focus on.

[12:26] Q3. Randy: Two questions.

(a) So, in this practice of further connecting up the axiatonal lines into our body, into the energy meridian system, is it important to go back and study the meridians of the body to see where they're at, putting attention on that at the intellectual level? Or just intend it and see it?

(b) I'm very intrigued when you brought up the technological information to be received through the axiatonal lines from other star systems. Can you comment further on that? Is the time right for some of these new technologies to come through?

Triad:

(a) Let's go back to the first question. The only thing that that serves, to go back and study the meridian system, for many of you, the only thing that that serves is to satisfy the rational mind. And, if that's important to you, not a problem. However, what is important is that you energetically and actively, consciously actively, create these axiatonal lines and the communication channels, because you are capable of doing that. You are a creator.

So, this is the important piece. Some of this information you have already had for a long, long time. But you weren't in active participation with that energy, creating it, creating that interface. You were petitioning to have those axiatonal lines available to you. And the information that was given is how they come into the system.

What we are giving you this evening is an active way in which you as a creator are actually creating these axiatonal lines throughout your energetic system, and making it usable in the body.

Now, that said, let us go back to if you have physical anomalies that are pretty serious and you haven't been able to alter them or heal them in some way. It would benefit you to know where those meridian axial spin points are and specifically focus your attention with connecting those spin points with the axial spin points of the axiatonal lines to bring forth the communication from these other systems that have more biological evolvment.

(b) Now that brings us to these technologies of these other star systems, relating to... These relate to the biological system. They are technologies to alter the evolvment, to enhance the evolvment of the body into a 5th Dimensional state of being. And therefore alter the way in which the cells function. It's a technological communication that takes place. It isn't in relation to technologies for like energy resources, physical resources, that the planet needs. It's what the body needs for its biological system to regenerate itself according to that perfected blueprint of the Adam Kadmon body. The technologies that I'm speaking of. This has to come first. Can you see that?

Thank you for your question. It was very helpful. I think everyone that is in our Collective Crucible benefits from these questions.

[17:27] Q4. I really want to thank you for bringing up the axiatonal lines. A couple of nights ago, in my in-between state of awake and asleep, I became very much aware of these axiatonal lines. What also happened, which I don't quite understand, was certain of these axiatonal lines lit up and vibrated, some more than others. And I'm not quite certain what that means.

Triad: Well, it will take time. Understand, it will take a little time for all of these axiatonal lines to become fully activated. Some will become online quicker either because this is your attention, you're directing your intention and your attention to certain specific areas for your personal evolvment, your personal use in your body.

So this is the case when you were in between that dream state, the sleep state and the awake state. You were in a very conscious field. So you were specifically, at that time, at that OverSoul level, you were directing the axiatonal line to specific areas that you would benefit from in that communication. So those light up first. So, it's where you place your intention and your attention, and you are actually creating those lines and the communications. The others are there, but because your focus is specific on one area, they will appear as being more lit up than the others, because you're drawing from those axiatonal lines in the communication. Or you're transmitting through those specific channels into other areas of the galaxy.

Do you see?

Q4, cont'd: Now, that's interesting, because I'm finding certain moments where there is communication, but I don't quite understand what is being communicated. I don't quite understand whether I'm doing the communicating or I'm receiving communication. I just know it feels good in the body, but I'm not quite understanding what is taking place.

Triad: It will take a little time. And, as you practice this in the next couple of weeks, you will begin to/that communication will begin to come in. Now, it won't specifically come like I'm speaking to you now. So, if you're expecting an interface through verbal communication – I mean that can happen – but most likely it will come through a Sound current, it will come through a Color Coding, it will come through some form of energetic communication. But it won't be like a verbal communication, necessarily. So, don't place your focus just on that one way to communicate, because there are many levels in which you communicate.

[21:46] Q5. Katie: We had been taught that the Seed Crystals are a triangle on our forehead around the 3rd Eye. But in our call two weeks ago, you planted the seed idea that the Seed Crystals also cluster around the Pineal. And tonight you stressed the importance of the Pineal in the activation of the internal axiatonal lines. Can you expand on the relationship between the Seed Crystals, Pineal, axiatonal lines, and how we can best focus on that, use that to extend our communications inside our system and outside us to all the parts of the galaxy?

Triad: Yes.

You know, when we talked about those Seed Crystals, we told you, "Can you hear the hum? Can you hear the Sound?" Because these are very valuable activations, and they are intended to function with coherency with the Pineal center, because this, along with your 3rd Eye, is a very valuable center of creation.

So, the communication, as I have just said, often takes place through Sound currents or Color Codes, especially that Indigo Color Code... the value of that, because it creates of that electrical charge. It holds an electrical charge. It is an electrical Coding. So, it stands to reason that when it is in the body and the Sound template is in the body, functioning within the Seed Crystals that are in that area of the body where the Pineal center is located, the 3rd Eye is located, that it is very, very effective, because it absorbs as well as generates activity in the creative process, through the thoughts that are thought and the amount of Light that is generated.

That Undifferentiated Light comes into the Pineal. It is transmitted into the Sacred Heart center. And the two flames burn brilliantly in that Indigo flame, as a unit.

So, the Seed Crystals, then, not only bring in and receivers of these more refined frequencies, but they also transmit. And they transmit through the electrical and the Sound currents the Christed Imaging, because you ARE that Image. And as you become more and more aware of that and seated in it, the transmission becomes a very coherent transmission that then uses the axiatonal lines to other star systems.

Katie: Wow! OK, So we're dealing with the 2nd Triad here. I assume the Medulla is also an integral part of this and therefore, the Arc of the Covenant, and the Ze'On Particles – all those things that we have been working on.

Triad: Yes. All of them work as a unit. They support each other. They increase the electrical charges. They become unified with the magnetics that are available from Source, that also generate an electrical charge, as well as a magnetic charge.

Katie: And for us, an effective way to work with this, now, would be to put our attention in the 2nd Triad, aware of its components, aware of it working as a unit, aware of the Arc of the Covenant, bringing in the Indigo with our intention and attention, receive the electrical charges coming in, activate the internal axiatonal lines, observe what we're observing, maybe notice what we are also transmitting....

Triad: Correct, correct. You see, the axiatonal lines, the activation process, as I've said earlier, begin in that Pineal center, because you have the ability already to draw in that Undifferentiated Light. So the coherency within that center is already being established. So, it's a very fertile ground for those axiatonal lines to become very active, and through that center, because you have these creative resources. You actually create their activity. You activate the reception and the transmission through those lines.

Katie: And, so, start there but then also become aware of our four-Triad system and the entire Unified Field that is extending out through all parts of that, and then into the body, into every cell.

Triad: Correct. Later on, in a very few minutes, we're going to do an energetic process that will bring that more into a direct focus for you.

[28:11] Joanne: Is there time for one more question?

Triad: We will take one more question and then we must move on, because of time.
[Laughter!] We are still relegated by this time! Can you imagine!

Joanne: It's on our side! There's a song.....

I'm embodying what we're talking about and what I'm feeling is that there's..... as well as the Pineal gland, which is a catalyst, I'm also feeling the Heart as almost the receptor site for these axiatonal lines, so it becomes a receiver and a transmitter of this energy. I'm feeling the connection between.... the Heart is now really activated as the receiver and transmitter and that the Pineal, the 2nd Triad, is working in conjunction with that to add activation energy, the electrical impulse energy to Triad: Correct, correct. Now, let's talk about that a little further, because this is a very good question. We have been connecting these two centers, the 1st Triad and the 2nd Triad, especially the Sacred Heart, and the flame in the Sacred Heart, the flame in the Pineal, merging that flame, for a while now.

The important thing for you to recognize here is the Sacred Heart, first of all holds a vast complexity of that 5th Dimensional Element of Love, which is a creative element, number one. Number two, it holds the consciousness, complete consciousness of your Holy Spirit. It holds the consciousness of the Holy Spirit Shekinah, which is the Source energy. And in addition to that, it begins to allow a very unique and expanded mechanism of discernment, discernment of the Spirit.

So, when you start extending these axiatonal lines into other star systems, not all star systems hold evolved states of consciousness. So, from time to time, you will get an influx of communication that just doesn't quite feel right to you. Pay attention to this. This is the discernment of Spirit that the Holy Spirit Shekinah consciousness brings to the forefront, as you begin to create and transmit into these other systems. You will have a great deal more discernment.

You will have a transmission of the Element of Love into the creative process in a very powerful way. And the two flames are now united in that Indigo Color Code, which is an electrical Color Code. So, the power that is being harnessed in the creative process, along with the discernment and the consciousness is massive. And you are activating all of these channels in a very coherent way.

Joanne: That's beautiful, another piece to that feels like allowing that connection to the core of the Earth will also be a stabilizer or a communication force as well.

Triad: Yes, because as you are well aware of, that Christed Matrix also sits in the Sacred Heart. It also sits in the Heart of Gaia, of the Heart of Earth.

Joanne: It really feels like for the first time the human body, our human physicality, is now able to fully participate in the reciprocal blessing between form and nonform. And it's really quite wonderfully amazing.

Triad: Correct.

Triad: We thank each and every one of you for participating and conversing with us, asking your questions. We were able to expand some of these concepts because of your questions. And we know that you will continue in this direction, as we meet.
