

Before I depart from this session this evening, I will lead you in a meditation that will help you further merge or bring together that masculine-feminine. It has nothing to do with the gender of your body – you are well aware of that. But it also has to do with the left and right spheres of your brain, that you have worked with repeatedly. And I encourage you to do that, also.

Now, if you will all take a deep breath. I would like you to center yourself in your Sacred Heart, being in that state of Love, Undifferentiated Love.

Now, let us go into that pineal area, into the frontal lobe of the brain, above the eyes, where those three crystalline forms are located. And with your attention, begin to activate those crystals in a 5th dimensional frequency range, very stably and very unified. See how brilliant those seed crystals are becoming and the Light is very apparent within them.

The seed crystals hold memories of the uniqueness of your Soul. They hold memories of the vastness of your Spirit. And they are activated now, for you to start to remember them from the Presence of your Sacred Heart, that is held in perfection in the Luminous White Star Tetrahedron.

Next, see that recorder cell over your right ear, that also holds memory. It has recorded every event of every Soul experience. And let us infuse that with the Undifferentiated Light, Source Light, to activate it to another level, bringing it into that stable 5th dimensional frequency range. So the memory of the vast knowledge that you possess at a SoulSpirit level begins to flow into you. All of those memory codes are accessed in your Sacred Heart, through the Heart – not through the brain, but through the Heart.

Now within the brain, your human brain as it was configured in your 3rd dimensional body, there was a division that you have a while back taken a laser Light and began to work on that division to lessen it, so the left and the right brain functioned more harmoniously.

Very gently now, take your laser Light and very, very lightly run it through that division one more time.....

Notice, now, that there seems to be movement between those two spheres of the brain. There's a pulsing, and the pulsing of the left part of the brain and the right part of the brain begins to pulse in a harmonious sequence. There is no longer a great divide or division, because the pulse of the left side of the brain and the right side of the brain has become coherently pulsing as a unit. There's still a little division, but not much. But the pulse is in perfect Unity.

And you will begin to see very shortly that the masculine and feminine, the rational and more expansive side of you, can be present simultaneously as you begin to create. You see a much broader picture in your creations, because the left and the right brain are working more harmoniously – not against each other but with each other -- just as Metatron's Cube and the Flower of Life have begun to unify your Sacred Divine Feminine and Sacred Divine Masculine, bringing them into a unified expression within you.

This functioning of a unified pulse in the brain and your ability to coherently express your Divine Feminine and Masculine are most important events that have occurred in this moment. The influence of the seed crystals and the recorder cell, that is more active, will assist you greatly in your creative process. And you will find less stress and more coherence in your creations and in your body.

Can you feel how relaxed your physical body is at this moment, because the pulsing in your brain is synchronized. The Heart is open and receiving the memory codes. Your Merkaba field is operating at 100% Light. You are a beautiful expression of the Divine Image. You have no limits. You are a vast being of Light.

We will close our session this evening in this grand state of unification, operating from the vastness of Spirit, unified in the Collective Consciousness of the All That Is.

Blessings, Beloveds!
