THE POLITICAL HOME FOR PRO-ISRAEL, PRO-PEACE AMERICANS

J Street gives political voice to mainstream American Jews and other supporters of Israel who believe that a two-state solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict is essential to Israel's survival as the national home of the Jewish people and as a vibrant democracy.

J Street's mission is two-fold: first, to advocate for urgent American diplomatic leadership to achieve a two-state solution and broader regional, comprehensive peace, and, second, to ensure a broad debate on Israel and the Middle East in national politics and the American Jewish community.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

NOVEMBER 2011

“For J Street,
it was a year
of historic growth
and impact.”

Dear friend,

2011 was historic. In rebellions across the Arab world, people began throwing off decades of repression and autocracy. In Tel Aviv, tent protests sparked a national movement for social justice, with echoes on our own streets this fall.

For J Street, it was a year of historic growth and impact as well.

Through our flagship Two-State Summer campaign, tens of thousands of J Street members sent strong statements to their representatives in Washington. We brought Israeli military and political leaders to the US to make the case for two states in nationwide events. And we held hundreds of house parties, leading to our August Day of Action with over 1,000 activists participating.

Our 2011 national conference attracted 2,000 people—including over 500 students—one of the largest gatherings of Jewish Americans of the year.

In the Israeli Knesset, our work sparked a hearing on what it means to be pro-Israel. In the US Congress, our work sparked debate about the role of US aid to the Palestinian Authority in promoting Israel's security and future. Even Stephen Colbert took notice!

More than 29 college campuses now have J Street U chapters, and more than 40 J Street Locals are organizing in communities around the country.

With the help of over 180,000 supporters, we raised $7 million and deployed 50 staff across the nation.

In 2012, we intend to continue making history. Israel faces a choice of historic proportions: stay on the present unsustainable path without a two-state solution, watching its democratic character and Jewish values erode, or change course by making the tough decisions necessary to achieve two states now.

And we intend to make clear that the 2012 election puts this choice squarely before the American people and the Jewish community.

One set of politicians will push hard-line rhetoric and policy on Israel as they search for political support however, we will push strongly to show that political support will flow to those who stake out moderate, rational stands that promote two states and security through peace.

Historic times and challenges call for historic decisions. I look forward to working with you as we make history in 2012.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Ben-Ami

PRESIDENT

JEWISH LEADERS, ISRAELI POLITICIANS TEAM UP WITH RICK PERRY TO SLAM OBAMA MIDDLE EAST POLICIES

"The relentless right-wing pandering on display today at Governor Rick Perry's press conference is at the heart of what is warping US policy and politics when it comes to Israel. From sharing the podium with an extreme right-wing Knesset member who calls for the outright annexation of the West Bank, to urging an end to Palestinian aid and paying lip-service to the two-state solution while undercutting moves to achieve it, Perry is cynically attempting to turn Israel into a partisan football for his own very narrow gain."

HAROLD MEYERSON: IN THE ISRAELI KNESSET, SOME UNDEMOCRATIC ACTIVITIES

"The real quarrel the Israeli right, and the American Jewish right, have with J Street is that it has provided an alternative for American Jews who support Israel but don't support the determination of Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu and other intransigents to do nothing to resolve the Israeli-Palestinian standoff or end the 44-year occupation of the West Bank."

OPPOSING STATEHOOD BID, SUPPORTING A NEW PATH TO PEACE

"Or we can go a different route. We can adopt an attitude of constructive self-criticism and compassionate action. We can re-examine the basic tenets of an attitude toward the conflict that has brought us no closer to a solution. We can put ourselves in the shoes of the other and exchange a one-sided approach for a much fuller view. We can welcome new voices into the fold. We can embrace our role as advocates for a peaceful, safe and secure Israeli future."

J STREET U

JSTREET U is the campus home for pro-Israel, pro-peace students. Now in its fifth semester, J Street U is active at over 60 colleges and universities, providing students with an alternative voice in the often polarizing campus conversation on the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. Through J Street U, thousands of students are bringing together their support for Israel with their commitment to human rights and social justice as they advocate for a two-state solution.

“J Street U enables me to be pro-Israel without being anti-Palestinian. It allows me to express my love for Israel without forsaking the dedication to human rights and social justice that are central to the Jewish identity. It is a reminder that Zionism is only meaningful if it embraces the values that we as Jews hold dear.”

DON’T CUT AID TO THE PALESTINIAN AUTHORITY

When some members of Congress called for cutting funds to the Palestinian Authority in response to the Palestinian UN bid—against the advice of numerous American and Israeli security experts and economists—J Street Local and J Street U inundated Congress with tens of thousands of postcards, phone calls and emails explaining why continued aid is pro-Israel and pro-peace.

WE STAND FOR

TWO-STATE SUMMER

THIS SUMMER, J Street conducted a major national campaign in support of the vision for a two-state solution outlined by President Obama in his May 19 foreign policy speech on the transformations underway in the Middle East.

Placing the achievement of a two-state solution at the center of America's commitment to Israel's security and survival as a democratic, Jewish homeland, the President endorsed the Borders and Security First strategy promoted by J Street and stated that borders would be based on 1967 lines with mutually agreed upon land swaps.

When the usual suspects began attacking the President's strongly pro-Israel speech with smears and misinformation based on his use of the phrase "1967 borders with land swaps"—the recognized basis for negotiations under three previous US administrations and Israeli Prime Ministers Barak and Olmert—J Street leapt to action.

IN MAY, dozens of prominent Israelis ran an ad in Israeli papers calling on the government to recognize a Palestinian state based on 1967 borders. J Street reprinted that ad in The New York Times on the eve of Prime Minister Netanyahu's visit to the US.

GRASSROOTS ADVOCACY

THROUGHOUT THE SUMMER, J Street Local organized pro-Israel, pro-peace activists in targeted Congressional districts behind President Obama's call for urgent movement to achieve a two-state solution with borders based on 1967 lines with land-swaps. After 240 house parties, 750 one-on-one meetings and 31 phone banks, activists delivered over 40,000 signatures supporting Obama's vision to over 103 Congressional offices during a national Day of Action.

POLLING OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMUNITY

IN JULY, J Street commissioned its fifth national poll of American Jewish opinion on the US role in the Middle East. J Street polls have been critical in debunking the notion that the Israeli-Palestinian conflict is a political minefield. Again and again, our polls demonstrate overwhelming support for bold American leadership to resolve the conflict.

70% of American Jews support the US taking an active role in resolving the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, including putting forth a peace plan with borders and security arrangements.

57% of American Jews would support a final status peace agreement including the following provisions:

- A demilitarized Palestinian state in the West Bank and Gaza
- Internationally recognized borders based on the borders that existed in 1967, with mutually agreed land swaps that allow for most Jewish settlers in the West Bank to be inside Israel while the Palestinians get comparable land areas in return
- Palestinian neighborhoods in Jerusalem become part of the new Palestinian state while Israel retains control of Jewish neighborhoods and the Western Wall in Jerusalem
- International forces to monitor the new Palestinian state and border crossings
- Financial compensation for Palestinian refugees while allowing some refugees to return to Israel if they meet specific family reunification criteria and the Israeli government approves

IN JULY, J Street invited seven Israeli military and political leaders to the United States to convey the urgency of the moment and explain that borders established based on 1967 lines with mutually agreed upon land swaps would not only be defensible, but essential for Israel's security. During their five-day visit, the speakers addressed over 1,000 people at 50 meetings and events in seven cities, including 20 meetings with Congressional offices.

MISSIONS TO THE MIDDLE EAST

EACH YEAR J Street offers educational trips to the Middle East for Members of Congress, lay leaders, and, as of this year, university students. Trips are designed to give participants a full understanding of both the complexities of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict and an appreciation of the urgent need to achieve a two-state solution.

CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION

J STREET'S SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION, co-chaired by Representatives Steve Cohen (TN-09) and John Yarmuth (KY-03), visited Israel, the Palestinian territory and Egypt during a ten-day trip. The five members of Congress who participated met with high-level Israeli and Palestinian leaders as well as Egyptian and Arab League officials.

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP MISSION

TWENTY-FIVE NATIONAL LAY LEADERS journeyed to Israel and the Palestinian territory this April to serve as ambassadors for our movement and gain first-hand knowledge of the realities on the ground.

STUDENT TRIP

FOURTEEN STUDENTS participated in J Street U's inaugural student trip to Israel and the Palestinian territory. The trip celebrated the incredible history and achievements of the Jewish homeland while confronting the uneasy realities of the ongoing conflict. Through meetings with Israeli and Palestinian activists, politicians, and fellow students and visits to East Jerusalem, Sderot, Hebron, and settlements, students were given a unique understanding of what is at stake in our work to achieve a two-state solution.

TOP: Students speak with a Palestinian resident of Bir-el-Eid in a temporary shelter. Hours prior, the Civil Administration had demolished his home and several other dwellings within the village.

BOTTOM: During a visit to the Knesset, MKs Orit Zuaretz, Shlomo Molla and Nitzan Horowitz meet with students.

JStreetPAC

JStreetPAC is the largest pro-Israel political action committee in the United States and the first PAC formed to endorse and raise money for federal candidates who champion pro-Israel, pro-peace policies. In 2010, JStreetPAC distributed a record-shattering $1.5 million, representing a third of all pro-Israel PAC giving that year.

Though 2011 is a nonelection year, JStreetPAC was in full campaign mode in anticipation of 2012. The 2012 election will be the most expensive in history, and many campaigns are already using Israel as a wedge issue to swing votes and campaign dollars. JStreetPAC will once again demonstrate that disingenuous pandering on Israel does not pay. Pro-Israel, pro-peace Americans will have the back of candidates who promote truly pro-Israel policies—those which advance the prospects for a two-state solution.

2010 ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

- 61 CANDIDATES ENDORSED
- $1.5 MILLION DISTRIBUTED
- 45 ELECTORAL VICTORIES

JStreetPAC CALLS OUT BACHMANN

WHEN MICHELE BACHMANN—a candidate who has said Israel should not give up any of the West Bank—tried to score some political points by criticizing President Obama's efforts to restart negotiations, she had the audacity to say that Obama's policies were only supported by a "tiny minority" of Americans. J Street quickly proved Bachmann wrong by raising nearly $16,000 through an online appeal for Representatives Lois Capps (CA-23), Jim Cooper (TN-5), and Betty McCollum (MN-4), candidates who proved their pro-Israel, pro-peace credentials by standing up for the President's vision for peace.

Senator Sherrod Brown (OH)

Representative Lois Capps (CA-23)

Representative Rush Holt (NJ-12)

J Street PAC kicked off the election cycle with three PAC benefits for pro-Israel, pro-peace candidates around the country. In Washington, DC, a reception for Senator Sherrod Brown (OH) and Representative Lois Capps (CA-23) raised $50,000. An event for Representative Rush Holt (NJ-12) in Princeton, NJ raised $40,000.

REFLECTING ON IMPACT

“There is no question that J Street’s existence has changed the Israel conversation in America over the past two years. Thousands of Jews who felt alienated and isolated from the Israel conversation are now proudly identifying as progressive Zionists—loving Israel, believing in the possibility of peace and working toward its realization. J Street has given American Jews permission to engage in Israel activism in a way that feels both honorable and consistent with their values.”

— RABBI SHARON BROUS, IKAR SENIOR/FOUNDING RABBI

“Whether one agrees or disagrees with J Street’s stances or very mission, several salutary effects on American Jews and their relationship with Israel are undeniable. In an age when informal ties among non-Orthodox Jews are in decline, J Street mobilizes Jews, brings them together, and fosters Jewish-based interaction, strengthening their social bonds and relationships. In an age when fewer Jews seem to be thinking about and talking about Israel—especially among those under 35—J Street fosters and provokes Israel-related conversation. J Street ought to be applauded by all those who welcome Israel-oriented relationships among Jews in general and younger Jews in particular.”

— PROFESSOR STEVEN M. COHEN, SOCIOLOGIST, HEBREW UNION COLLEGE-JEWISH INSTITUTE OF RELIGION

“I was honored to be a member of J StreetPAC’s first class of endorsees back in 2008. My pride in my association with J Street has only grown since, as I have watched it become a respected and leading voice for pro-Israel, pro-peace advocacy on Capitol Hill. In just three short years, J Street has made great strides in opening up much needed political space for honest discussion of American foreign policy and for debate over what policies are, in fact, in the best interest of both the United States and Israel.”

— REPRESENTATIVE STEVE COHEN (TN-9)

“As an unflinching supporter of Israel, I believe that a two-state solution is an existential necessity for its survival as a democratic, Jewish homeland. Over the past three years, J Street has helped increase political awareness both that being pro-Israel means supporting a two-state solution and that there is significant support for this viewpoint within the American Jewish and larger pro-Israel community. Recent dear colleague letters and Congressional resolutions demonstrate the nuance, rationality, and sense of urgency that J Street has brought to this issue.”

— REPRESENTATIVE LOIS CAPPS (CA-23)

“There is no military solution to this conflict. The only way for Israel to achieve real security is by reaching a two-state solution with our neighbors and we cannot do it alone. Thankfully, there is now an American Jewish voice, J Street, which recognizes that Israel needs now, more than ever, support from the United States to help end the conflict and ensure Israel’s survival and security.”

— BRIGADIER GENERAL ISRAELA ORON, THE HIGHEST RANKING WOMAN IN THE HISTORY OF THE IDF

“In just three short years J Street has distinguished itself as a principled and savvy political voice for pro-Israel, pro-peace Americans. We come together knowing that we are not the first group of American Jews to gather in defense of the principles in Israel’s declaration of independence. But make no mistake we are the last. There will be no next J Street. If we fail, our children will meet, not to defend democracy in the Jewish state, but to mourn democracy in the Jewish state.”

— PETER BEINART, SENIOR POLITICAL WRITER, DAILY BEAST

STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES

J Street brings together Americans to advocate for active US diplomatic engagement in the Middle East and broader public and policy debate in national politics and the American Jewish community about ways to achieve lasting peace in the Middle East.

WE SUPPORT

➔ Consistent and concerted diplomatic engagement by the United States to achieve Israeli-Arab peace. A negotiated end to the Israeli-Arab and Israeli-Palestinian conflicts serves both US and Israeli strategic and security interests. Achieving it must be a priority for the current US administration;

➔ An enduring relationship between the US and Israel that promotes their common interests. We recognize and support Israel as the homeland of the Jewish people, a democratic country that promises equal rights for all its citizens and that has the right to defend itself against external threats;

➔ The creation of a viable Palestinian state as part of a negotiated two-state solution, based on the 1967 borders with agreed reciprocal land swaps. The future Palestinian state will require unprecedented levels of international economic and political support to succeed, including a resolution of the refugee issue within the new Palestinian state and in current host countries;

➔ An Israeli-Syrian peace agreement based on the land-for-peace formula, security guarantees, and details outlined in previous negotiations;

➔ A comprehensive regional peace that builds on the Arab Initiative, leading to recognition of Israel by all its neighbors in the Middle East and the creation of a new regional approach to cooperation and security;

➔ An American policy in the Middle East more broadly based on diplomacy, multilateralism and real partnership with the European Union, the Quartet and others. We support dialogue with a broad range of countries and actors, including Iran, over confrontation in order to find solutions to the region's conflicts.

To advance these goals, we seek to build a broad and inclusive campaign that crosses ethnic and religious lines and in which American Jews play a prominent role.

We believe honest discussion of American and Israeli policies is healthy for the US, for Israel and for the American Jewish community. We will actively promote debate in the United States that is as open and spirited as it is in Israel. In that debate, we will oppose alliances with the religious right or any radical religious ideologues in the name of supporting Israel, as well as efforts to demean and fan fears of Islam or of Muslims.
