

One More Night In Brooklyn

north of where we live, north of atlantic avenue, and further north to the bridge, then onwards to the navy yard and back again. that's what i'm talking about.

1 Colonie
American
comfortable, but sometimes a bit too precious for its own good. nonetheless, quality fare, elegant drinks, a nice addition to the hood.
127 Atlantic Ave, Brooklyn
(718) 855-7500 colonienyc.com

2 Iris Cafe
Café
popular morning spot, with its strict codes of conduct and fashionably bespoke egg sandwiches. prepare for stern looks if you pull out your laptop or iphone.
20 Columbia Pl, Brooklyn
(718) 722-7395 iriscafe.nyc

3 Jack the Horse Tavern
American
far from cutting edge, a locals eating establishment for the grown-up crowd. been around for a while. solid fare. a good place to escape the yahoos.
66 Hicks St, Brooklyn
(718) 852-5084 jackthehorse.com

4 Brooklyn Bridge Park
Park
extends from atlantic ave. all the way through DUMBO. exceedingly lovely refuge that strikes the right balance between nature, art & open spaces for gathering.
Main St, Brooklyn
(212) 803-3822 nyc.gov/parks

5 Gran Eléctrica
Mexican
owned by same people behind COLONIE (i.e. folks who ain't bona fide latino). regardless, nicely executed cultural mash-up, blending old & new but a bit pricey.
5 Front St, Brooklyn
(718) 852-2700 granelectrica.com

6 Vinegar Hill House
American
civil war era décor and dress code is ridiculously relaxed but the food is serious. fish dishes stand out, as is the basement dining annex by the fireplace.
72 Hudson Ave, Brooklyn
(718) 522-1018 vinegarhillhouse.com

7 Hillside
Restaurant
while nearby DUMBO may be filled with tourists, hillside is often relaxed and inviting. the sister venue to vinegar hill house, good for appetizers and drinks.
70 Hudson Ave, Brooklyn
(718) 522-7957 hillsidevhbk.com

8 Ganso
Ramen
may not rank amongst the very best ramen in town, but i've always been satisfied here. not a place for lingering, but the vibe is friendly and upbeat.
25 Bond St, Brooklyn
(718) 403-0900 gansonyc.com

9 Walter's
New American
reliable, unspectacular, located next to beautiful fort greene park. one of those brunch spots that knows what it's doing, and that counts for something.
166 Dekalb Ave, Brooklyn
(718) 488-7800 waltersbrooklyn.com

10 Dick & Janes
Cocktail
limited space inside so don't bring a crowd. high end cocktails. on the verge of becoming a "thing" and when that happens, it'll be over and time to move on.
266 Adelphi St, Brooklyn
dickandjanesbar.com

11 Roman's
Italian
a very comfortable dining room popular with the creative class who think they're urbane enough to be chill. also popular with chefs getting off their shift.
243 Dekalb Ave, Brooklyn
(718) 622-5300 romansnyc.com

12 Brooklyn Flea - Fort Greene
Flea Market
where the dream of brooklyn was born. the place where cultural mash-ups take on new meaning, from food to every marriage between cultures that one can think of.
176 Lafayette Ave., Brooklyn
(718) 928-6603 brooklynflea.com

13 Brooklyn Academy of Music
Opera House
so many things going on here (theater, dance, music, cinema, café). given its ambition and scope, perhaps the most important cultural institution in brooklyn.
30 Lafayette Ave, Brooklyn
(718) 636-4100 bam.org

14 Nunu Chocolates
Chocolate Shop
great coffee, even better hot chocolates. tiny interior with room enough for four, maybe five people to sit with their laptops. nice hangout for a beer as well.
529 Atlantic Ave, Brooklyn
(917) 776-7102 nunuchocolates.com

15 Hungry Ghost
Coffee Shop
they say they have good coffee. great coffee. that's what they say. i say you need a cup of joe.
253 Flatbush Ave, Brooklyn
