

ANGST FÜR PUNK BERLIN!

part one of a brief tour of berlin that generally avoids main attractions, but instead focuses on easily overlooked gems and sentimental favorites.

Pratergarten

Beer Garden

i love its mid-century architecture. a special place to soak up the summer atmosphere beneath the chestnut trees. populated by all sorts of berliners.

Kastanienallee 7-9, Berlin +49 30 4485688 pratergarten.de

Cookies Cream

Vegetarian / Vegan

the ultimate pop-up vegetarian restaurant, perhaps? banks, markets, warehouses have been past locales. after dinner, the space sometimes converts into a club.

Behrenstr. 55, Berlin
+49 30 27492940 cookiescream.com

Club der Visionäre

Lounge

another one of those summertime gems, an outdoor hang-out by weeping willows along the canal - used to attract artsy, designy types. hopefully, it still does.

Sowjetisches Ehrenmal im Treptow...

Memorial Site

last time i was in berlin, treptow was on the verge of being an "it" neighborhood. i visited the nearby park, filled with soviet-era monuments. eerie artifacts.

Puschkinallee, Berlin

Trödelmarkt Arkonaplatz

Flea Market

"early bird gets the worm!" at this exquisite oasis made even more charming by a separate farmer's market. good cafés around the peaceful square as well.

Arkonaplatz, Berlin

Lerchen und Eulen

Bar

one of those many shabby yet wonderfully comfortable berlin café bars but "larks and owls" does it better than many of the rest. comfortable and genuine.

Pücklerstr. 33, Berlin lerchenundeulen.de

Lohmühle

Housing Development

on the banks of the landwehr canal, a community of artists, misfits & squatters. lively, feisty, like copenhagen's christiania, despite efforts to shut it down.

Lohmühlenstr. 17, Berlin
+49 177 2888230 lohmuehle-berlin.de

Tempelhofer Park

Park

you can ride your bike on the runways of berlin's retired airport. for those of us who have to "settle" for the high line in NYC, this one emerges victorious.

ehem. Flugfeld, Berlin tempelhofer-park.de

Eschschloraque

Speakeasy

great bar hiding in plain sight at end of an alley in berlin's most touristy area. no sign on door. knock but door policy varies. be chill if you want in.

Rosenthaler Str. 39, Berlin eschschloraque.de

Oberbaumbrücke

Bridge

amazing mural by blu, called the pink man (made in 2007), in kreuzberg, at the western end of the bridge - right by schlesischestrasse. more murals nearby.

Oberbaumbrücke, Berlin
de.wikipedia.org/wiki/Oberbaumbr%C3%BCcke

Görlitzer Park

once a train station, destroyed in world war II. graffiti-garnished park hosts cultural gatherings & impromptu activities, official & unofficial.

Görlitzer Str., Berlin
de.wikipedia.org/wiki/G%C3%B6rlitzer_Park

Berliner Unterwelten e.V.

History Museum

explore bunkers, shelters, escape tunnels, sewers, even an airplane factory, all of it underground! sign-up online.

Brunnenstr. 105, Berlin
+49 30 49910517 berliner-unterwelten.de

Zeughauskino

Indie Movies

exceptionally nice cinema, usually not crowded. room preserved from 1963 - socialist architecture at its best, perhaps. also hosts programs for the berlinale.

Unter den Linden 2, Berlin

Badeschiff Berlin

Pool

a floating outdoor bathing area along the spree. very festive, with drinks and food. a nice get-away. of course, it's best in the summer.

Eichenstr. 4, Berlin
+49 30 5332030 arena.berlin/badeschiff/

Klunkerkranich

a rooftop paradise of gardening, beer and city views of surrounding neukölln. a democratic, inclusive crowd. cover charge at night.

Karl-Marx-Str. 66, Berlin klunkerkranich.de
