Instructions to use Because it's a word receipt pattern when you make changes to it and then go to it you will be asked to keep in the new document. This way, your original template remains intact just like when it was downloaded. This template has text fields. Use the 'tab' on the keyboard to navigate the inside of the document into different fields. When you do this the fields are highlighted (as seen in the chart above) and you can start typing in details relevant to your transaction. By Po Po and the input you automatically replace the template in detail - no need to remove or backspace from the template in detail in the first place. If you need to use a mouse pointer to click inside the field you can, but that doesn't highlight the entire field. You can do this by clicking on the dotted tab on the left, as seen in the chart below, circled in red. In the column the amount paid is just a tab for 0.00s and enter the amount, but you can leave the total for the moment because we are going to make an automatic calculation. You will see a 'Chosen item' that allows you to choose between checks or checks depending on which part of the world you are from. To calculate the total click 'Ctrl and A' on the keyboard, which emphasizes everything and then click F9. This adds coins, notes and checks/checks). Once you have checked the receipt and you are happy with it, you can print it out. Click Ctrl and P or printer icon to print receipts. Sign it in the bottom left corner. Keep one in the folder and give one person who paid in cash. Of course, if you want to save the paper, just save or print this receipt on a PDF document or Windows Image and send it an email to the payment, and keep it on your computer or online electronic storage.
