Our Mission

Marin Catholic is a Roman Catholic college preparatory school serving young men and women. Consistent with our Gospel values, we are committed to the education of the whole person. As a community that values faith, knowledge and service, we provide our students with a spiritual, academic, and extra-curricular environment.

We expect our students, through their experiences in the classroom and as active members of the school community, to develop the attributes of an educated person: responsibility, both personal and social; critical thinking ability; and appreciation for the complexity of the world around us. In partnership with parents, we hope to instill in our students the confidence that will empower them, as informed and compassionate individuals, to effect change in our world. We are committed to learning as a lifelong process.

From the President....

Dear Friends,

More than 20 years ago, I was leading a youth group at my church, and we used traffic signs to discuss with high school students where they were in their faith journeys. I remember the youth pastor (and MC alum) Gary Gaddini '82 saying he was the "leaping deer" because he felt very much alive and hoping to reach new heights.

When I saw that same sign heading down the mountain the other day, I began to think this is exactly what we are experiencing as a community at Marin Catholic as we continue our efforts to be the finest Catholic college preparatory school in Northern California. And while this is a big goal, it is one that is attainable because of the drive and sacrifice our teachers, staff, alumni, students, parents and administrators make on a daily basis.

Almost nightly, I come home to my wife and children to share inspirational stories from my work day. Sometimes it comes from a piece of artwork I saw in the hallway from a student I had no idea was so artistically talented. Sometimes it's an alum who stepped up to help the school with a gift simply because of a teacher that "believed in them" at an important time in their life. Other times, it may be a simple prayer from a student or one of our Sisters in morning Mass.

Regardless of where the stories come from, they all are closely connected to our mission of faith, knowledge and service. In this issue, you will read several stories and see several pictures of these inspirational people that I encounter on a daily basis. It is my hope that you will not only be a reader of these stories, but also become part of one by involving yourself in this experience we call Marin Catholic.

God Bless,

Tim Navone
President

President Tim Navone, wife Kathy Waller and children Annie and Zack Navone visit the Motherhouse of the Dominican Sisters of Mary, Mother of the Eucharist in Ann Arbor, Michigan in July 2013. The Sisters pictured are Sr. Mary Samuel (one of the founders), Marin Catholic teachers Sr. Miriam and Sr. Maria Jose and our newest addition to the Marin Catholic community, Sr. Maria Catherine.

From the Chair of the Board of Regents, Greg Bullian '76

Dear Marin Catholic Community,

I truly loved my four years as a student at Marin Catholic. The friendships and memories I made in the classroom and on the field have lasted me a lifetime. While in graduate school, I was offered the opportunity to come back to Marin Catholic as a volunteer freshman football coach. It was a fantastic experience. It gave me an opportunity to reconnect with the school, to know my former teachers on a different level, and to realize how important the school was in developing me into the person I am today. This coaching experience rekindled my love for my alma mater, and it provided me the opportunity to begin giving back in gratitude for all that I had been blessed with.

I had the privilege of attending Marin Catholic because my parents made a Catholic education for their children a priority in their life, and they made the necessary sacrifices to make it happen. I realize every child is not so fortunate, and not every family can afford to provide a faith-based education to their children today, despite their best efforts. I also understand that if generous alumni and other benefactors had not supported the school before me, that the education I experienced at MC would not have been possible. I realize it is the responsibility of all of us to support this great institution however we can.

I give to Marin Catholic in appreciation for all the hardships my parents endured in order to provide me with a superior education. I give in gratitude to all the priests, religious and lay teachers who educated me throughout my years, recognizing that they made sacrifices so that I could have a better life. I give so that my son, and thousands of others like him, will someday have the opportunity to experience the same wonderful faith based education I was privileged to receive. I give because I feel that every child in Marin County should have the opportunity to grow in faith and knowledge, as I was fortunate enough to do.

Currently, as the Chairman of the Board of Regents, I have many opportunities to serve our school community. Today, I challenge each of you to renew your commitment to our schools motto of Faith, Knowledge and Service and contribute however you can to Marin Catholic.

Go Cats!

And Introducing...

Marin Catholic would like to introduce its most recent additions to the Board of Regents.

Carolyn Biasotti • Admissions Director, Saint Hilary School Husband, John; children David '14 and Matthew '16

Carolyn brings a wealth of experience in admissions, marketing, public relations, development, and advertising. She also has a multitude of experience on several different boards and is very active in the St. Hilary Parish. We look forward to her guidance as a member of the marketing committee and with our Faith and Spirituality program.

David Friend • Vice President, Alliance Channel, AT&T
Wife, Suzanne; children Nate '14, Gillian and Caroline

David has served as a board member on the Buildings and Grounds Committee and co-chair of the Annual Fund at San Domenico, where his two younger children attend school. He has also worked as a board member for the Special Olympics and the March of Dimes. We look forward to his work on the Fundraising and Development Committee expanding major gifts solicitation for the endowment.

Chris Hill • CFO, Cthulhu Venture LLC
Wife, Karen; children Rory '11, Emma '13, Liam, Sheldon, Morgan and Lauren

Chris has already made a big impact as a member of the Finance Committee working hands on with the Finance Director in data analysis, audit preparation, and financial reporting. He served as treasurer for six years at the Marin Montessori School. In addition to his financial expertise, Chris will provide guidance in the area of technology.

Hank Holland • Managing Director, Private Banking and Investment Group, Merrill Lynch Child, Hayden '15

Hank has already made a big impact as a leader in the Stadium Campaign Project and with his involvement and support of the scholarship program through the Holland Family Scholarship. Hank serves on the boards of the U.S. Ski Team Foundation, the San Francisco Ballet, the Cardigan Mountain School, and is the founder of The Five Rings Foundation. We look forward to his expertise in fundraising, strategic planning, and analytics.

Kevin Sharps • Partner, Deloitte Consulting LLP Wife Christine; children Lauren '15 and Courtney

Kevin comes to Marin Catholic after spending five years on the St. Patrick School Board where he served as chair. He is an active member of the St. Patrick Parish Men's Club and helped the school work on branding and strategic planning. We look forward to Kevin's expertise in Strategic Planning, Fundraising, and guidance with Alumni Relations.

TRADITION — PRIDE — EXCELLENCE — COMMUNITY

In the late 1960's, Marin Catholic inherited the old stadium grandstands from College of Marin. For the past 50 years, those grandstands have witnessed the crowning of more than four dozen Homecoming Queens, championships in football, soccer, and lacrosse, and some very special hugs with participants in the Special Olympics. If only these stands could talk.

Over the past 10 years, Marin Catholic has spent more than $60,000 repairing these stands to keep them up to code and safe for spectators. Now, it is time to replace them with a stadium complex that reflects the tradition, pride and excellence of Marin Catholic.

One of the mottos Marin Catholic lives by is "When you do it, do it right." That is our goal with the stadium complex. Rather than replace an old grandstand with a new one, we are looking to maximize the space by providing a first-class facility that enhances the overall student experience. Far beyond stadium seats, the new stadium complex will feature a state-of-the-art strength and conditioning center that will be utilized by the faculty in the curriculum, and by all student-athletes and sports teams. With the current strength and conditioning room existing in the designed storage space of the Student Center, this enhancement will also reclaim the desperately needed upper campus storage space.

Also located underneath the new ADA compliant stadium grandstands, will be an ADA compliant elevator, two locker rooms, showers, a training room, a coach's office, a snack shack, and full bathrooms for student-athletes and the community.

Two new additions will also speak to the Marin Catholic tradition and pride. At the top of the grandstands behind the new double-sized press box will be the new Alumni Deck. With panoramic views of the field, the watershed, and Mt. Tamalpais, this space will be utilized for a variety of community events and will feature the rich history of athletic accomplishments on the walkway.

The centerpiece of the project will be a five-foot bronze Wildcat that will be displayed at the front and center of the new grandstand. Creating a new tradition, all student-athletes, as they head out to the center of the field from the locker room, will touch the Wildcat in remembrance to those athletes who have gone before them in battle and pursuit of athletic excellence.

The new stadium complex will include a state of the art weight room, concession stand, alumni deck and locker room.

Understanding Endowment

By Bryan Clement

Interview with Donor
Jeff Dal Pogetto '76
Employer: Andavo Travel

What was your Marin Catholic experience like?

I enjoyed my college experience, but my Marin Catholic experience was phenomenal!

You recently made a memorial gift to our scholarship fund to honor your late father, Ray Dal Pogetto. Why make the jump to a 5 year, $25,000 endowment pledge?

I heard someone say, "You spend the first 20 years of your business life trying to make a living. You spend the next 20 trying to make a difference." I started to ask myself how can I make a difference? Part of making a difference is that at a certain point it becomes about your legacy. When it is all said and done . . . what will the next generation experience? I feel that education is the foundation of who people become. I'd like my gift to impact others for that reason. With the loss of my dad, I started to think about things differently. Most people start to give as they start to think of their mortality. I want to enjoy life. I'm passionate about what I do, and now I get to think of others.

Words are funny. As a former sixth grade teacher, I would often find myself asking students if they knew the exact definition of a word. Typically, they would quickly respond, "Yes!". However, when prompted to define it further, they would stumble with specificity, giving the general connotation of the word or telling me something like, "I know it is a good thing!"

Similar to my former students, up until these past few years as a school administrator, the word 'endowment' would render me grasping for clarity.

"I know it is something good for a school. . ." was about as much as I could say on the topic.

Now, after two years as the Director of Advancement and Alumni for Marin Catholic, the word 'endowment' resonates in my mind each time I hear it, conjuring the phrase . . .

"It is essential for the long term growth of a school."

Marin Catholic's Bishop Thomas A. Daly Endowment was established to aggressively respond to the urgent, growing need for Tuition Assistance. The amount of money that Marin Catholic can give toward financial support is directly related to the amount of interest that the Bishop Thomas A. Daly Endowment 'kicks off' annually. Technically, the 'endowed' money is a corpus of money whose principal cannot be touched; it should grow and grow. The more money sitting in the endowment, the larger the amount of annual interest earned, which can be allocated to families in need.

Annually, Marin Catholic gives out over $1.1 million dollars in financial assistance, benefiting approximately 29% of our current families in need. This tuition assistance is paid for via a combination of the interest earned off the endowment and funds from the operating budget. The larger the endowment, the less money that is pulled from the general operating budget and the more money that remains to be spent on our current student programs.

Upon his appointment to being the first lay president of the school, President Navone made it one of his primary goals to grow the endowment, and he has been true to his word. Since May of 2011, the endowment has tripled in the first year and half of his presidency, growing from $1.2 million dollars to $4 million in gifts and pledges.

"We have an opportunity," Navone said of the endowment. "We have a chance to put Marin Catholic on stable financial ground in a way that will lead to the continued long-term excellence of our school. I am tremendously proud of what our students experience day to day, but if we want to become widely recognized as the top Catholic, college preparatory school in Northern California, we must address the growing financial assistance needs without putting the burden on current families. The Bishop Thomas A. Daly Endowment is the way to do this."

To make a gift to the endowment, contact Director of Advancement and Alumni, Bryan Clement, 415-464-3841.

Paying It Forward Through The Parker Foundation

Joe Parker, Founder of the Joseph R. Parker Foundation

The Joseph R. Parker Foundation has been a model of giving for nearly 20 years, earning the honorable distinction of being the longest running, uninterrupted scholarship awarded at Marin Catholic. Joseph Parker began a relationship with Marin Catholic through his personal connection to Bishop Thomas A. Daly, and it was in the early 90's that he established a scholarship in memory of his son who passed at too early of an age.

After initially supporting improvements to the campus, and working with board members on the planning of the new campus buildings (which we enjoy today) Joseph Parker began to see how students benefited from the mission and how "Faith, Knowledge, and Service" could be a transformative force in their life. As fate would have it, Mr. Parker passed away in 1993, before he would get to see the fruits of his generosity. Parker Foundation board members Paul Eveloff, Joan Woodson and Ken MacDonald have been stewards of the vision and legacy of Mr. Parker.

A friendship born out of a business partnership, Paul Eveloff saw how 'Joe' had the ability to instantly connect to all children. "Joe just got it, totally," said Mr. Eveloff. "He'd sit down with a group of kids and within ten minutes they would be telling him their life story. He was like a grandfather to them."

Eveloff sees his work at the Parker Foundation as an extension of the values he learned in his own family. Growing up as the grandson of a Russian, Austrian and Polish Jewish Immigrant, the phrase "We are here but for the kindness of strangers" was a way of thinking passed down to him. Mr. Eveloff continues to pay it forward with the Parker Foundation and his own philanthropic initiatives outside of Marin Catholic.

The Parker Foundation is well represented annually at Marin Catholic's Scholarship Dinner where benefactors and award recipients meet and share a meal. "The parents are grateful and the kids are a breath of fresh air," said Parker board member, Mr. MacDonald. "The scholars are very enjoyable, and there is always a growth in our relationship over their four years."

Eveloff sums it up beautifully. "Ken, Joan and I are great believers in the extraordinary education the students receive at Marin Catholic because the school, its teachers and staff all truly care about the kids."

And so did Joseph Parker, who has left an indelible mark on the lives of so many MC students.

If you would like to contribute to Marin Catholic's Scholarship Program by creating a named scholarship for $2,500 (or more) annually or an endowed scholarship for $25,000 (or more), please contact Director of Advancement and Alumni, Bryan Clement at (415) 464-3841 or President Tim Navone (415) 464-3807. Scholarship donations can be anonymous upon request.

New Faces on Campus

Sister Maria Catherine – English

Sister Maria Catherine, O.P. is a professed member of the Dominican Sisters of Mary, Mother of the Eucharist. She grew up loving books, movies, and dogs. Also a convert to the faith, she looks for every opportunity to study and share the richness of our Catholic tradition. When she isn't teaching English, she is reorganizing the convent library and thinking about what book to read next.

Amy Hale – English

Amy has been teaching English since 1995. In her last position, she anchored the Foothill High School Advanced Placement Language and Composition program for seven years. Graduating from Santa Clara University with a Bachelor of Arts in English, she continued her love for books and writing teaching English at Henry Gunn High School in Palo Alto and Hillsdale High School in San Mateo. Mrs. Hale holds a single subject teaching credential from California State University, East Bay. She lives in Kentfield with her husband and three children.

Nicole Ferris – Campus Ministry

Recognizing the value of her own Catholic education in elementary and high school, having received her B.A. in Psychology at UC Berkeley, and currently pursuing her Master's in Counseling at Saint Mary's College of CA, Nicole is committed to helping students learn and grow in faith. She is happy to join the Campus Ministry Team after working with a strong team that created effective youth programs at the YWCA Berkeley/Oakland.

Paul Hamel – Dean of Students/Social Studies

After graduating from Villanova University in 1991 with a BA in History, Paul took a commission in the US Navy where he served on the USS Mt. Hood. Paul has a MA in History from San Francisco State. From 1997-2000, Paul taught English in Japan and traveled throughout Asia. Upon returning in 2000, Paul became the History Department Chair at the San Domenico School and the following year founded the American Studies Program. From 2006 to 2012, Paul served as a history teacher and class dean at the San Francisco University High School. Paul is currently enrolled as a MA student in education with a focus on technology in the classroom.

Megan Bridgwater – Theology

Megan has earned honors degrees from John Brown University (BA) and University College Dublin (MA). Megan studied Early Church History at Oxford University in England, which proved to be a final push toward her adult conversion to Catholicism. She is currently working towards a Doctorate of Philosophy degree in Catholic Literature. While in Ireland, Megan worked as a freelance book reviewer for the Irish Times and taught undergraduate courses at University College Dublin. She has spent the past eight years living in both Ireland and Scotland while pursuing postgraduate studies.

Brian Kelly – Counseling

Brian has been a school counselor for the past 12 years where he has served the St. Joseph Norte Dame High School and St. Ignatius College Preparatory communities. He received his B.A. in Communications, his Pupil Personnel Services Credential, and his M.A. in Counseling from St. Mary's College of California. Brian will also be part of the MC Football staff where he enters his 19th year of coaching, serving prior stints at Campolindo High School and St. Ignatius.

Mariangela Parenti – Italian

Mariangela was born and raised in Bologna, Italy. She graduated from Bologna University and then moved to the United States, where she earned a MA in Italian Studies at Indiana University, Bloomington and a MA in Teaching at the University of San Francisco. She is credentialed in English and Italian. She loves teaching, reading, writing and traveling. She feels it is a privilege to transfer her knowledge of Italian and her culture to her students.

Jessica Ruscello – English

Jessica graduated from the University of Minnesota with a degree in English Literature, and has been working on a Master of Divinity since moving to California. She recently relocated from Florida and is enjoying her first year with Marin Catholic. She lives for coffee and adventure; loves words, art and people.

Vito Bizanelli – Theology

Vito has been teaching for nearly two decades in public, private, and charter schools. He has specific experience with special needs/ at-risk youth and teaching in the fields of Theology and Art. He earned his Master of Arts in Teaching from Willamette University, a Bachelor of Arts in Humanities from Dominican University and holds teaching credentials in both California and Oregon. He has his Catechetical Certification through the Archdiocese of San Francisco and has worked in the areas of religious education as a DRE, middle school catechist, and youth group.

Chett Garcia – Math

Chett holds a degree in Construction Management from Cal Poly, SLO. After graduation he moved to New Zealand for a year to continue playing rugby and spend some time out of the country traveling throughout South Africa, Argentina, Brazil, El Salvador, Nicaragua, and India. After working in construction as a project manager for 3 years, Chett then decided that teaching was where his heart belonged. Chett entered the credential program at Santa Clara University followed by teaching for 2 years at his alma mater before joining Marin Catholic. In addition to teaching Algebra 2 and Honors Pre-Calculus, Chett will also be coaching the Varsity D-Line for Football.

Brittany Diego – Science

Brittany is a Wildcat alumna from the Marin Catholic Class of 1997. Brittany earned her B.S in Biology and Teaching Credential from Dominican University. Brittany played soccer during her time at both MC and Dominican. She was part of the Marin Catholic faculty from 2003-2007 when she taught a variety of science classes, and then took a break to raise her children. MC is happy to have Brittany back to teach Freshmen Biology this year.

A Combined 78 Years Dedicated to Marin Catholic

In May 2013, the Marin Catholic faculty and staff celebrated our three retirees who have contributed endless amounts of time and energy with their commitment to our students over the years. The community sends a huge “thank you” to our retirees. We wish you a relaxing and well-deserved retirement!

- A. Sandra Howard has dedicated 29 years to the French and English Departments.
- B. Rosella Piazza has spent 28 years on campus in the roles of Registrar, Dean of Studies and most recently, a Counselor.
- C. Pam Koppe has contributed 21 years as a Substitute Coordinator and English teacher.

Summer Scholars 2013:

Alumni Give Back

The 'Summer Scholar' program invites some of the best and brightest young minds in Marin for a one week camp of learning and leadership training. Alumni return to share and teach the 7th and 8th grade students who were nominated and selected from our local parochial schools. Along with recent graduate Joe King '13 who helped supervise the nearly 40 students who participated each day, other alumni came to share the gift of knowledge with these students.

Dr. Erin Bennett '97, DVM, MVS

Chief of Public Medicine, Sonoma County Humane Society

Taught students how to analyze dog blood in a microscope

Jake Alexander '12, Seattle University studying photography

Kristina Ho '12, Hofstra University, Theater Major

Charles Pickford '12, Chapman University, Business Major

Shared their love of the arts by engaging students in a Clap Olympics

Jimmy Klapperich '93, owner and operator of Klappcakes

Taught students how to make banana chocolate chip bread

Chris Escher '00, Account Director, Enterprise at Pacnet

Shared his passion for honey farming and the secret life of bees

Roxanne Civarello '06, Communications Director at Marin Catholic

Guided students through learning the power and creativity of computer design

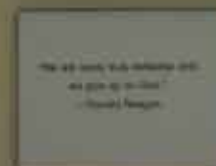

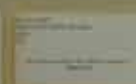

MC Art Students were “Moved by Words”

The Throckmorton Theatre Gallery graciously hosted a beautiful show by Marin Catholic’s advanced Visual Art students from May 7 – 31. The show, “Moved by Words” was conceived of and curated by Susan Schneider, and included works of painting, drawing, photography, and ceramics. The students were asked to create art that was inspired by a quote or text that resonated with their personal spirituality. The words were shown alongside the artwork of each student to create a very touching and thought provoking display. The exhibit was a tremendous success as many of the participating students experienced the sensation of the Opening Night Reception where patrons quickly purchased a large amount of the artwork!

MC Arts continues to lead the creative way with dynamic learning opportunities for our students. A big thank you to Susan Schneider for her efforts in making this show possible, as well as Throckmorton Theatre owner Lucy Mercer for generously offering the Theatre Gallery as a venue for our students.

Meave Poetry Contest: Inspiring the Fires of Creativity

The Meave Poetry Contest is an annual tradition sponsored by Marin Catholic’s patron of poetry, the Meave Family. Bryan Jaeger, English Department Head, describes the contest for our students: “It promotes poetry as both an artistic outlet as well as an opportunity to make note or even to make sense of the world around us. It inspires the fires of creativity and fuels the reflection of our students.” The English Department chose this year’s theme: “Empathy: A Climb Into Skin” from Harper Lee’s To Kill A Mockingbird.

In the following excerpt from To Kill a Mockingbird, we hear Atticus’s sage advice for his daughter, Scout. Delivered through metaphor, Atticus’s lesson is about empathy.

“First of all,” he said, “if you can learn a simple trick, Scout, you’ll get along a lot better with all kinds of folks. You never really understand a person until you consider things from his point of view --”

“Sir?”

“-- until you climb into his skin and walk around in it.”

This year’s assignment was to compose a poem in which students reflect on a time they were similarly prompted to climb into another’s skin, to empathize with his or her situation, and then explore the resulting understanding they gained. Students were asked to poetically describe the circumstances, the individual whose point of view was shared, and the resulting effect on their own perspective. The result was a range of beautifully written poems, which proved to be difficult in selecting this year’s winners.

Congratulations to the following winners who received a scholarship prize and were honored in an intimate reception with their proud parents and teachers, as well as the Meave family. Enjoy the winning poems by our talented writers on the following pages.

“Paper Towns”

This is a town of paper - flimsy, fragile, delicate - unsustainable and unreal, a town of monopoly houses, plastic and formulaic -- a societal equation devoid of variables with only one inevitable conclusion: mundanity.

This town is nothing.

A town of sandcastles, and sure, maybe they’re nice to look at, but wait -- there -- the tide of time will wash them away. They won’t and can’t last -- almost impressive in their ability to be unremarkable --

She lives here, and you do too. Because now, her skin is your skin -- you’ve taken command of her limbs and freckles and made them your own. She lives there, in a land of fiction -- but stop, look around -- can you see it? You do. You understand her.

Because your town is paper, too.

A place like this -- it draws you in with apartment complexes, subdivisions -- or with the promise of tradition, sports - ‘classic’ memories - whatever that means. For both of you - escape is waiting in the folds of a graduation gown - hiding in the brim of a one-size-fits-all cap. Can you wait? She can’t. She runs.

Because this isn’t just a nothing town -- it’s also filled with nothing people, empty people, slowly deflating balloons running out of helium or spark or life or anything, floating miserably back to earth on the currents of their life and former achievements.

These people live meaningless lives, and you both hate them for it. These are people who just don’t understand - this is what she wants to leave behind. And she does.

She drives off into the sunset - leaving behind her own burst of light, her own dwindling comet trail - a moment - a flicker - a flash in the clouds. Then she’s gone.

We know how this turns out though. Leaving never turns out the way it seems it will. Drink deep from the bitter pool of disillusionment - nothing’s as you thought it was.

You hear that? Nothing.

Not this ‘outside world’ you idealized for so long, not the whisper of tomorrow with its guarantee of better tidings. Not this town -- not these people. For maybe they are made of paper - but you naive, ignorant fool - don’t you see it? That doesn’t make them meaningless.

Because, maybe you haven’t noticed, books are made of paper too.

And that’s what this town is - what these people are - stories. Will you try and say you know the plot of every one? How dare you pass your judgments -- presume anything about them.

You never could see, and neither could she. Both of you are still so ignorant. But you’re learning - and that’s what matters.

I Never Knew...

*I never knew that stepping on stage would transform imagination into reality or allow me to become someone else.
I never knew, as I stepped into a juror's shoes, that I would have to separate facts, opinions, and emotions, no matter how hard it would be.
I never knew that I had to jump into every role:
the accused, the victim, the witness,
so that my decision would be pure.
I never knew that I had to empty myself,
to remove all bias and be open-minded,
at the same time doubting everything I heard.
I never knew that from person to person, perspectives and points of views could be so different,
and that they were all part of the truth.
I never knew that I had to look at everything,
in two different ways:
from the outside in, and from the inside out.
I never knew that doing so would help me gain understanding of how people look at me, and how I look at them.
I never knew what it was like to hold a life in my hands,
a life in balance between life and death,
knowing that a single decision could influence its whole future.
I never knew how this would change my life, but now I realize that I can accept and understand opinions better,
and I know the effects one decision can cause.
I never knew... until now.*

The Fate of Man

*Will you try on my Shoes for but a moment?
They are old and battered, yes,
But I have a notion that they might fit.
Young One, see my Face,
More weather-worn and crinkled than the Leather of my Boots.
Young One, see my Tears,
And listen to their Story:*

*So was foretold the Fate of Man:
May it be his Nature to peer into Himself,
Like a child who steals glances from behind the Recourse of his mother's whispering skirt,
Safeguarded as he sneaks one peek, two,
In bits and bouts of Madness and Courage at That which he knows himself to be afraid of
And yet still challenges his own resolve and Resolution in looking;
To toss and roll his soul within his dirtied
Hands,
A prospector mad for a glimpse of gold
Hidden among beige stones beneath murky waters –
So will Man consider Himself:
Consumed by giddy fear in which he knows that What He Finds
May change him Forever.*

*Thus united is every Man,
Hesitant, though, is he to admit it.
This he would see were he to Take upon the Skin of another --
No Man is largely unlike his Brother.
Clothe yourself in my garments! my Skin! my Life!
And you will see that we are not so different, we two.
Abandon all prejudice, all preconceptions and bias
And kindly regard my position.
Take my hand and hold it tight.
Were you to say that you will be Changed
Would be a gross Understatement.*

Sonder

*My chair creaks as I lean back, its wooden arthritis protesting my weight
The front legs disconnect from the bland carpet
The creaking stops, replaced by the hushed whispers of people minding their own business, it fills the air with a symphony of obliviousness*

They stare straight ahead, ignorant of the sea of consciousness that surrounds them

*A girl to my left sits hunched over her laptop, typing furiously at her keys as if they had wronged her.
She's writing a report for her class. She's studying to be a botanist.
When she was a child, she would sit in her special meadow, picking those special flowers that warranted her inspection; she is fascinated by them.*

*The man sitting across from me stares at a blank page. He has sat there for an hour and hasn't liked a word he's written down.
The crumpled carcasses of failed prose lay dejected in the nearby wastebasket.
He taps the pen against the oak, perhaps hoping that the incessant bludgeoning will break the writer's block that barricades his golden thoughts just out of reach*

*An old man pecks away at the keyboard of the communal computer, he sends an email to a figment of another time; their friendship eroded away by the passage of the years.
The winter of his life is filled with reminiscing, of sitting by the fire, warming joints and wondering what could have been.*

These are not just people; they are pasts, presents, and futures.

They are canvases, great works of art filled with scenes of incredible jubilation and unimaginable sorrow. But none of them are just quite finished; their blank corners coo seductively to be filled in with the intoxicating unknown.

*Each of them their own sculptor, their own clay. Their lives as vivid and complex as my own, filled with ambitions, anxieties and love.
With fascination over flowers, with deadlines to meet, with old flames to rekindle. Each the centerpiece of their own universe*

I walk outside into the cold and head towards my car.

I am nothing more than a passerby in their lives, and they nothing more than a dot in mine.

But to think, within that dot, hides another person's universe.

The Weather Conditions of Transmutation

*Finally I can flex and move in your body
I feel your pulse, your nerves, your chest rise and fall
It fits me perfectly, now
Stretching my entire being, filling my whole consciousness
Yet still bursting to be released
Like the greatest storm I've ever lived*

*Every inch of your skin envelops me, consumes me, covers me
Like a sheet of hard rain and mist
But I am not just in your skin*

*Your eyes become my own and through them I can see
The things you taught me even clearer
Two transparent spots of sky trapped in a clouded face*

*With your mouth I breathe into others
The same words that brought me your blessings
Blowing with the force of a gale that cannot be ignored*

*With your heart every pint I pump
Propels the passion I derived from you Pounding with reverberating thunder at every beat*

*Under the stress of your bones
My joints bend to copy your conduct
Cracking with the shining lightning within them*

*Under the weight of your feet
I forge the new path for others to follow as I followed you
Far from the sun and into the storm*

*And finally I know, I see, I taste, I feel
As your reign of the skies subsides and mine begins
Let the storm come!*

Marin Catholic would like to recognize our seven Newest Eagle Scouts from the Class of 2013! This is truly an amazing amount for one class of graduating students at MC. All seven young men recently became Eagle Scouts. Bill Barton, Scoutmaster Troop 59, states that they were very impressive on their Eagle Board of Review. According to the Boy Scouts of America, only 7% of Boy Scouts reached Eagle Rank in 2012.

Serving Others, Discovering Passions

Marin Catholic High School senior, Karen Monterroso, has volunteered over 200 hours at Marin General Hospital. She has spent time working in the volunteer office, the reception desk and has staffed the S.M.I.L.E. cart- Students Making Illness a Little Easier. Volunteers who staff the S.M.I.L.E. cart visit patients with a variety of goodies such as lip balm, hand lotion, puzzles and pens. It helps to make days a little brighter with visits from student volunteers like Karen.

When reflecting on her time at MGH, Monterroso shared, "It has been a great experience volunteering at MGH, getting to know different people who work in different departments, helping/cheering up those who are sick and don't have company, and happily giving directions to people who may need assistance." Monterroso has wanted to work in the medical field since she was a child. She was inspired by her own nurse, and having two younger siblings has developed her strong desire for helping younger children. These things, along with her time at Marin General and the nurses she has met along the way, have led her to pursue a degree in nursing from San Francisco State beginning in the Fall.

Monterroso was one of nine high school volunteers to receive a scholarship from Marin General Hospital which will be applied toward her tuition at San Francisco State. Monterroso reflects on this: "Receiving the scholarship was a true honor because I feel as if I belong to an amazing community. Volunteering at MGH has been a great experience, especially seeing things that you don't see everyday."

Freeing Slaves in Sudan

Most people are inaccurately taught that slavery was abolished years ago. Slavery still exists today in places like Sudan, but it is covered up. Few news stations choose to inform us about the ongoing slavery problem in our world today, so most of us don't even know that we can help. But we can.

With the leadership of Joe Tassone, Religion and Social Studies teacher and moderator for the St. Vincent De Paul club (SVDP), Marin Catholic took steps (literally) to raise money and spread awareness of slavery in Sudan. The walk, hosted along with Christian Solidarity International (CSI), brought over 130 people to walk together for the freedom of slaves.

It takes $100 to free one slave and give them a "sack of hope" which provides them with necessary items to survive. Every cent counts and every $100 raised is another smile from a freed slave. According to Tassone, over $20,000 was raised in Marin and as a result, 200 slaves will be freed and given a "sack of hope." He states, "I am so glad to be working at a school that really practices 'Faith, Knowledge, and Service' and tries to love its neighbors, as Christ loves us."

Joining the community on the walk was ex-slave Keer Aleu who was intentionally blinded at the age of six. Despite this, he carries himself with poise and joy. He is fluent in English with less than two years of lessons. In addition, Heidi McGinness, Director of Outreach for CSI as well as a videography crew joined the community for the walk which will be featured in a documentary about Keer. Keer loved meeting and chatting with kids his own age.

"The spirit and participation was amazing. We are very blessed to have Joe and his team continue to focus us on our mission as a school through the work he does with his SVDP club," said Karen Racanello Italian teacher at Marin Catholic.

Students walk for the freedom of Sudanese slaves on April 20, 2013.

Anything Is Possible at Marin Catholic

By Carlyn Williams '13

Editor's Note: Sometimes we adults try and tell the good news of Marin Catholic. Sometimes it is best to hear it from the source, the student voice.

Faith:

Attending a private, Catholic High School may be ideal for some, off-putting to others, or like me [and ostriches] a few may put their heads in the proverbial sand, and disregard the parochial connection altogether. I have traditionally ignored the question of religion, only attending Marin Catholic High School because my parents thought I would receive an excellent value-based education that combines service, athletics, and academics seamlessly.

All my religious distancing changed this past January, when I was compelled to attend “Kairos,” a four-day retreat with a third of my senior class. I amusingly imagined that the Kairos Retreat would aggressively attempt to convert me. Regardless of my perception, I regarded the retreat as an opportunity to leave my busy life for a few days, reconnect with old friends, and take the time to meet new ones. However, something highly unexpected happened. Through learning about my classmates’ religious and spiritual connections, I became awed by and curious about the notion of God. Over the course of four days, I sat in contemplation about a higher power, and felt joy, reverence, and excitement. Although I am still not devout, I am appreciative and respectful of the role of religion, and I am open to cultivating an earnest relationship with the Divine. I would have never had this kind of experience if I had gone to any other high school. Moreover, I feel closer to my friends and teachers, and I feel as if I am even more a part of the greater Marin Catholic community of faithful believers.

Knowledge:

I was born and raised in Southern Marin, where I was a part of the Reed Union School District in Tiburon from first through eighth grade. In the middle of eighth grade, I was diagnosed with Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder Combined Type, and shortly after, I began living primarily with my mother and stepfather in Belvedere. I thought my academic struggles in elementary and middle school would follow me through high school, but the immense amount of support I received through the Academic Service Center (ASC) at Marin Catholic and from the Marin Catholic faculty and staff in general made all the difference.

During my freshman and sophomore years, I took Resource 9 and 10 with Mrs. Katie Tuttle, where I learned skills such as time management, organization, and self-advocacy. As a kid who had trouble focusing and just couldn’t sit still because of my severe impulsive disorder, I also was able to receive a 504 Plan, giving me extended time on all tests and quizzes with the option of taking them separately from the rest of the class. With the encouragement of the teachers in the ASC, my parents and I agreed that I had formulated a solid basis of learning skills and techniques by my junior year and subsequently I took an independent study period instead of Resource 11. I continued to use the weekly consultation meetings with the ASC teachers during my junior and senior year for guidance and confidence that I was on the right track in my schoolwork.

Confidence:

This simple word sums up what I most received from attending Marin Catholic.

An obvious example of my increased self-esteem, which is almost entirely attributed to being part of the ASC, is my rocky relationship with mathematics. I was disappointed in the fact that I couldn’t achieve a grade higher than a D during my first semester of Algebra 1 as a freshman. As a result, I was placed in the lower math class. I felt like I was letting myself down, although I knew I was never particularly good at math. Instead of giving me a hard time, the ASC worked with the math department to help me completely turn things around. Teachers such as Katie Tuttle and Marianne Hill encouraged me to simply ‘stick it out’ as they helped me set up numerous meetings and tutoring sessions with my math teachers which I continued to take advantage of through my senior year. My ASC instructors and my math teachers believed in me more than I believed in myself, and, because of that, they helped me achieve something that no one in the math department had ever thought possible of a “Math C” student. During my senior year, I took an AP math class.

Math was just one subject that the ASC helped me eventually succeed in. As I slowly began to realize my capabilities, the teachers in the ASC encouraged me to challenge myself in all other academic areas. Their persistent encouragement and my motto of “Work hard. Play hard” helped me move my way up through MC’s curriculum, taking all basic classes as a freshman, then one Honors class as a sophomore, then one Honors class and two AP classes as a junior, and finally one Honors class and four AP classes as a senior, while increasing my GPA every semester. My final year’s schedule at Marin Catholic included Spanish IV, AP Statistics, Art I, AP Government, AP English Literature, Honors Bioethics, and AP Biology. All of my teachers thought I was overworking myself, which I probably was, but I was determined to push my limits and prove my capabilities, just as I do in all aspects of my life.

This crazy work ethic is also demonstrated in my career in Ski Cross. When I try to explain what I do every weekend during the winter, I always receive puzzled looks. The best way to describe Ski Cross is a perilous combination of Alpine Skiing, Nascar Racing, and Roller Derby, pitting four to six people down a steep race course, which consists of forty foot jumps, massive bank turns, technical features, and the opportunity to reach speeds over fifty miles per hour. Given my competitive nature and my natural tendency toward hardcore sports (such as the intense Varsity volleyball program at Marin Catholic), my parents decided early on that I would remain a full-time, well-rounded, high school student and an amateur athlete, no matter how successful I became in the brutal world of Professional Ski Cross. I started to win national competitions, gain multiple sponsors, and eventually make my international debut at the Junior World Championship in Valmalenco, Italy. I hoped my parents would change their minds and allow me to move to the Sierra-Nevada mountain range, train with the US team, and commit singularly to the extreme sport that had begun to define me. Instead, they became more resolute, and I remained in Marin County, Monday through Friday. I have skied for Squaw Valley since I was 8 years old, and I am addicted to the fast paced, critical sport of Ski Cross that has taught me to be strong, tenacious, and fearless. Although I am ranked 31st in the world, and 1st nationally, in my age division, I am most proud of my personal victories on the slope: after every brutal, bloody fall I get up feeling blessed and ready to try again.

Service:

Away from the snow, I have been able to harness all that I have learned in Ski Cross about leadership, diversity, and management back at Marin Catholic. As one of forty Link Crew Leaders, I was selected out of hundreds of applicants for my ability to juggle school, sports, a learning disability, and social life with competence and humor. I loved helping MC students realize that we all come from very different backgrounds, with very different skills, and ultimately, we all have very different aspirations, needs, and concerns.

I feel as if I really make a difference when I share my difficulty of balancing a challenging academic schedule and Ski Cross with the freshman class, assuring them that they are not alone in feeling overwhelmed by obligations to extracurricular activities and school.

Future:

I knew Berkeley before I even understood what college was. My dream has always been to follow in my mother’s footsteps as a sorority girl at Cal. With this said, I never thought the admissions office at a high ranking institution, let alone the University of California, Berkeley, would look past my learning disability and my faulty math scores to understand my personal life and actually take an interest in me. To this day, I don’t know what specific piece of my profile Berkeley was attracted to. What surprises a lot of people is that I actually got into Cal on merits, not my successful Ski Cross career.

Carlyn’s last day in the Maasai Mara. “Although I met so many inspirational children on my Free the Children trip to Kenya, Pasio (the little girl I’m holding in the picture) and I made a really special connection.”

The majority of my philanthropic service is dedicated to an overseas organization called Free the Children (FTC). I am drawn to International Relations because of my month long trips to India and Kenya with FTC. My entire world flipped upside down after living in these rural communities, which resulted in extreme reverse culture shock when I returned home. I worked side by side with the most poverty stricken, yet joyous, people I have ever met, and my life was changed by building schools and teaching eager students. My perspectives on the entire world were completely altered, and since these trips I am driven towards initiating global change. I intend to begin this large scale work by majoring in Political Science with a minor in Peace and Conflict Studies and/or Human Rights at Berkeley. With this in mind, it’s rare to find a freshman in college who has a clear vision of where they see themselves in twenty years, but I dream of becoming a US Ambassador to the UN, and the amount of determination I put into my schoolwork is motivated by that aspiration.

Kathryn Khalvati '13 Nominated as Youngest CA Republican Delegate

By The MC Newspaper Staff

Student Body President and the Class of 2013 Valedictorian, Kathryn Khalvati was nominated to be the youngest delegate to the California Republican Party. She is heading to Yale University in the Fall to study Ethics, Politics and Economics to continue her pursuit towards a career working in the U.S. government.

"On the occasion of your 18th birthday and subsequent to your voter registration as a Republican, it's my pleasure to nominate you to be a delegate to the California Republican Party (CRP)," said Kevin Krick, Bay Area Regional Vice Chair. "Your hard work and dedication as a youth delegate are commendable, and I'm certain you'll represent us well as the youngest delegate to the CRP."

The nomination followed an eventful weekend at the CRP Spring Convention in Sacramento on March 1-3rd. As the head intern for the Kevin Krick for CRP Bay Area Regional Vice Chair Campaign, Khalvati arranged the campaign breakfast, mass-distributed flyers, posters, and stickers, and managed delegate follow-through for the election all while maintaining social media fronts. The hard work put in the campaign proved successful, as Krick won the election with a landslide of votes.

Khalvati was also a featured speaker during a youth panel at the convention, leading the discussion on what Republicans need to do to attract more youth to their party. Legislators Connie Conway and Bob Huff were so impressed with the youths' insights that they asked for a white paper proposal of their ideas. Khalvati led the group collaboration on the paper, which has been handed off to the CA Senate for review. All of these efforts as a campaign intern and 'youth delegate' contributed to her nomination as the youngest delegate to the CA Republican Party.

"I am so grateful and honored to have this new responsibility as a Republican delegate," Khalvati said regarding the nomination. "From my experiences working in student government, political campaigns, and being a youth delegate, I am ready to represent the millennial generation at the forefront of politics."

Fungi In Florida

By Natasha Rosenbach '15

This is a photo of a mushroom that Natasha collected on one of her days in the field collecting mushroom samples.

Natasha Rosenbach '15 has an interest in marine science and isn't wasting any time on her goal of becoming a biologist. Natasha spent three weeks of her summer interning in the biology lab at the University of Florida where she researched mycology, the study of fungi.

My cousin, Matthew Smith, is a professor and mycologist at the University of Florida in Gainesville. A couple months ago, we were talking at a family get together, and I shared with him my huge curiosity in marine science. Since he is an experienced scientist, I knew he would be an interesting person to talk with. I was not expecting him to invite me to be his intern for three weeks during the summer, but that is exactly what he did. It only took me a couple minutes to make my decision to accept his invitation because I knew how lucky I was to be given this opportunity.

I did not know anything about mycology, except that it is the study of fungi. Even though my main interest was in marine biology, I know that fungal biology could also be interesting to learn about, and it could help me understand more about being a biologist.

My main objectives for coming to the University of Florida and working as an intern in the mycology lab were:

- 1) Learn how science is conducted in a real research laboratory
- 2) Master universal laboratory skills, including the use of standard lab instruments, to benefit my future career in science
- 3) Acquire basic knowledge about fungal biology

During my internship, I worked five days a week in the fungal biology lab at the University of Florida. Each day, I learned completely new facts about fungi, and I also learned about lab procedures that were unfamiliar.

This internship will help me in my future science career at MC and in college. It was a great experience that greatly benefitted me, and it was definitely worth three weeks of not sleeping in!

Future Leaders Visit State Capitol

Marin Catholic students joined hundreds of other young leaders on Tuesday, April 9, for the 38th Annual Advocacy Day in Sacramento, led by Novato Republican Women, Federated (NRWF) and hosted each year by the California Federation of Republican Women. The annual event's mission is to educate California's youth to be good citizens and future leaders through guest speakers, participation in stimulating workshops, tours of the capitol, and meetings with legislators and political officials. The program works to increase student awareness of their State Capitol's purposes and functions and how they can become active participants. The Marin County students met with Assemblyman Marc Levine and his Chief of Staff, Mark Miller, along with Assembly Minority Leader, Connie Conway and her Communications Director, Sabrina Lockhart. The Marin County students were selected and sponsored by the Novato Republican Women, Federated. All but three of the young leaders who were selected were Marin Catholic students. The students left inspired and fulfilled from their visit to our State Capitol.

MC student names listed in italics.

A Student's Perspective....

Kayla Van Koll '16:

"Meeting so many other students from around the state showed me that young people really care about California and want to be involved and understand the issues that affect our state so that we can improve it for future generations."

Lauren Sharps '15:

"I liked meeting new people to understand their viewpoints on the governmental overall, a certain bill, or even just why they decided to attend this year's Advocacy Day. It showed me a small glimpse of how Sacramento really runs with people from all different walks of life with one goal in mind: making our government the best it can be for Californians."

I was surprised to learn how Sacramento and the politicians we met were so excited about their jobs and how relative their plans were to our questions, comments, and concerns about California. Senator Mark Levine, for example, was so excited to share his plans for making education a top priority, being that he is also a father to two young scholars; I would like to make a career in the education field so having the chance to hear his big plans for education was quite reassuring to see he truly cares about our state's bright future, ensuring every Californian is given the chance to receive an education."

Peter Kent '16:

"It was a fun eye opening day that helped me more fully understand our local government."

Zach Ugarte '16:

"I thoroughly enjoyed the advice and stories shared by all of the congressmen and congresswomen. I was truly inspired to set and achieve my own personal goals."

Substantially Catholic: Where Faith Meets Education

A Letter from Hank Sandbach '56

June 14, 2013

Herewith a note of thanks, following up on my earlier email this week on the experience of "Substantially Catholic 2013." What a wonderful gift! Thank you so much for the opportunity to attend these three special and inspiring days at dearest old alma mater. I enjoyed every single minute of it. And I learned much.

It was simply wonderful to return - if ever so briefly - to the high-minded world of Academe, with its love of learning, intellectual rigor, perspective on the world, and unique and particular vocabulary, courtesies and curiosities. The three Jesuits were terrific. I had forgotten how wonderful it is to be next to a Jesuit in a classroom.

That said, I could not help but think how positive this experience was for the Marin Catholic faculty members in attendance. Their invitation was clearly an expression of confidence in them by MC Administration. And the opportunity to interact with one another on this focused topic served to broaden their own knowledge and engagement with MC, build overall teamwork, and fire them up for Fall.

Past the great educational and social experience, for me the three days felt like a good retreat ... especially with early morning Mass in the Marin Catholic Chapel. The spirituality seemed to carry across each of the three days.

Again, I am so grateful to you for inviting me to "Substantially Catholic." If I were to assign it an overall grade, it merits an A-plus. These things evolve, of course, and I am sure next year's convocation will build on this year's experience. The concept of this seminar for MC, whatever the cost and effort, seems so right and useful and enlightened in terms of payoff for the long haul.

For my own part, I thank you again for affording me this rich and meaningful experience. I know I will revisit with great pleasure memories of the fine people, terrific lectures, and engaging discussions of Substantially Catholic 2013. You might well consider regularly including alumni in future editions of this fine program.

Best Regards,

Hank

P.S. I was an English Major in college- but joined the Science track for "Substantially Catholic." These lectures of difficult and complex subject matter confirmed for me the correctness in my choice of major. I'd never had made it in Science.

This summer, Marin Catholic hosted its Fourth Annual Substantially Catholic seminar, a program designed for high school teachers interested in sharing the Catholic intellectual tradition in their curriculum. The four-day program focusing on Science, English and Theology featured some of the most prominent leaders in their field.

This year's keynote speaker was Father Robert Spitzer, S.J., former president of Gonzaga University and current president of the Magis Center of Reason and Faith. He discussed his newly published New Proofs for the Existence of God and shared his philosophy of science in regards to space-time theory and transcendent implications of contemporary big bang cosmology.

Additional speakers in the science field included Dr. Karl Van Bibber and John M. Braverman, S.J. Dr. Karl Van Bibber is a professor and Chair of UC Berkeley's Department of Nuclear Engineering. He earned his two Bachelor of Science degrees in Physics and Math at MIT, where he also earned his Ph.D. in Physics. John M. Braverman, S.J., an Assistant Professor in Biology at Saint Joseph's University in Philadelphia focused on evolutionary genetics and the dialog between science and religion. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Princeton University, a Master of Divinity from the Jesuit School of Theology in Berkeley, a Master of Arts in Health Care Ethics from Loyola University Chicago, and a Ph.D. from the University of California at Davis.

Additional speakers included Dr. Gary Bouchard, a professor from Saint Anselm College in New Hampshire, who specializes in early modern lyric and narrative poetry. Dr. Bouchard team taught with Dr. David A. King, an Associate Professor of English and Film Studies at Kennesaw State University in Atlanta. Dr. King, an award-winning columnist, is also a faculty member with the Aquinas Center of Theology at Emory University, and an adjunct faculty member in the Graduate Department of Theology at Spring Hill College.

Marin Catholic Theater

Fall Production:

12 Angry Men

In November 2012, MC's Drama Department captivated audiences with their production of the timeless courtroom drama "12 Angry Men". This work focuses on a jury as they deliberate the guilt or innocence of a defendant in a homicide case. Though the case seems open-and-shut, one holdout causes all of them to dig deeply to discover their own inner prejudices and the meaning of reasonable doubt. Students stretched and strengthened their communication skills as they tackled the sophisticated dialogue and highly detailed storyline. Though the words remained true to the original script, the setting and costumes were updated so that it all reflected present-day sensibilities. The 12 'men' were turned into a mix of male and female characters and included students from every class level at MC.

The Drowsy Chaperone

In February 2013, Marin Catholic Drama presented "The Drowsy Chaperone" on stage at the Playhouse in San Anselmo. This hilarious musical comedy opened on Broadway in 2006 and garnered 5 Tony awards. The play is actually a show-within-a-show; the narrator resides in her shabby apartment in the present day, and she describes to the audience the plot-line of her favorite musical which is set in the decadent 1920s. As she narrates, the action comes to life in her living room, and she periodically pipes in with relevant trivia about the actors, as well as humorous personal tangents. An intense tap duo, a dramatic ballad sung with a chorus in monkey costumes, and a romantic Cole Porter-esque number on roller skates (with blindfolds!) were some of the highlights of the show. This was also the first major collaboration between the drama program and the two new wizards in the Music Department, Paul Smith-Stewart '04 and Ryan Mosse.

Fashion Show 2013: HOORAY FOR HOLLYWOOD!

On March 16, 2013, the Marin Catholic community of students, parents, alumni, friends and family came together for the biggest event fundraiser of the year, the MC Fashion Show! This year's theme was "Hooray for Hollywood". A host of talented volunteers, lead by event chairs, Shannon Alten, Kathy Ryan, Suzanne Galuska, and Beth Walker, (pictured L-R on bench), put on another fantastic community fundraising event, with nearly 1,000 guests attending either the lunch or evening show.

As always, the community of generous Marin Catholic supporters helped raise funds to enhance the student experience. Over $60,000 was raised in our live-auction 'fund-a-need' for our teacher professional development, music tech equipment, and retreat program. The rest of the live, silent and online auctions, raffles, marketplace, underwriting, premier seating, program ads and sponsorships collectively surpassed our total targeted goal of $150,000 in support of important programs at Marin Catholic!

With over 70 chairs, hundreds of parent volunteers, and over 250 student models, the Fashion Show continues to be a truly spectacular event year after year. We are humbled by the tremendous support and generosity from our community — from the stores who loan us clothing, to our generous and wonderful donors and grand sponsors — we are blessed to be a part of such a vibrant and giving community.

This annual event continues to combine the Marin Catholic community's wonderful spirit of volunteerism with philanthropy in support of academic excellence. The 2013 Fashion Show was lead by event chairs, Shannon Alten, Kathy Ryan, Suzanne Galuska, and Beth Walker along with a large group of hard-working volunteers who helped make the event a true success.

Standing Encore for the Music Department!

Students, friends, faculty, staff and family gathered in May 2013 to hear our talented musicians and singers, including the incredible jazz band, perform for the annual Spring Concert. The theme for this year's concert was international music, taking the audience all over the globe. Students who spent months perfecting their arrangements played songs from all over the world. The pieces performed had roots in England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Brazil, Jamaica, The Caribbean, Cameroon, Turkey, Middle East, Bulgaria, Oakland, and South Africa! The Conga line was a big hit! The concert was highly attended and a huge success thanks to the leadership of Music Director Paul Smith-Stewart and Choir Director, Ryan Mosse. In addition, a big thank you to Ben Lauffer, on his hard work in directing the drumline. It was a fantastic show full of great selections and positive energy.

Congratulations to all involved.

Art Extravaganza: The Arts are Alive at MC

This year, students, parents, teachers and alumni started their Saturday night with the "gallery opening" of Marin Catholic's 5th Annual Marin Catholic Art Extravaganza, on Saturday, April 20. Volunteers, teachers and students worked hard all day to transform the gym for the evening! The event showcased the work of over 100 advanced painting, drawing, photography and ceramic students. Art teachers Orin Carpenter, Mark Jaeger, and Laurie Reemsnyder also displayed their work.

Over 350 guests enjoyed appetizers and beverages while admiring all of the student artwork, looking for their particular favorite as they cast their vote for the People's Choice Award. Mark Jaeger and President Tim Navone were on hand to give out awards for 1st, 2nd, 3rd place, as well as honorable mentions and judges' favorite as well as the people's choice award.

Many thanks to our dedicated parents and teachers who combined efforts to make this event possible! Anyone interested in volunteering or joining our Patrons of the Arts committee should contact our chair Lisa Berghout at berghout@l-inc.com. Donations to the Arts can be made by contacting Director of Advancement and Alumni, Bryan Clement at bclement@marincatholic.org or 415-464-3841.

Trash Into Cash

Marin Catholic's Patrons of the Arts partnered with All Green in January for an e-waste collection event, which turned out to be the most successful one yet! Members of the community dropped off old electronics such as televisions and laptops to be recycled, raising funds for the Art Department.

Highlights:

Donations Based on:
Televisions and Monitors	5,904 lbs.
Computers & Laptops	2,313 lbs

TOTAL	8,217 lbs
--------------	------------------

8,217 lbs. x $.13 per lbs. = $1,068.21

There was an additional 6,207 lbs of "no value" electronics collected.

St. Anthony Junior Retreat:

LESSONS OF THE HEART

By Peggy Semling '84, Director of Campus Ministry

For over a decade, our Junior students have put the Gospel into action by serving those in need in one of San Francisco's most impoverished areas, the Tenderloin. In solidarity with St. Anthony's Dining Hall, the students spend the day preparing and serving meals. Typically, over 1,500 plates are served a day, 365 days a year. Some of the students chop and plate meals, while others bus dishes. We also participate in many of the outreach programs that St. Anthony's offers to its community. Students interact with the elderly at local care centers in the Tenderloin, cheering on our older brothers and sisters through daily exercises or playing a round of bingo. Others help with the Salvation Army's "Meals that Heal" program, bringing food to shut-ins, frequently being the only contact a person might have with others that day. Another group of juniors head down to the clothing program folding bins of clothes to be given to the less fortunate, and playing with the children while the parents shop for much needed wardrobe items. All students reconvene and dine with the visitors of St. Anthony's, sharing stories and lending an ear to those who have been marginalized by most of society.

No matter what area is served, students are aware that hospitality is the main focus of the service. Being the eyes, ears, and heart of Christ for others is a humbling experience for our youth and teachers that participate in this program. Each Theology class participates in this service project one time throughout the year. This retreat begins with morning Mass at our Marin Catholic St. Francis Chapel, where students have prepared prayers and intentions for the people they will be meeting later in the day. An additional visit to St. Boniface Church, which serves the Tenderloin, is another component where we can witness our call as Catholics to love one another as Jesus loves us. The Gubio Project provides a safe haven for the homeless within the walls of St. Boniface where love and good will abound. Our community sees first hand how this Franciscan effort to reach the poor has its healing effects. The day ends with students hearing a witness talk from one of the recovering addicts in the St. Anthony Recovery Program. Students are astonished at the bravery, integrity, and faith these men have. The bus ride back is usually quiet, as students are not only tired from a fulfilling day of work, but are truly pensive about the experience. A deepening of empathy for others, and gratitude for the gifts that God has given us makes the day truly a rich moment in our school year.

The Princess Project: Helping Prom Dreams Come True

Kathryn Khalvati '13, Sophia Garbarino '16 and Sarah Seltsam '16

The Princess Project, in partnership with the Marin County High School Student Body Presidents' Association, hosted prom dress and accessory drives last February for girls in local high schools, providing free dresses and accessories to girls who cannot otherwise afford them.

Every year, The Princess Project seeks and receives thousands of beautiful, new, or nearly new, dresses and accessories in excellent condition from individuals, donors, and corporate partners. The Princess Project is proud to partner with Marin Catholic High School Co-Chairs, Sophia Garbarino '16 and Sarah Seltsam '16, and the Marin County High School Student Body Presidents' Association. Hundreds of volunteers accept and organize these dresses and accessories to run an exciting giveaway event in the early spring for individual high school girls. Groups of ten or more teens, who want to attend, can make an appointment for a private boutique, as well. "I am thrilled to partnered with The Princess Project and coordinate dress drive efforts in Marin County high schools. It is a great opportunity for Marin students to give back," claimed Garbarino. "The dress give-aways are a blast and so rewarding."

Each year, more than 1,000 Bay Area girls attend the dress giveaway to find that new prom dress and those perfect accessories to make their high school prom dream a reality. And thanks to the generous support of all those involved, it's absolutely free! According to Kathryn Khalvati, Founder and past President of the Marin County High School Student Body Presidents' Association, the first-ever alliance of student body presidents in Marin, "It was an honor to team up with The Princess Project. Working with my fellow presidents to advance social justice for causes we can relate to as high school students has been such an inspirational experience. We were more than happy to pool together our resources to uplift the youth in our greater community."

Since 2002, The Princess Project has served more than 20,000 girls through the dedication of more than 2,000 volunteers and the generous start-up support of Coro Northern California. In 2005, The Princess Project became a 501(c) 3 non-profit organization.

Walking Rosary for the Pope

On March 3, the Dominican Sisters and the Knights of Columbus led a group after Sunday Mass from the Holy Rosary Chapel at the St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood to pray for Pope Benedict and ask the gift of the Holy Spirit on the upcoming conclave. The group of over 50 people prayed at shrines to Our Lady of Fatima and Our Lady of Lourdes.

Installation Mass of Archbishop Cordileone

October 4, 2012 was a special day for the Archdiocese of San Francisco with the Installation Mass of new Archbishop Salvatore Cordileone at St. Mary's Cathedral. It was also a special day for Marin Catholic.

Student Body President Kathryn Khalvati '13 was selected as the student to represent the high schools of the Archdiocese during the ceremony, which included a handshake and a short greeting.

"I told him it was a pleasure to meet him and that we hoped he would come to campus and visit our school soon," says Khalvati, who is now attending Yale University.

Also taking part in ceremony were several Marin Catholic community members, including former president and current Auxiliary Bishop of San Jose Thomas A. Daly, former president and current Moderator of the Curia and Vicar General for Administration Monsignor James T. Tarantino, former teacher Fr. Brian Costello, former teachers and seminarians Mark Doherty Mike Lilledahl, and seminarians Cameron and Kyle Faller.

"It was an important day for our Archdiocese and a proud day for our school," says MC President Tim Navone. "About every direction you looked was someone from our community, both past present and future."

Also representing Marin Catholic were Principal Chris Valdez, Board of Regents President Greg Bullian, and students Angela Begg '13, Joe King '13 and Patrick Conroy '13.

EL CARMEN PROJECT

“What do you do down there in El Salvador, build houses or provide clean water?”

That is probably the most asked question to everyone involved in Marin Catholic's El Carmen Project. And most people are surprised to hear the honest response.

“It is not a service trip. All we really do is spend time with the people.”

What has made Marin Catholic unique for more than 60 years is the relationships formed within the community, and the El Carmen Project is simply an extension of that.

“The service actually begins when we return home,” says MC President Tim Navone, who has been on the trip since its inception. “After meeting the people in El Carmen, we select students to continue their education at Colegio Santa Isabella Catholic school in a neighboring town about 20 minutes away and then our students raise the money necessary to support their studies after they return home.”

After 8th grade in the local school in El Carmen, the options are slim and going to high school is not one of them. Most elect to work in a Chinese-owned textile factory.

In its second year, Marin Catholic sent down 16 students, eight whom returned for their second of three summers in El Carmen.

After weekly preparation during the school year, the second year students got a chance to work on their language skills teaching English at the Catholic school.

One of the attendees on the trip was MC alum Chris Escher '00 who served as the trip photographer. And while he was greatly impacted by his interactions with the people of El Salvador, he came away with equally powerful impressions of the Marin Catholic students.

“One surprising take away was how much I enjoyed getting to know the MC students,” says Escher. “As an alumnus, I am comforted by knowing that Marin Catholic possesses such a high caliber student body. They gained so much appreciation and maturity on their visits meeting local families, visiting senior homes, and an adult orphanage for people with disabilities. The growth over the course of the week was evident and inspiring.”

To learn more about the El Carmen Project or to support its efforts, contact Advancement and Alumni Director Bryan Clement at bclement@marincatholic.org or call 415-464-3841.

“The chance to teach was definitely the best part of the trip to me, even though it was hard to control more than 40 students in a classroom,” says student Lauren Sharps.

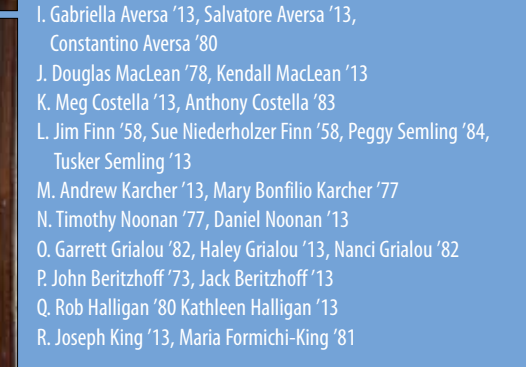

“But the experience was great and it has made me consider being a teacher someday.”

Baccalaureate Mass

This year's Baccalaureate Mass took place at Mount Carmel Church the evening before graduation. This year's Celebrant was Most Reverend Salvatore J. Cordileone, Archbishop of San Francisco. Co-Celebrants included the following: Reverend Tony LaTorre, Monsignor James T. Tarantino, Moderator of the Curia and Vicar for Administration for the Archdiocese of San Francisco; Monsignor Robert Sheeran, Marin Catholic; Reverend William Brown, St. Hilary; Reverend Patrick Michaels, Our Lady of Mount Carmel; Reverend Mark Ruberiano, St. Isabella; Father Lawrence Vadakkan, St. Patrick; Reverend Ngoan Van Phan, St. Raphael; Father Brian Costello, Most Holy Redeemer; Father Bill McCain, St. Finn Barr Proud parents and smiling seniors gathered in prayer one last time with the Marin Catholic community. Also honored at the Mass with the Monsignor Tarantino Teacher of the Year Award was Orin Carpenter, Visual Arts Teacher & Art Department Chair. Orin was selected by the graduating seniors to receive this award for his service, dedication and inspiration to his students in the art program.

Alumni at Graduation & Reception

Participating alumni were invited to a special alumni reception at Embassy Suites directly following the graduation ceremony. At this reception, alumni had the opportunity to reconnect with faculty & staff, meet new additions and catch up with fellow MC alumni. A great time was had by all!

Alumni at Graduation is an annual tradition which invites Marin Catholic alumni to represent their class by walking at the Graduation Ceremony. This year, we had a record breaking number of alumni participate in this special event. The majority of the alumni who represented their class at graduation are directly connected to a graduate from the Class of 2013.

Grandparents Day: We Count Our Blessings

On Tuesday, November 20, in a celebration of Thanksgiving, our community celebrated Mass with many of our grandparents, a long-standing tradition at Marin Catholic. The unique and unparalleled love that exists between grandparents and grandchildren was celebrated with over 300 visitors in attendance. The community gathered in the Freitas Memorial Gymnasium for a special Mass where Monsignor Sheeran reminded everyone of the key to happiness in life—gratitude. A native of New Jersey, Monsignor mentioned a friend whose home was nearly destroyed in Hurricane Sandy. Despite the ruin, his friend will be able to rebuild; yet many things were lost—photos, personal items, and more. Destruction and loss notwithstanding, Monsignor's friend indicated that they were luckier than most. Damaged homes and personal effects aside, everyone survived the storm—family and friends—reminding everyone not of their loss, but of what remains.

Following Mass was a brunch reception in the Pope John Paul II student center. Marin Catholic is proud to host such an important event where we get to enjoy and celebrate, honor and remember all of the support that families and students have in their lives. As we reflect on the events in our lives and those around the globe, let us be thankful for the important things in life—our family, our friends, our faith and countless other things in the world around us. Thank you to all who made this Grandparents Day a special day for our community.

Top to bottom:

- Susan Conroy, Patrick Conroy '13, and Grandfather Don Conroy
- Shanna McCullough '16 and Grandmother Barbara McCullough
- Stephen Gavney '13, Helen Brame and Grandson Zach Ugarte '16.
- Nicoletta Clausen '15 and Grandmother Gigi Usher

Save the Date!

Mark your calendars for this year's upcoming Grandparent's Day on Tuesday, November 26.

Honoring Frank and Lois Noonan

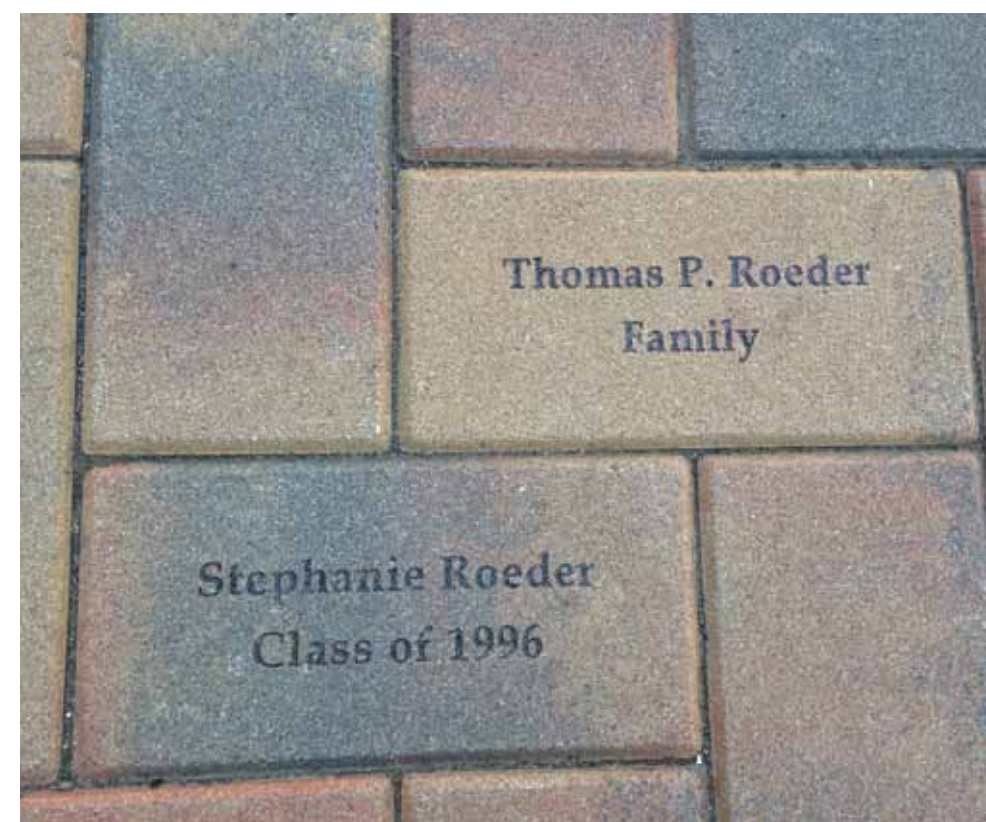

Lois and Frank Noonan have done so much for Marin Catholic over the years. But perhaps their finest gift to our community is the example they set for all parents and grandparents in their dedication to their family through their presence at nearly every special event, fundraiser, and athletic contest. They are so often the first ones to arrive and the last ones to leave, with Lois cheering and Frank busy shooting photographs of his family and grandkids.

Perhaps former president Bishop Thomas A. Daly put it best: "Frank is a proud Sacred Heart grad who learned both gratitude and generosity during his childhood. He found a way to combine that, along with his love of the Church, and shared this with the community of Marin Catholic. They are a couple who will never forget their Catholic roots. They are a classic model of gratitude dedicated to helping the next generation."

At this time of Thanksgiving, Marin Catholic is forever grateful for the gift of Lois and Frank Noonan to our community. Although they have stepped up to support every aspect of our program, it is the Noonans' dedication to supporting students desiring a Catholic education will perhaps have the greatest impact over time. They are the most humble philanthropists the school has ever known.

Lois and Frank Noonan and Family pose together after enjoying a private family breakfast in the President's Library prior to Mass.

You Will Be Missed... Ken Peralta- "Coach P"

When Ken was hired 10 years ago by Marin Catholic as a head football coach and freshman theology teacher----no one knew what a great religion teacher we were getting. Along with that, came a football coach who resurrected the football program. Ken brought fun back into the program and a sense of respect that had been lost. In a short period of time, MC was once again the class of the league and area. He lead us to our first state championship playoffs, just a few short years ago. We will all miss Coach P and he will not be forgotten. Good luck at Sacred Heart!

Senior Devlin Sevy has qualified for the Junior Olympics in the discus. Sevy finished second in the discus during the MCAL championship meet this past spring for Marin Catholic.

Original Marin Catholic Wildcat Finds Its Way Home!

By Hank Sandbach

Talk about a Homecoming. This one has it all.

A revered Marin Catholic icon... absent from the campus for some 50 years... suddenly reappears at our doorstep... and reveals to us an important aspect of MC history long shrouded in mystery.

It all started with a recent phone call from Jim Clahan (star athlete MC '54) to his pal Hank Sandbach (MC '56).

"Hank," says Jim. "I've got something here that I think our friends at Marin Catholic might like to have. And I think you are the right guy to carry this football back to them."

"OK, Jim," says Hank. "You've got my attention."

Thereupon, Jimmy Clahan, halfback on some of MC's earliest and most successful football squads—and son of Marin Catholic's first football coach, John Clahan, for whom Clahan Field is named—proceeds with his story on how his mother, Katherine Clahan, played a pivotal role in the creation of the original Marin Catholic Wildcat.

Marin Catholic first opened its doors in the fall of 1949. The Spring and Summer of that year were enormously busy as MC's new Administration and Faculty team wrestled with academic issues large and small. Then, too, there was another weighty and important non-scholastic matter that needed resolution.

"What are we gonna call ourselves?" was undoubtedly a hot item of discussion during those hectic get-ready days.

"San Rafael High School athletes were the Bulldogs, and Tamalpais High were known as The Indians in those days," recalls Clahan. "And I don't remember St. Anselm's ever having a mascot, though there must have been one." (Note: the relatively small high school part of St. Anselm's School in San Anselmo closed its doors when MC opened in 1949). "All I know," continues Clahan, "is that my father and some of his colleagues at MC settled on The Wildcats, and he asked my mother to create a depiction of one that he and others at the school could use on printed game programs, sweaters and jackets, and so on. She came up with one, it did its job, and then it promptly disappeared amongst Clahan family treasures."

"I've thought many times over the years about that first MC Wildcat my mother designed," says Clahan, "but I could never find it. I like to think its turning up now—and its return to the school—has something to do with current plans for renovating our fabled athletic complex, where my father once coached football and I later scored touchdowns."

Jim Clahan went on from scoring touchdowns at MC to a 40-year career teaching—and coaching—at Tomales High School. Last August he was honored as "Coach of the Year" by some 400 attendees at the First Annual Kickoff Classic benefiting the Tomales High School Football Team. Jim and his wife Steph live in the countryside west of Petaluma.

Thanks to Jim Clahan, the original and venerable Marin Catholic Wildcat has come home to stay, soon to be taking up residence in a place of honor along the great wall in the main entrance to the Freitas Memorial Gymnasium.

Young Alumni Returned for First Annual Alumni College Cookout

The first annual college-cookout took place during the Powderpuff game at Marin Catholic on May 29. The Junior and Senior girls compete in a flag football competition. Our young college graduates home for the summer were invited for a BBQ and opportunity to catch up with friends and teachers. This new event is targeted to our college-aged alumni who we wish to keep connected but are not yet able to take advantage of our 21+ Homecoming activities. This event is, of course, open to alumni of all ages and we hope to see you next year!

Alumni Give Back In Honor of Dick Barteau

The late Dick Barteau was a fixture in the Marin Catholic community and athletic department. His positive attitude, care, attention, and humor left fond memories in the hearts of the athletes and students he encountered.

A strong group of young Alumni, organized this year by Conor Pritchard '00 and Mike McGarry '00, donated in Dick's honor to the Marin Catholic general scholarship fund. The upcoming game, which takes place on Friday November 29, will be the ninth year of a growing post-Thanksgiving Friday flag football tradition.

Marin Catholic thanks those who attended, played, contributed, and celebrated on that day!

Dinner for 6

Once again, Tino Aversa '80 graciously opened the doors of La Ginestra Restaurant, Mill Valley, to host Marin Catholic teachers, current students, and Alumni to a special dinner. This dinner, originally called 'Dinner for Six', is simply a time to connect members of the Marin Catholic community through conversation and great food. For Marin Catholic, this dinner is an intimate way to invite Alumni to remember what Marin Catholic meant in their life and to inspire young students to stay connected to their Alma Mater.

Get your groove on... MCGala

On Saturday, November 3, 2012, over 400 parents, past parents, alumni and friends joined forces to raise nearly $80,000 for our student programs at Marin Catholic. Using flower power and sixties-inspired décor, the vibe in the Pope John Paul II Student Center was absolutely groovy.

Bay Area chefs provided the fabulous fare and hipsters danced the night away to Shannon Ryder and the All-Stars. Be sure to put Saturday, November 2, 2013 on your calendars for this year's wine country themed Gala. You won't want to miss this wonderful, annual event!

Class Notes

Your Story Is Our Story

As the Marin Catholic alumni network continues to grow each year, we enjoy hearing what the next step is for our alumni. Our alumni are doing great things all around the world. They take pieces of what they learn at Marin Catholic and use it to follow their passions and make a difference in our world and come back to share it with us. We are one big community made up of thousands of people who know the true meaning of this special community. Because of this, your story is also our story. To submit a Class Note, e-mail Bryan Clement at alumni@marincatholic.org.

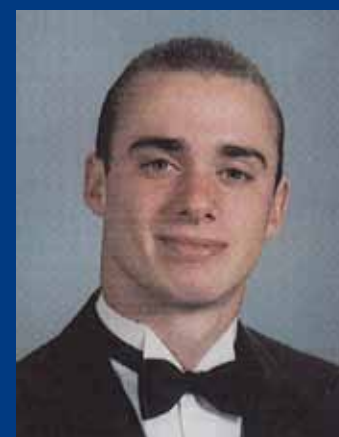

1970's

The Class of 1978 celebrated a casual 35th reunion at Tom and Dorothy Cooney's home on July 27. In the words of Dougie Mac, aka Doug MacLean, "The class of 1978 was so Darn Cool. We all got along. We all took care of each other. We didn't have any cliques. We liked and loved each other whether we had things in common like sports or clubs or whatever. Didn't matter. We were made up of team players and played as a TEAM, no matter what. Greatest times of our lives!!!"

The Marin Catholic Advancement office wants to thank the reunion team, without their efforts the good times would not have been had! Mel Phillips-Ratto, Tom Cooney, Lynne Noonan Cowperthwaite, Susan Boessenecker Wernick, and Gayle Swanson Hanna and Kristen Flynn Estheimer and Set Up / Support Crew Jim Louderback, Johnny Clifford and Alex Beritzhoff.

1990's

Few people know that Dan Munoz '96 is the only athlete in MC history to win a North Coast Section (NCS) Championship in three sports (football, basketball, baseball). Even fewer know that he has been the Marin Catholic quarterbacks coach for ten years. The current men's varsity football team would not be the same without the tradition and influence of the past. With two state championship appearances and two quarterbacks committing to major Pac 12 programs at Cal (Goff) and Oregon (Mahalak), Munoz is the real deal. Having played, and started, his final two years at Southern Oregon as wide receiver, he knows the game. Former MC quarterback, Chris Tewhill '12 had this to say about Munoz, "It was great to hear his tips and perspective. . . he knows what it's like to be a player on the field. That helps." Munoz praises the students' high football IQ, coachability, and desire to get better every year for the success over the years. Current Oregon bound MC quarterback Morgan Mahalak '14 commented, "He brings a definite calmness to our team. He always reminds us that while we do hold lots of responsibility with a lot on the line, we are just kids playing football and that we need to enjoy ourselves both on and off the field. Coach Munoz is a huge asset to our team and its development. There is no way I'd be in the position I'm in if it weren't for him." When asked why he coaches, Munoz simply said, "I love Marin Catholic, the sport of football, and the kids." We couldn't have said it better ourselves, Coach. GO CATS!

Sophia Coyne '97 is a bay area hair and make-up artist for special events, including bridal, print, and film. She started her own business in 2008, Painted Ladies (www.paintedladies.org).

Mark Jaeger '97 ceramic artist and current MC ceramics teacher, had his work featured in the National Ceramics Exhibition in Sacramento. They used his stunning sculpture for the cover of the their May online publication.

Nicole Freeman Womack '98 now holds the position of Director of Team Marketing & Business Operations for the NBA in New York.

Family update: Cook Clan – Jessica Cook Baker '98 and husband, Stephen Baker, welcomed daughter Hadley Megan Baker 11/8/12 in Los Angeles, CA. 7lbs, 9 oz and 20.5 inches long.

Jess Craven '99 was nominated for another Emmy. Craven, a Co-founder of NoKaOi Lifestyle LLC (<http://www.nokaolifestyle.com>), was nominated for an Emmy® Award by the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences.

2000's

Jaclyn Cook Condo '00 (A) and Jonathan Wade Condo were married June 9, 2012 at St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere. They are currently residing in Danville, California.

Trina Perotti Hefter '01(C) married David Hefter on June 22, 2013, in San Francisco. Trina is still working as a math teacher and Varsity Field Hockey coach at MC and enjoying life as a newlywed.

Jenny Jack '01(D) married Brian Peters (San Marin '01) on July 13, 2013 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Calistoga, with a reception following at Mayacama Golf Club. Jenny and Brian live in San Francisco. Brian is a CPA working at A&C Ventures in Sonoma, and Jenny, inspired by Tom Lippi and Thomas Thompson, is a high school English teacher at Saint Mary's College High School in Berkeley.

Sara Soulier-Craves '05 works as the Communications Coordinator at Green School Bali on their new Global Team. Green School Bali was awarded the Greenest School on Earth last year by the US Green Building Council (USGBC). Green School Bali (www.greenschool.org) is an international school, which caters to kids aged 3 years old up through grade 12. Along with learning all the traditional academics the school has a strong focus on sustainability and being green. The school is set in the middle of the jungle, built completely out of bamboo and other recycled materials. The children take care of the surrounding organic gardens and animals.

Arman Serebrakian '05 (E) looks to represent Armenia in the winter Olympics. A dual citizen, Serebrakian is currently a medical student at Temple University School of Medicine. He will be taking a break from his studies to chase his dream. Prior to studying medicine, Serebrakian was a two time team captain, had four top ten NCAA finishes, and was an All-Academic Ski Team member in his time at the University of Colorado. Follow his road to the Olympics at www.armanserebrakian.com

Zach Prieston '06 threw the opening pitch for the Giants Game on July 24, 2013. "It was an unforgettable experience, every fan's dream to stand on the mound of their favorite team and throw out the first ceremonial pitch. It was truly blessed to have had that opportunity and will forever remember that moment standing on the mound.

Joey Della Santina '06 (F) with President Tim Navone at the Opening Day of Joey's photography exhibit at the Tiburon Belvedere Library in December 2012.

Roxanne Civarello '06 has recently taken the position as Director of Communications at Marin Catholic.

Olivia Burr '09 a recent graduate of University of Oregon with a degree in Art, will be interning in the Marin Catholic Art department helping in both Ceramics and Visual Arts department. Welcome back, Olivia!

Carmen Eggert '09 (G) has been invited to join the U.S. national team and quite possibly could land a spot in the starting lineup for the USA squad in the 2016 Olympic Games. "I kind of dropped out of the national scene for a while because I think I was a bit of a question mark to them," said Eggert, who became only the second player in the history of UC Davis to score 80 goals in a season. "But I am going to show them everything I have and give 100 percent and be confident in my ability when I go down there."

Danni Cruse '10 is a junior at Texas Christian University and is president of the equestrian Polo Club there. She has played polo most of her life, and one of the reasons she wanted to attend TCU was because polo is a club sport there. Unfortunately, her freshman year, they lost their polo facility, coach and horses all in one swoop. She has spent the better part of the last year rebuilding the club, including finding a new coach, new home club, new horses, new players, etc. She has been very successful, and they just played their first tournament game this season against Texas Tech, and beat them 9-2.

Stevie Johnson '10 (H) enjoyed a round of golf with Steph Curry at the Meadow Club.

Dani Quinones '10 (I) attends Whittier College where she is also captain of their basketball team! The 5'3" MC grad was the only Lady Poet to start every game, logged the most minutes of playing time, lead the team in steals, and was second in assists and free throw percentage. One of Dani's new duties is hosting all recruits who come to campus.

Keith Pence '10, (J) former ASB president, is studying in Australia for the semester and will finish his degree from NYU in Journalism Activism upon his return. This past summer he traveled in Paris.

Ali Thomason '12 earned ACWPC All-Academic honor (3.41-3.70 GPA) in her first year playing water polo as Michigan Wolverine.

Anna Dellaria '13 was accepted to and is planning on attending the Popular Music program at USC's Thornton School of Music. At the 2009 Grammy Awards, faculty and alumni won 6 awards. Of an estimated 6,000 total applicants 25 were selected. And of those 25 only 2 female vocalists were accepted, one of those being Anna.

Jared Goff '13 was named the starting quarterback for the Cal Bears' 2013-2014 season. Beating out two other QBs for the starting position, Goff will be the first true freshman to start for the bears in 14 seasons. Goff's high school numbers in three seasons of varsity football are as follows: 7,687 yards passing, 93 touchdowns, 18 interceptions, and a 39-4 career record.

Tyler Shaver '13 was awarded a $2,000 scholarship from the Novato Republican Women, Federated. The award was based on scholastic and extracurricular accomplishments, and an essay addressing the topic: "Explain the terms 'deficit' and 'debt' as they are related to government spending." Shaver is attending UC San Diego and will be playing on their soccer team.

Alumni: Want free coffee or lunch?

Bryan Clement '97

Dear Wildcat Alumni,

As the Director of Advancement and Alumni, I sometimes feel like I did during the summer days before 8th grade. Ready to play, no one to play with!

Good news for me, I've grown up, can drive, and have time to play. . .

Bad news for you . . . I'm coming for you! (j/k)

One of the best parts of my role at Marin Catholic is spending time with people. Unfortunately, not everyone thinks about reconnecting to their Alma Mater. To combat this apathetic trend and to prevent me from showing up unannounced at your house (I've been told this is more creepy than inspiring), I have invented a new game called "Alumni Hunting". Alumni Hunting is a relatively new sport, and it is a very simple.

With the help of some of the staff, I have created a random list of 100 types of Alumni I'd love to meet. My goal is to meet all 100 in the shortest time possible. Below is the list we came up with. If you or any other alumni you know fit a category on the list, please call me to set up a breakfast, coffee, or lunch . . . my treat! After our visit, I will post a mutually agreed upon picture to our MC Alumni Facebook page with a brief summary of what we covered. It is as simple as that, no strings attached!

Note: Alumni Wildcat Hunting Season officially opens after Labor Day.

Please contact Bryan Clement '97 to set up an appointment or to give me a name that meets a category description. 415.464.3841 or email bclement@marincatholic.org

Past Events and Save the Dates!

A Record Breaking Number of Wildcat Alumni Gather for MC Homecoming!

Round two of Alumni Homecoming Beer & Brats took place on September 28th! This event brought back record-breaking attendance for any alumni event. Alumni enjoyed their private party from the Mario Ghilotti Family Observation Deck overlooking the field. Alumni watched the Wildcats take on Terra Linda High School while enjoying beer and bratwursts and catching up with fellow alumni.

Alumni Reunion in San Luis Obispo

In April, Marin Catholic alumni living in San Luis Obispo gathered with President Tim Navone and Director of Advancement and Alumni, Bryan Clement, for a meal and good times. Be on the lookout for future MC alumni gatherings in your area!

MC Gala: November 2nd!

Don't miss out on this fun-filled evening of great food and dancing while raising money for Marin Catholic! Alumni ages 21-35 receive a special "Young Alumni Rate" of $20 per person. You can't beat that! Join us on November 2 and don't forget to RSVP at marincatholic.org.

20th Annual Michael Basso Alumni Basketball Game: November 27th!

The Michael Basso Alumni Basketball Game is an annual tradition involving Marin Catholic Alumni and current families. This year marks the 20th Anniversary of this event and the 21st Anniversary of the passing of Michael Basso, who is honored through this event. Funds raised apply to the Michael Basso Scholarship for a deserving Marin Catholic student.

Please make a special effort to join us for the 20th Anniversary on Wednesday, November 27, the evening before Thanksgiving, as we give thanks and gather for this annual tradition in the Marin Catholic gym.

Remembering Dino Ghilotti '09

On Saturday, September 28th, during Homecoming, a ceremony for the jersey retirement of #8, Dino Ghilotti '09 took place. Dino, who died tragically on his graduation weekend at the University of Miami, will always be remembered for his charm, generous spirit, and friendship to everyone he encountered. He will forever be a Wildcat and his legacy will live on to touch the lives of many others.
