Get the Key Secret to Turn Your Pain into Purpose!

Stop wasting time in endless therapy for your trauma healing!

The Calling

Wouldn't we all like to turn our own healing into our purpose — and help others rediscover the life they were created for?
You feel something stirring inside you — And now...

You've walked through your own journey of healing. (Or at least begun the process).
You've learned what it feels like to grow... stronger...
wiser...

And less like Humpty Dumpty!

And you feel a quiet nudging, a calling to help others do the same.

If that's you ... WELCOME!

You're exactly where you're meant to be at this moment in time!

What Is Trauma, Really?

Here's how I define it:

> "Any experience that has affected us in any way that diminishes who we are (and all we were created to be) ... dulling our gifts, our wonder, and making life harder than it was meant to be."
> Dr. Neecie

Yes! That means trauma is broad — and it's common. More than we think.

New research shows that over 90% of us have experienced some level of trauma in our lifetime.

90% of Us Have Experienced Trauma

There're just too many people waiting to experience the freedom of healing. That's why I created my Trauma Coaching Certification Program — to equip purpose-driven people like you to bring hope, healing, and transformation wherever trauma still holds people captive.

For more than three decades I've devoted my life to understanding trauma and designing strategic, research-based exercises that truly heal.

I've applied this work in my (inpatient and outpatient) treatment centers, workshops, and in my coaching practice. But somewhere along the way I realized:

I can't do it alone.

Hi, I'm Dr. Neecie!

I'm licensed as a therapist and earned all 5 of my degrees searching for answers and healing for my own trauma.

I learned great "stuff" ... but didn't find the answers.
I've worked with great Masters/Healers/Thinkers like Dr. John Bradshaw, Dr. Harville Hendrix, Dr. Maya Angelou, Tony Robbins, Dr. Pat Love, Pia Mellody, and more ... and developed a healing protocol that was transformational for me also.

Then also for the thousands and thousands of people I've worked with. Now I've packaged it all into a training to duplicate myself ... because together ...

We can make a difference in healing a world filled with trauma!

Am I Qualified?

Before you disqualify yourself...let me say this:

You don't need a therapy license or years of coaching experience to help others find transformational healing from trauma.

What you do need is ...

A compassionate heart

A desire to serve

A willingness to grow

Your trauma doesn't disqualify you, my friend. It actually ... qualifies you.

That's it! In fact, the best trauma coaches aren't the ones who've avoided pain — they're the ones who've transformed their own pain.

About Coaches Who Transformed Their Trauma and Now Transform the Lives of Others:

Lisa

Like my colleague, Lisa, who came to the training to resolve her own trauma, and turn her pain into passion and purpose.

Since that time, she has coached hundreds of kids in her school district to move from surviving to thriving after trauma.

And she has trained most teachers in the school district to be trauma informed.

Her life and her story are about triumph after trauma!

Lane

Like my colleague, Lane, who was latch-key-kid at three years old and used to beg for money for his family from the age of five years old.

He became an overachiever and took care of the world, ignoring himself.

Until he became a crispy-critter-burn-out-victim and healed through this Coach Training process.

Since then, he's helped hundreds of individuals, marriages, families, and businesses transform their lives and incomes.

Don

Like my colleague, Don, who was traumatized severely as a little boy. He became an addict to medicate abandonment and no sense of worth. Although "successful" in his career, he lacked fulfillment and purpose. Until he healed in this Coach Training process and has since been a great leader in the field of addictions and recovery. He's helped thousands find freedom from substance use and porn addiction. Not to mention saving his marriage and having his wife serve by his side in that community.

Like you ... perhaps yours will be the next life-altering story!

One of impact and influence as a transformational Coach!

Your Next Right Steps

Step 1–Discover the Keys to Unlock the Door

Let's take a few moments to go beneath the surface to find the keys!
Because if you have any desire to turn your pain into purpose ...
the keys are already in you!

Take a few moments to think through these questions:

If you had the time, the resources, and could wake up as an amazing Trauma Coach tomorrow, who would you want to help?
(There are no right or wrong answers. Be as specific as you can be. Ex: Men who have experienced severe financial loss; teenagers who have been raped; heartbroken moms who are trying to keep it together for their kids after divorce; people who've had a life-changing diagnosis; marriages struggling after betrayal).

Why would you care so much about helping those people in that way?
(Ex: I know what that feels like; I was looking for this kind of help after my trauma; I don't want anyone to hurt the way I hurt).

Let’s think through two more critical questions:

Would you hope to do it as an add-on to the work that you already do? To open a practice? To use it in volunteer work? Why?
(Ex: I would do it in my current work, because I think I could help people more; I would love to open a practice to give me more time freedom; I would use it in my volunteer work so people would get more than just financial help when they come to pick up food at the food bank).

How do you think you'd feel when you placed your head on your pillow at night to go to sleep after a day of helping those people in that manner?
(Ex: I think I’d feel like I was giving back: I’d feel so blessed to know I helped someone; I think I’d feel like I couldn’t wait to get back to work and do more of it!)

If anything about answering those questions felt "right" to you ... you've discovered the keys to unlock the door.

All it takes to unlock the door to a future as a transformational trauma coach is a desire to help others heal from their trauma.

Step 2 – Deepen Your Courage to Open the Door

Discovering the keys to unlocking the door is very important.

Yet some people stand at the unlocked door ...
waiting, wondering ...
I'll get to it next year ...
I'm probably not ready ...

What if I don't like what I see if I open the door?

Does any of that sound familiar?

When I was traveling across the nation with a singing group, doing over 400 performances each year ... I knew I was ready to heal my trauma. I had discovered the keys. (For me, I wanted to heal from my trauma and help others do the same).

Yet it took me another two years to open the door I had unlocked.

I wasn't sure I was ready.

I didn't know if I could afford the education.

I didn't know where to enroll.

Finally, a very wise man said to me: "You aren't making a life or death decision. Just ask for God's help, open the door, and see what's next!"

This was at a time when only rich people had Internet access.

I went to Libraries.

I found a college.

I mailed in an application to their College of Psychology.

I applied for an on-campus job. I held my breath through every step I took.

But I finally decided to go for it.

By the time we arrived back at our home base in New York, I had an acceptance letter and a job as Dean of Women.

If you're here reading this ... that's exactly what you have done.

You took some strategic action in downloading, and then reading this!

Now that you've opened the door, you'll need to ...

- Get trained
- Equipped
- Certified to become a transformational trauma coach.

But now there's one more step ...

Going THROUGH the door!

Courage isn't about "feeling like" opening the door to trauma coaching. It's about being afraid but opening the door anyway!

Step 3 – Display Your Confidence to Walk through the Door

After certification, you'll need the confidence to walk through the door ... and step into a powerful career of trauma coaching.

If you've felt an inner leading or inner tugging, you're who I wanted to speak with.

I am wanting to work closely with the next generation of fine humans like YOU ... who are working through their healing and desire to pass it on.

Turning your pain into purpose.

Your trauma into triumph and transformation.

And your surviving into thriving ... for yourself and others!

Now it's time to take your next right step!

I'd LOVE to equip you with the training, the tools, and the confidence to become a transformational trauma coach.
