THE NEW FUTURE CONVERSATION

Starting New Conversations That Change Everything

Will you be shaped by current events — or will you shape a new future?

Start new conversations about shaping a new future — at your events, on your podcasts, or in your organisations.

We are at a fork in the road. The old conversations are obsolete. And the most powerful thing a gathering can do right now is start a genuinely new conversation about the future. For 25+ years Louise has been guiding, activating and contributing to these conversations — at leadership forums, systems change conferences, humanitarian sector gatherings, international stages and podcast studios.

THE KEYNOTE

Leaders For A New Future

From good soldier of the old to brave creator of the new

20–30 MINS

An invitation to reimagine who we are as leaders — and to shift from being a good soldier simply optimising the existing status quo to becoming a brave creator of the new future who shapes what comes next.

- 01 The Fork In The Road
We are at a pivotal moment on the planet — a time of system shift — where we get to choose which track we go on next. Are we going to passively allow the future to be shaped, or become an active force in shaping it?
- 02 Good Soldier To Brave Creator
Most of us were trained as good soldiers of the old status quo — to sustain, maintain and manage what already exists. What we need now are the brave creators of a new future. That requires an inner operating system upgrade.
- 03 Shaping The Future
We are facing the uncharted. There are no maps for where we are going next — we have to make our own. The mission now is to create a new future of genuine flourishing in the midst of chaos.

BIOGRAPHY

A Guide For This Time Of Transition

Louise Le Gat is the Founder of Leaders For A New Future — a movement and leadership practice for those ready to rise, create and lead for the world that comes next. A former lawyer, pioneering voice in purpose-led leadership, and strategic partner to senior leaders and organisations navigating this pivotal collective transition, she works with executives, social innovators, intrapreneurs and changemakers to evolve their leadership beyond outdated models.

With over 25 years at the intersection of future-led leadership, systemic transformation and human development, Louise is known for her rare blend of strategic insight, human depth and her ability to guide leaders through deep realignment and profound transitions. She works with those who sense that business as usual is no longer enough — who are ready to stop being shaped by what is happening, and want to be active shapers of what comes next. Personally and collectively.

She spent a decade delivering transformational programmes at Nestlé, including the Performance Acceleration Programme for high-potential leaders, and was faculty and coach on the NCE College for internal changemakers. She was curriculum builder and faculty for Impact Hub's Intrapreneurship Academy. Earlier, as Career and Leadership Consultant at Allen & Overy, she designed pioneering pathways for lawyers to craft future-fit careers.

Louise currently teaches Future-Led Leadership at the University of Geneva as part of their Sustainability Transitions programme, and created the Sustainable You pillar for Accelerate2030 — co-led by UNDP, the Swiss Development Agency and Impact Hub.

Her first career was as a lawyer and mediator at a leading City of London law firm. She is the host of The New Future Radio and the author of the forthcoming book The Field Guide To A New Future. She lives between the Swiss Alps and the South of France.
