

Nina Pearce

DIRECTOR AND CO-FOUNDER

Nina Pearce is a creative educator with a vision to transform business and society by helping people tap into their creativity. She believes that all humans are inherently creative. As co-founder of Creativity Wake-Up, her passion and purpose is to inspire and equip people to imagine, and bring into being, creative solutions to challenges, opportunities and everyday life.

Creativity Wake-Up works with individuals, leaders and teams across all industries and business sizes, as well as with NGOs. Through workshops, coaching, consulting and tools, Creativity Wake-Up is committed to helping people to solve problems and innovate in the midst of complexity and change.

Nina has an honours degree in business science from UCT and is an Agile Talent professional. She has worked in learning and change related roles for nearly twenty years as a management consultant, human resources specialist and leadership practitioner, both in South Africa and the UK.

As a proud South African, Nina is enthusiastic about social transformation and believes that by developing creativity, the people of this country, and indeed the world, will be able to solve the issues of our day.
