Dr. Carol Parker Walsh is a career and business coach that helps women who've climbed the wrong ladder of success find their life's work. Carol has coached entrepreneurs, executives, leaders, professionals, a Grammy Award winner and Paralympic Gold Medalist. With almost 30 years experience as an attorney, management consultant, executive, professor, and dean, Carol ran an award-winning 6-figure organizational consulting practice and won national awards for her skills in inspiring business growth and leadership. An Amazon #1 best selling author, international speaker, and global thought leader, Carol is the Editor-in-Chief of the AICI Global Magazine and has a column in the Vancouver Business Journal. She appears regularly on ABC affiliate KATU's AM Northwest Morning Show, as well as been seen in the Huffington Post, Thrive Global, PopSugar, Who What Wear and on CBS, NBC and FOX.

"It was such a pleasure to have a well organized, professional, fun and fact-filled presentation. I found her topic to be insightful and entertaining. She is well read and knowledgeable and combines levity with brevity: A great combination in a speaker. Our chapter members fell in love with her. I highly recommend her as a speaker."

Jane Johnston, Executive Managing Director

eWomen Network - Victoria, BC

"Dr. Carol Parker Walsh exudes enthusiasm and passion when she shares her expertise with a group. She captured my attention, made me think, and made me smile while inspiring me to consider what I might change to enhance how I represent myself to the world and shine my unique light. Dr. Parker Walsh clearly cares about supporting women and giving them tools for creating success."

Brecia Kralovic-Logan, Executive Director

Women's Festival Pacific Northwest

"Carol was the keynote speaker for our annual Women in Business Conference. She's an inspiring and entertaining speaker and provided thought provoking content that the audience soaked up."

Marci Miller, Vice President Columbia Bank
