

Suzanne Harner

Violin Coach

Born and raised in North Georgia, Suzanne has grown up around Celtic and classical music all of her life. She fell in love with the violin at the age of 13 and started Irish dancing at age 6 in her community. Growing up, she started performing with local artists, orchestras and studied with world class Celtic musicians and worked her way up to competitive champion Irish dancing. She studied at an intensive teaching course in traditional Irish fiddle at the Comhaltas branch in Monkstown, Co. Dublin, Ireland in 2012. She currently holds group and private Irish and classical lessons in the Metro Atlanta area throughout the week. Suzanne's heart is in educating students and performing with various groups for shows, dances, and special events.
