College Doesn't Have to be a Debt Sentence

Denise is known as the Debt-Free College Coach. Challenging the belief that attending college without debt is a unicorn, Denise coaches parents of college bound teens with a unique step by step approach to be one of the 600,000 students who graduate debt free every year. Her mission is to inspire, educate, and equip parents who take an active role supporting their children to live a life of financial freedom. She is creator of Cracking the Code to Free College, international best selling author, TEDx speaker.

Denise went from bankruptcy to having both her homeschooled children attend college on more than $190,000 in free money for 4 years debt free with cash left over. Her core message - that anyone can go to college debt free when you have support and use your teen's uniqueness as a strategy to market your teen.
