

Sally Love consults internationally and has helped leaders achieve extraordinary results on scores of major capital projects. She has consulted on capital programs up to $18 Billion in the Pharmaceutical, Biotechnology, Oil & Gas, Power, Retail Development, Forest Products and Construction industries.

Sally is skilled at getting results in various cultures, having successfully consulted across the United States and also in Brazil, New Zealand, France, Germany, Ireland, Canada, South Korea, Spain and Italy. She is frequently asked to speak to corporate and industry groups and has served as Moderator and Program Director for several prestigious ENR McGraw Hill Construction national events in New York City and Washington, DC.

Earlier in her career, Sally held leadership positions in Project Management and Information Technology for a major international Engineering and Construction services firm. Sally earned a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from Clemson University and an MBA from the University of South Carolina. Sally's blood runs orange. She is a Clemson Tiger!

Utilizing her experience and expertise of managing projects and working with leaders on hundreds of capital projects, as well as thousands of project team members, Sally developed and launched The Contractor of Choice Academy™. Utilizing the 12 accelerators, she focuses on the leader - and his/her roadmap to success helping them discover the truths to delivering record-breaking projects in the construction industry.

Sally is a native South Carolinian and lives in Greenville, South Carolina with her husband and two adorable beagles. She kayaks, swims, and cheers like crazy at her grandsons' baseball games and for the Clemson Tigers!
