

CANINE MASTER CHRIS ONTHANK LAUNCHES NEW PET LIFE RADIO SHOW

Darien, CT (July 15, 2015) - Canine Master Chris Onthank is a widely known expert in canine behavior. He has had a life-long involvement with animals that started at a very early age. For over 50 years his family has been breeding and training dogs in Greenwich, CT. Chris honed his skills learning animal instinct and training through raising a variety of species. He studied positive motivation techniques working with marine mammals and parrots.

For the past 25 years, Chris' focus has been on dogs. He has raised them, studied them and trained them. He has launched two successful businesses: an 11,000 square foot Canine Center in Norwalk, CT that offers boarding, daycare, training, swimming and grooming and Dog Gone Smart Pet Products that manufactures pet products worldwide. Onthank states "I have had many animals in my life but my love, let's be honest, is really dogs. I love dogs! I love everything about them. My passion is to share my love and knowledge of dogs with you so that you can make life with your pet easier and more enjoyable".

Beginning this week Onthank will have a regular Pet Life Radio show that will give him a platform from which to do this. The radio show is all about dogs. "My mission is to inform, educate, entertain and encourage all dog owners to live their best lives together". Topics will include training, health, innovative pet products and general information on how to keep dogs happy, healthy and safe.

Onthank's good friend and fellow animal advocate Jill Rappaport will be the show's rescue correspondent and will be a frequent guest. Jill is best known as a news correspondent but she has also become the voice for the voiceless for animals in need, and is working tirelessly to make a difference by shining a light on shelters across America. Jill has transformed her passion into purpose- all to raise awareness and funds for rescue and adoption. She and Onthank have partnered to develop the Rubie Roadie Cuddler Bed, part of Jill's Rescued Me Collection to benefit animals in need.

Onthank wants listeners to be part of his show. "I'm your resource for all things improving life with your dog". His website caninemaster.com not only includes many informative blog posts and information about the show but also has a section "Ask the Canine Master" questions where anyone can ask questions and post videos and/or photos of their dogs. He promises to do his very best to respond.

"Think of this as your training and lifestyle resource for your pet—I will help you MASTER your relationship with your dog!"
