

Membership Guidebook

Welcome to the first professional association for public sector social media professionals in the United States, founded by Government Social Media LLC (GSM) in October 2015! Government Social Media membership is guided by this plan, which clarifies the purpose, structure and operations of the association.

What We Do

Why does Government Social Media membership exist? Quite simply, to support government social media professionals in successfully communicating with the public. The purpose of this professional association is to:

1. Provide a network for government professionals to collaborate about social media
2. Promote social media use in government in the United States
3. Support professionalism, integrity and credibility in this field
4. Establish best practice standards for social media use in government
5. Meet educational needs for government social media training
6. Facilitate communication between social networks and government

How We Do It

What is the value of GSM membership? GSM offers many services for its members.

Professional Development

GSM works to establish and promote best practice standards for government social media to support professional development in this field. We monitor and communicate issues of relevance to members and assist in facilitating discussion with social networks. We communicate new platform features and products to member agencies.

Online Resources

GSM members can access a number of member-only online resources, such as member-only webinars and helpful member-contributed reference documents such as policies, plans and templates.

Community Network

Members have access to a membership directory to search, message and connect with social media peers in their area. A gated online community allows members to communicate with each other and share challenges and lessons learned with social media professionals dealing with the same issues across the country.

Our Structure

How does this professional association operate? Here's the simple framework.

Government Social Media LLC runs the membership association, and company leadership may appoint an Executive Director, Deputy Director and assign administrative staff to support the needs of members. A membership-elected volunteer Council offers advice and recommendations to GSM on how to best serve the community.

Executive Director

The Executive Director is responsible for oversight of the association, which may include managing operations, finances, legal issues, programs, policies and strategy. GSM may also assign staff to serve roles such as community management, office support, design, marketing, communications and more. These positions help support the purpose of GSM membership, encompassing everything from engaging members to facilitating back-end office functions. GSM leadership holds the final decision-making authority of the association and the Executive Director serves as the official spokesperson.

Membership Council

The GSM Membership Council is a seven-member advisory group elected by membership to represent one of six geographic regions of the U.S, plus one At-Large Federal member. Council members serve as volunteer advisors for the professional association for a term of two years.

Membership Eligibility

We support local and state agencies, the United States Federal Government, regional government, academics and more. See the Elections section of this guidebook for information on voting and election eligibility.

Members can have any job title — it's not limited to social media manager — but must be actively employed full/part-time (not as contractor or consultant), or be an elected or appointed official, at any of the following entities within the United States of America, including their departments, agencies, boards and commissions:

- City, town, township, municipality, borough, county, tribal
- State
- Special district (water, airport authority, sanitation, visitor's bureau, port authority, utility services owned by government agencies, etc.)
- Economic Development Corporation

Paid Intern Eligibility

An internship is a common stepping stone to government employment, and some agencies supplement their social media support staff by utilizing interns. While it is our goal to elevate the status of the government social media manager by encouraging full-time regular employment, we want interns to have as many resources available as possible. Volunteer interns are ineligible for GSM membership, though paid (full/part-time) interns working for an eligible agency may qualify. Interns are not eligible to vote or serve on the Membership Council.

Six Regions + 1 At-Large

Members of the professional association, including Federal members, belong to one of six geographic regions of the United States, based on the location of the agency they work for or their office. One at-large Federal council member also serves the entire membership. GSM may update the boundaries of these regions if necessary in the future.

Membership Council

Serving on the Membership Council is an exceptional way to get involved in the government social media community. The GSM Membership Council is a seven-member advisory group elected by membership to represent one of six geographic regions of the U.S, plus one At-Large Federal member serving the entire community. Council members serve as volunteer advisors for the association for a term of two years. From time to time, an eligible member may be appointed by the Executive Director, in collaboration with the Council, to fill a vacant position (this might happen if a Council member moves out of their region or their employment status changes, for instance).

Leadership Positions

It takes dedication to take on projects and help execute the vision of our association. To help support our amazing community, Council members take on one-year assignments in various leadership positions.

Council works closely with the Executive Director to choose how to make this selection from its ranks, such as by a vote of the Council. The Executive Director reserves the right to adjust Council assignments as necessary and to resolve any ties.

President. Must have one year of experience serving on the Membership Council. This role works to ensure Council projects align with the purpose, vision and values of the association. The President leads Council meetings and serves as an advisor to the Executive Director (often serving as a liaison between the Council and Executive Director). The President may represent GSM membership by speaking about Council initiatives and projects in a way that complements the voice of the overall brand, including providing the President's perspective, while the Executive Director serves as the official spokesperson and may speak on behalf of the association.

Vice-President. Fulfills the role of the President in his/her absence, including leading Council meetings; Supports the accountability and operational success of GSM membership by keeping track of action items, Council decisions and ensuring projects have a champion.

Committee Chairs. Leads and supports committees of volunteer members. Committees invite more participation and tap into the experience and enthusiasm of the broader association. A current list of committees and vacancies will be posted on the public website for the professional association: <https://www.governmentsocialmedia.com/association>

Council Code of Conduct

In addition to the Member Code of Conduct, representatives serving on our Membership Council have additional expectations. They:

- Serve by representing the best interests of GSM and its member network in the field of social media in government.
- Should not represent that their personal opinions online or offline are officially on behalf of GSM.
- Agree not to disclose any private information such as membership data, operational data or any explicitly private information. A confidentiality agreement between each Council member and GSM is required.

Elections

Membership Council representatives serve a term of two years. Instead of all six regions being up for election every two years, starting in Spring 2021, elections will be staggered. Regions up for election in odd-numbered years will be: Southeast, Southwest, West and the At-Large Federal position. Regions up for election in even-numbered years are Northwest, Midwest and Northeast.

Term. The regular term of the Membership Council is two (2) years, with staggered elections being held in Spring, with terms starting and ending in May.

Positions. Each of six (6) membership regions will be represented by one member elected to serve on the Membership Council, plus one At-Large Federal member serving the entire community.

Eligibility. Nominees must be members in good standing for at least one year prior to the election and must work within the boundaries of the region they are running to represent. At-Large Federal members are only eligible to run for office for the At-Large position, but are eligible to vote for their region as well. Immediate past Membership Council representatives are ineligible to run in the election cycle immediately following their term, but may run in future elections. Interns are not eligible to run or vote.

Nominations. Any member meeting the eligibility qualifications may self-nominate during the nomination period in spring of the year their region is up for election, using the process defined in communications to members.

Voting. Voting will be held every spring for any regional and At-Large Federal position that is up for election. All eligible GSM members get one regional vote in the election for a representative of his or her own region, as well as one vote for the At-Large Federal representative. Federal members are also allowed to vote for their region as well as for the Federal At-Large representative. Nominations will conclude before the balloting period begins and voting will take place via electronic ballot.
