April is an entrepreneur activator. On her own since age 13, April's passionate about defying the status quo and designing a life you won't regret. Her core purpose is to deliver the systems for you to design your life through entrepreneurship.

April Beach is a business mentor, podcast host, creator of the SweetLife Entrepreneur System™ and lifestyle business strategist for 16 years. She consults clients through Entrepreneurship by Design™ to build an intentional business that delivers time, location, impact and family freedom. She's helped hundreds of women to launch their business from scratch, and welcomed thousands more through her online programs.

April is also the mother of three boys, a nonprofit founder, lifestyle entrepreneur, author, speaker, co-creator of the parent coaching industry, online courses pioneer, socially conscious business designer, and environmental activist. Her professional strengths and personal mission are to equip women to think independently and act intentionally, to build a business that makes an impact, with no regrets.
