

AMY LEE WESTERVELT

Dream Design Coach

ABOUT AMY LEE

Amy Lee Westervelt is a former network marketing leader who made multi seven figures utilizing The Law of Attraction and attraction marketing to design and create her dream life. In 2018 she left her lucrative direct sales role to start her own coaching business where she teaches entrepreneurs how to stop putting their dreams off for "when I have time."

Amy Lee is a master certified NLP Linguistic Programming practitioner and uses her training to support her clients and audiences with reframing thoughts to create their dream life.

She is the mother of five children and is happily married to her husband William, who is a stay-at-home dad.

DESCRIPTION

Amy Lee is a mindset expert and board certified Master Neuroenergetics Practitioner, keynote speaker, author and thought leader, who works predominately with female entrepreneurs. Through her signature programs and coaching she has been instrumental in the transformation of thousands of business owners from anxious and unaware to empowered and abundant.

Her unique law of attraction-centric approach marries gratitude and personal value. She strives to leave the audience with an affinity for the finer things in life and a deep belief in their worthiness for those experiences.

Inspired by the success of her program for adults, she took her insights into the beauty and potential of every person and wrote a children's book, The Colors Inside Of Me, available on Amazon and all major bookstores.

Amy Lee's popular podcast, The Dream Design Podcast, is a great way to see her energy and passion for helping others design their dream life so they are living in purpose.
