McRae Communications Consultancy is proud to present the debut title from Peter Williams, Searching Spirit, published by Balboa, a Division of Hay House and available in bookstores now.

As we approach the 10-year anniversary of Fukushima, Australia's own Psychic Medium Peter Williams' debut title reflects on how that cataclysmic event proved to be a pivotal moment in his life ...

Peter Williams has always had a 'Searching Spirit'. As a teenager, he turned to the Internet seeking answers to other worldly questions.

"I had a growing awareness, a sense of something else out there, another layer beyond my understanding. I had to know more. That's where my search began and that's when I had my first connection with Spirit," says Williams.

Those connections set Peter on a path of learning as an attentive student of Spirit. However, it would be many years later, when a cataclysmic event shook the foundations of his world, before the true nature of the lessons he had been studying would be revealed.

Follow Peter on his journey to becoming a psychic medium and discover for yourself just how life-changing a connection to spirit could be.
