ANGEL ANSWERS...

Alien encounter

Q Galactic beings gave me an attunement using symbols. I have to share it, but can you help me get some more clarity on how it is going to help people?
Anon

A These galactic beings have a high and loving vibration. They are preparing your energy field to hold their frequency so they can work through you.

Sacred Geometric symbols are recognised by the soul and integrated into the chakras and aura. These powerful beings will be attuning people through you with the same symbols that were shown to you. This will help open their hearts and connect them with their Divine essence, empowering them to express their gifts and live a more fulfilled life.

You'll soon receive information on how to teach people how to work with and in this new energy. Get ready to make a huge impact on humanity!

Why do I hate myself?

Q I constantly beat myself up and blame myself. Why am I so mean to myself?
Lou, Sydney

A The angels say one of your main lessons in this lifetime is self-love; learning to love and accept yourself exactly as you are. However, due to childhood conditioning and being around judgmental people from your past, you've adopted a belief system that you are not enough. You were exposed to the opposite of what's really true, so that program is running in your life! Each time this occurs, you are given the opportunity to make healing changes. However, rather than realising this as a chance to release the old story, you're adding to the negativity by repeating the pattern and it becomes a vicious cycle. But you can always make new choices! The next time you criticise yourself, stop, take a deep breath and call on Archangels Michael (to release old fear) and Jophiel (to get you into a space of love). Focus on what you like about yourself and what you are grateful for. Then you'll notice a shift take place. It may take a little time as you're so used to looking at the negative, but with commitment, prayer, practice and help from the angels, you can begin to create more loving habits.

Am I in the right job?

Q Am I in the right job and will it get me to where I want to go professionally. How is it linked to my soul purpose, if at all?
Kate, via Facebook

A You're in the right job for now. It doesn't feel long term - more like a stepping stone to provide skills and experiences that will help you develop and grow. This will be helpful for your future work that's more in alignment with your soul purpose. You are also making connections that will later serve you. There's a lot of expansion happening in and around you as you open up to a more healing energy. The angels show me a vision of you as a leader - a teacher in many ways - helping a lot of people. You will know when it's time to take action, but for now learn as much as you can and experience all aspects of your job; this will all come in handy later.

How do I call in the one?

Q I am 33 and still seem to constantly attract the wrong love matches. Will I ever meet my soul mate and what can I do to attract him?

Therese, via email

A You have been so fixated on attracting that perfect person to settle down with, that you've lost sight of appreciating each man along the way for who he truly is, as well as neglecting to honour all that you learned from each encounter and enjoy the experience itself. It's now time to release expectations and enjoy the present moment, just as it is.

The angels want you to know, Therese, that you are not running out of time. Every 'Mr Wrong' has been an opportunity for you to realise exactly what you want, as well as learn precisely what you don't want in a relationship.

There has also been a balance in Karma taking place in you, Therese, which has been giving you essential energy and information on a soul level that has been preparing you for your life partner. Yes, he is coming. First, express gratitude for every one you have dated up until this point, then forgive each of them, forgive yourself and see yourself as worthy of and ready for a deeper commitment with your life partner. Finally, ask Archangel Chamuel, who is the finding angel, to help the two of you attract and 'find' one another.

Sinister cyst

Q I recently found out I have a dermoid cyst and may need surgery. I am a little frightened as I am told these can sometimes be cancerous. Why has this happened and will I need an operation?
Mae, Reading

A You are in the middle of a transition in your life and on the cusp of great change. This health issue has come up to get you to see yourself in a new light; to help you no longer over-identify with just your physical self, but come to the realisation that you are so much more. It may not feel like it, but this is a Divine opportunity and gift!

Don't see yourself as the victim here; that life is happening to you. Remember that you have proactive role in this outcome. You have a choice to be in the vibration of love and peace and heal the relationship with yourself and others on a very deep level. Meditate on your challenging relationships. Work with the angels to lift your perspective and see through the seeming obstacles to the lessons and the blessings of each partnership. Accept your own personal role in each circumstance and move into gratitude and forgiveness intending to release all fear. You will free yourself from this burden and it will cleanse your energy. You may not even need an operation, but if you do, know that the angels are working with you to help you heal, get back on your feet, and experience a new and liberated you.

When will I be famous?

Q I feel led to a career in tv presenting, but I don't know how to get there. Any advice from the angels?

Clare, London

A I see Archangel Gabrielle, the angel of creativity, communication and the arts playing her trumpet around your energy field. This is a sign that she's working with you to prepare you to attract a more creative job. You have an important role in this manifestation. The angels want you to be engaged in creative activities, so, for example, take a class in acting or camera technique. They encourage you to do one thing every day for your career; journal, meditate, research and network to be in the right vibration to attract what you desire. At times you doubt yourself, and those doubts will only keep your career beyond your grasp. You have to believe in yourself and your ability to do what you love. There is the energy of great change and a move around you, so be open and receptive. Most importantly, the angels say to have fun – the best way to attract what you desire.
