ANGEL ANSWERS...

Divine soul purpose

Q Like many, I have been reflecting and trying to make sense of the chain of horrific shooting events last year, culminating in the tragic passing of 26 kids and teachers in the US. My understanding is that each soul comes here with a plan, but has a free will for changes as well. Did the souls that passed come with an agreement to take part in this event to raise awareness and bring about change on Earth?
Irina, email

A The angels know that this is a very delicate subject, for so many people only look at the human act and appearance of the tragedy itself, especially in this horrible shooting. It's hard to understand how this could be Divine, right or even just.

But, yes, we do live in an orderly Universe, and there are no mistakes. Each of us has several exit points in our lives when we can choose to leave our body. Some very highly evolved souls come in at various times for a specific purpose, and can be the age of a child. They are here to make a huge impact on the families they are born to, the people that they are exposed to in the community, as well as the planet itself. Their soul's mission is a powerful one and they're not meant to be on the Earth plane very long. When their mission is complete, they return home. We, as human beings, see it as a loss, but it's actually a graduation.

It's difficult for us to comprehend such devastation and violence. But everything occurs in life for us to simply experience so that we may evolve; love, loss, peace, war, joy and even pain. When we can look through the tragic circumstance rather than at it, we lift to a higher perspective. We can see that on a higher soul level, we are meant to love and serve one another. The Universe gives us plenty of opportunities, however due to our free will, we still choose anger, blame, separation, division and judgment. We must learn to not only coexist with one another, but see each other as one. It's easy to get stuck at the level of the problem and only notice the suffering.

It takes a special individual to rise above and realise that only love is the answer and that everything we experience brings us to a deeper part of ourselves. When we can learn to see God in everyone and everything we can begin to elevate the planet and put an end to this violence.

Spiritual careers

Q I would love to see if I will transition out of the career I am in already into doing spiritual work?
Loretta, email

A Your angels tell me that you have been ready for quite some time for a change in your work environment, but that your doubts have been clouding your intuitive voice. This is a very natural part of the spiritual journey and is a sign that things are about to shift for you.

The ego tends to be really loud right before a breakthrough. This gives us the opportunity to move more into trust and keep allowing ourselves to be guided forward by our angels rather than succumbing to fear and staying stuck. You have done the inner work, and now it's time to let go and let the angels help.

I am being shown an image of you counselling, healing and teaching others. I see a whole practice opening and many people waiting in line for your services. Hold this beautiful vision for yourself daily and continue to surrender and release control. You'll soon make a transition from the work you're doing now to something far more fulfilling and in alignment with your soul's purpose.

Raising our vibrations

Q How can we all collectively help our planet and its inhabitants on a spiritual level to raise into higher vibrations and leave old and useless beliefs behind us?
Jana, Facebook

A The angels say that if more people asked questions like this, then we would be living in a very different world. But there is hope!

The way that we help to change the planet is by working on ourselves, one day at a time. As we learn to love and accept ourselves exactly where and as who we are, and offer up gratitude for everything in our lives, our vibration rises and makes a difference collectively. When we learn to love our neighbour, and even those who hurt us, understanding that it's all part of a higher Divine plan, we shift the energy around us. When we see ourselves in one another and realise that we are all unique embodiments of God, no one better or worse, our lights shine brighter. And when we take care of our beloved Mother Earth, to honour and protect her, rather than pollute her, respect the animal kingdom rather than abuse it, then the heart begins to expand, the love expresses more fully, we become lighter and the world becomes a more beautiful place to live.

Who's who?

Q My question is this: when we connect with our angels, how do we know the difference between each angel, from our guardian angel, Archangels etc?
Louis, email

A Each angel, archangel, spirit guide etc has a different feeling, vibration and even colour. Just as we as human beings all have our own energy, personality and physicality, the angels and other various beings in spirit can come through in a multitude of ways. Since they are not in a body, they are pure light; the vibrations of the Creator itself, and can show up in different forms and at times depending on what we may need at any given moment. They will express themselves in a unique way to each of us so that we can identify them.

The way to discern who is with you is to quiet your mind, turn inward to meditate and breathe slowly, and open your heart to receive their love, guidance and support. Allow yourself to feel, see, hear or just know that they are with you.

As you practice this daily, with grateful intentions to be of loving service, you will trust the sensations that are coming through and be able to differentiate who they are, where they stand around you and even how they are working with you. Be patient and enjoy this powerful process of Divine communication.

Love is in the air

Q How can I prepare myself for a new romantic relationship?
Sylvia, email

A The angels are applauding your question. It's so beautiful to sense your willingness to prepare your energy field to attract the perfect person for you. They say that so often we get caught up in the human experience and we forget that our one true and passionate love is us! Yes, our relationship with the Divine, which is our higher self, is the most important relationship in our lives.

As you begin to shift this in your awareness, energy and heart, you will realise that what you are searching for is already within you. And then the magic shines through and you will feel transformed.

Archangel Michael specifically suggests for you to take up yoga or dance. This will help you get in touch with your body, feel more confident and energy will flow better through you, opening you up to a higher vibration of unconditional love.

Then, he says, meditate on your beloved. Feel this sacred union and surrender as you sit in the vibration of this God energy, feeling complete and that all of your needs are met. This will help you attract that special soul partnership of romance because you have become the very love that you desire.
