

CELESTIAL REALM

Angel expert Tina Marie Daly answers your questions with angelic advice. Email your question or issue to prediction@predictionmagazine.com

ANGEL ANSWERS...

Broken trust

Q Through my job, I have been collaborating with the owner of another company on a project that was close to my heart. Things seemed to be going well, but I've found out he wasn't trustworthy. I feel very let down to discover this person doesn't have the level of integrity I thought he did. Why has this happened and how can I learn from this?
CW, via email

A With these situations, there is always an agreement on a higher level that it will help with a particular experience we are meant to go through. Focus on feeling love and release expectations of who you hoped that person to be, and set new boundaries. This releases you to attract a more suitable partner. I see new healing projects. This situation occurred as a wake-up call to help you be more selective as to who you work with and trust in the future. Ask the angels to guide you.

Opportunity knocks

Q I am at a crossroads and I have the sudden opportunity to move abroad, which I would need to do by the end of this year. This would mean giving up everything and everyone I've known so far in life for a new start. I would have a job, albeit less lucrative than my current one, but I need to know if this is indeed a good move for me
Mel, London

A This move has come at a very special time for you. It is an opportunity for new growth and development. Your soul has been longing for a fuller expression of who you are and has placed this before you to help you take a risk and move forward. Rather than seeing this as 'leaving your life and others behind', try to see it as an adventure; an awakening on a higher level to bring you to a deeper part of yourself. These big changes can feel very scary at first, but if you quiet your mind and allow your heart to open, you will feel the angels guiding your every step, and the fears will begin to dissolve into excitement.

You will build new relationships that support your life purpose and most importantly shift your entire energy to begin to manifest and create from a whole new space. The angels surround you in light and are walking through these new doors with you.

A thirst for higher learning

Q I feel I have come to a bit of an impasse with my career and I am ready to move to another level and learn new skills. Do you see a change for me any time soon? I'd like to build on the skills I have.
CA, via email

A I'm being shown a Pegasus (the winged, magical horse) as a symbolic gesture from the angels for you to believe in your abilities to manifest your dreams. This is also a sign of power and movement forward. Before going to bed, visualise riding Pegasus off into the night and aligning to your soul's path. You will awaken with clues to help you with these changes, and opportunities will begin to present themselves. They will appear as either a class to take, a new partnership to mentor you or a new project that you will be inspired to create. It will be a fun adventure!

Things keep disappearing...

Q I wanted to ask about something spooky happening in my life. Basically, items of mine keep vanishing in the house including my phone, magazines, certificates and money. I have been without a phone that works for four days now - and the same thing happened last week. Have you heard of anything like this? I have no idea who is doing this to me.
Sonal, via email

A It could be a number of things. Firstly, you could have a little prankster in spirit who is trying to get your attention. Sometimes our loved ones who have passed on, or others in spirit, move things around to get us to stop and listen. Or, they are encouraging us to slow down because our pace through life has been too fast and we must be still to be able to communicate with them more clearly. I feel it's somewhat of a combination here. Lately, your energy has been very scattered and unbalanced, which is one reason for things being misplaced. But there is also some old energy that needs to be released. Archangel Michael is coming through to help you clear the energy in your home. Call on him to surround you and your house in white light, then walk room to room burning white sage as a clearing tool. Open some windows and say, "Anything that is not the highest vibration of unconditional love, light and truth is released now! Thank you Archangel Michael." Sage yourself as well, and feel all of the angels blessing your home and raising the vibration all around you. Finally, play some healing mantras or relaxing music to help you remain more centered and focused.

A rainbow baby?

Q What is a Rainbow Child, and is there a way I can tell if my baby is one?
Justine, LA

A There are three types of children sent here to bring about a great change in humanity. The first are the indigo children. They arrived mostly in the 70s and 80s to help shift us away from traditional thinking, and open our minds and hearts to awaken our authentic selves. Next are the crystal children; highly sensitive children with a huge capacity to sense the spirit world, connect with the Earth and animals and teach us to honour this special connection. The rainbow children, also known as star children, are coming to help evolve us as a species even further. They represent the wave of the future. They are born into this world with little to no Karma, full of energy and enthusiasm for life with an aura so pure and bright that is the vibration of Divinity itself.

These fearless, beautiful children spread their unconditional love and joy to everyone without exception or judgement. They are extremely psychic and, due to their very high frequency, will affect the lives of everyone around them. Since there haven't been that many of these children born quite yet, my feeling is that your little one is a crystal child with some rainbow energy. All of these children need our support and our love so that they can carry out their very special mission.

Email your angel questions to prediction@predictionmagazine.com, tweet them to us at @predictionmag or pop them on our Prediction Magazine Facebook wall. Visit Tinamariedaly.com for more info on our angel expert

Stomach ache

Q I have been experiencing an ongoing tummy upset for a while now. I have always suffered from IBS in times of stress but this feels different - like my vibration has shifted. How can I alleviate the symptoms?
Tracy, via Facebook

A Your vibration is shifting, and as a result there is a detoxification process occurring physically and energetically. Your sensitivities are increasing, which is natural with any change in vibration, and you may find you need to be mindful of the foods you eat. The angels suggest staying away from gluten, refined sugar, dairy and limiting animal products (for now). Eat lots of greens and drink lots of water. Observe how you feel for a month before slowly introducing foods back one at a time. During this time, meditate every day; place your hands on your belly, and feel love and acceptance for yourself and your body. The angels say that somewhere along the way there has been a 'disconnect', and now it's time to integrate all levels, mind, body and spirit. Archangel Raphael is with you to help you through this process, heal through your hands and bring you into a state of balance.

FREE GIFT!

Tina Marie has recorded a special free angel meditation just for Prediction readers for the New Year. To access your free download, visit: tinamariedaly.com/prayer.zip