

INTRO

Good evening, I am your host Karen Hudes. Welcome to this DCTV Series on the Network of Global Corporate Control. Today's broadcast is coming to you live. We are in the middle of a Global Currency Reset to get rid of fake paper currencies that are ripping off all of the people on this planet.

Today's segment will help you understand where we are on the Global Currency Reset. First we are going to take a closer look at the Network of Global Corporate Control and at Jose Rizal, the man who deposited the world's assets in the Global Debt Facility.

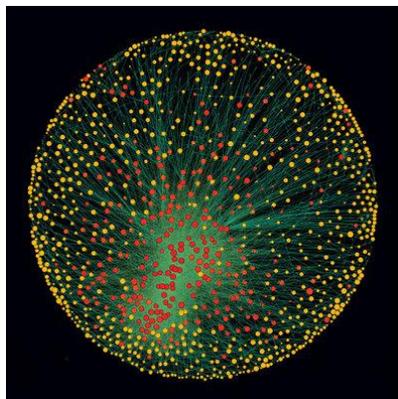

I am going to be recording another three segments this week: these segments will discuss whether we see progress in closing the disconnect between the "matrix" as some people call it and the reality that Jose Rizal intended for us. We are going to look at what is happening in the District of Columbia, in Maryland's House of Delegates, in Switzerland, what is going on in the South China Sea, my letters to Rome, the threat of a warrant for my arrest, and what the Global Currency Reset will mean to people in their everyday lives.

Who is benefitting from these paper currencies? A secret super entity that has been trying desperately to hide from the people who are getting ripped off. Three mathematicians from the Federal Institute of Technology in Zurich Switzerland: Vitteli, Batteston, and Glattfelder, have called this super-entity the Network of Global Corporate Control. That is how this Series got its name.

The Network of Global Corporate Control (by Jimmy Mengel)

Let's describe the Network of Global Corporate Control: Just follow the money... From a massive database of 37 million companies, Glattfelder pulled out the 43,060 transnational corporations (companies that operate in more than one country) that are all connected by their shareholders.

Digging further, he constructed a model that actually displays just how connected these companies are to one another through ownership of shares and their corresponding operating revenues.

The 1318 transnational corporations that form the core of the economy.
Superconnected companies are red, very connected companies are yellow. The size of the dot represents revenue.

But Glattfelder has done a remarkable job of boiling these connections down to the main actors — as well as pinpointing how much power they have over the global market. These "ownership networks" can reveal who the key players are, how they are organized, and exactly how interconnected these powers are.

Each of the 1318 companies had ties to two or more other companies, and on average they were connected to 20. What's more, although they represented 20 per cent of global operating revenues, the 1318 appeared to collectively own through their shares the majority of the world's large blue chip and manufacturing firms - the "real" economy - representing a further 60 per cent of global revenues.

When the team further untangled the web of ownership, it found much of it tracked back to a "super-entity" of 147 even more tightly knit companies - all of their ownership was held by other members of the super-entity - that controlled 40 per cent of the total wealth in the network.

According to his data, Glattfelder found that the top 730 shareholders control a whopping 80% of the entire revenue of transnational corporations.

And — surprise, surprise! — they are mostly financial institutions in the United States and the United Kingdom.

That is a huge amount of concentrated control in a small number of hands...

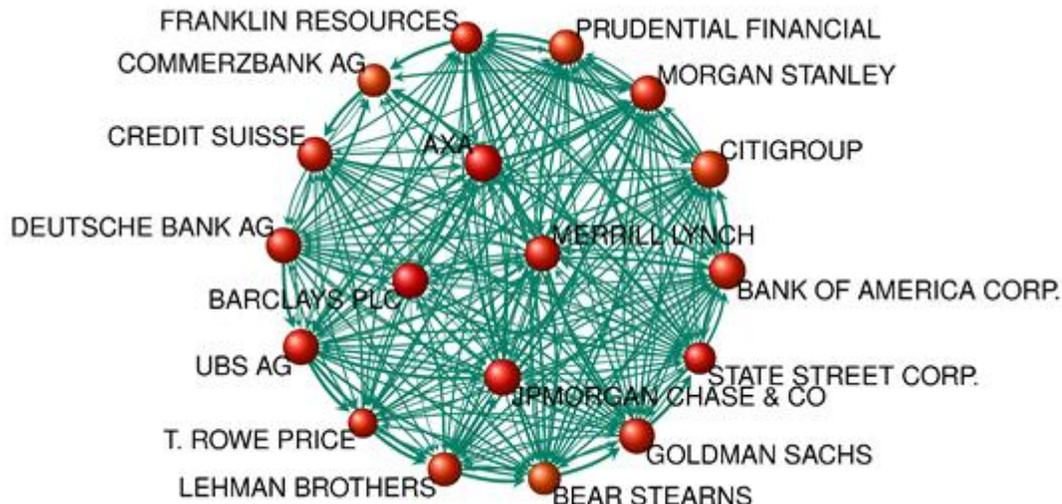

Here are the top ten transnational companies that hold the most control over the global economy:

- 1) Barclays plc
- 2) Capital Group Companies Inc.
- 3) FMR Corporation
- 4) AXA
- 5) State Street Corporation
- 6) JPMorgan Chase & Co.
- 7) Legal & General Group plc
- 8) Vanguard Group Inc.
- 9) UBS AG
- 10) Merrill Lynch & Co Inc.

Some of the other usual suspects round out the top 25, including JP Morgan, UBS, Credit Suisse, and Goldman Sachs. The top 49 corporations are financial institutions, banks, and insurance companies — with the exception of Wal-Mart, which ranks at number 15...

The rest essentially just push money around to one another.

Here's the interconnectedness of the top players in this international scheme:

Here's a fun fact about the number one player, Barclays:

Barclays was a main player in the LIBOR manipulation scandal, and were found to have committed fraud and collusion with other interconnected big banks. They were fined $200 million by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, $160 million by the United States Department of Justice and £59.5 million by the Financial Services Authority for "attempted manipulation" of the Libor and Euribor rates.

Despite their crimes, Barclays still paid $61,781,950 in bonuses earlier this year, including a whopping $27,371,750 to investment banking head Rich Ricci. And yes, that's actually his real name...

These are the guys that run the world.

It's essentially the "too big to fail" argument laid out in scientific setting — only instead of just the U.S. banks, we're talking about an international cabal of banks and financial institutions so intertwined that they pose a serious threat to global economics.

And instead of "too big to fail," we're looking at "too connected to fail"...

Glattfelder contends that "a high degree of interconnectivity can be bad for stability, because stress can spread through the system like an epidemic."

Industrialist Henry Ford once said, "It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and money system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning."

It's one thing to have suspicions that someone is working behind the scenes to control the world's money supply. It's quite another to have scientific evidence that clearly supports it...

The Global Debt Facility

Last week we discussed France and French royalty in the United States, and how to function in the middle of the Global Currency Reset, where most of the people are like sleepwalkers, and don't know what is going on. They do not know that the world's gold is in the trust fund established at the end of World War II that is managed by the Ministers of Finance and Development at the World Bank and International Monetary Fund in Washington, DC. which is called the Global Debt Facility. People do not know that the Network of Global Corporate Control is bankrupt and that there is a coalition on the Board of Governors that is winding down the Network of Global Corporate Control.

The reason that people do not know this information is because the Network of Global Corporate Control has bought up all the newspapers, television stations, and most of the alternative media and has been spreading nothing but lies and propaganda. You can measure the depth of the corruption by the simple fact that there is a media blackout on the information which I am giving you.

Jose Rizal

One way to know whether information is correct is by looking at its internal consistency over many years. This week Mike Brakey sent us more information about Jose Rizal, the Superior General of the Jesuits from 1942 to 1946.

In an earlier episode we learned that Jose Rizal called his gift to humanity in the Global Debt Facility: the Proclamation and Declaration of the Gift of Love. I'd like to give you more information about what Jose Rizal was like as a man.

We learned that Jose Rizal was home schooled because his brother Paciano, who was ten years older than Jose, wanted to protect Jose from the abusive Spanish Friars. In 1882 Jose left the Philippines at the age of 21 to study in Europe. Jose was one of the brightest minds of the late 19th century -- he spoke twenty-two different languages, and became an ophthalmologist and received two doctorates. Jose Rizal wrote two books, "Touch Me Not" and a sequel El Filibusterismo, about Spanish oppression in the Philippines. Rizal excelled at martial arts, fencing, sculpture, painting, teaching, anthropology, and journalism, among other things. These are two of Jose Rizal's sculptures: Historian Gregorio Zaide said that Jose Rizal was the Leonardo da Vinci of the Philippines.

Prometheus Bound is a clay sculpture created by Jose Rizal and was given to Blumentritt in 1890 in Brussels. Rizal used the mythic hero Prometheus as symbolism to further explain his philosophy. In his NOLI dedication addressed to the Filipino people to revealed that his aim is not only to expose the Spanish government and the Church abuses but also to remove the veil of ignorance that has kept his country men 300 years of ignorance and superstition. By opening their minds that will bring light through education will liberate them from eternal darkness. It is logical to equate Light, Torch and Fire to mean "Knowledge", "Learning", "Education", "Awakening", "Liberation" and "Emancipation".

Jose Rizal's most famous sculptural work was "The Triumph of Science over Death", a clay sculpture of a naked young woman with overflowing hair, standing on a skull while bearing a torch held high. The woman symbolized the ignorance of humankind during the Dark Ages, while the torch she bore symbolized the enlightenment science brings over the whole world.

Jose Rizal was psychic. Some of the episodes that Rizal wrote about actually came to pass years later. His biographer, Austin Coates, wrote about Rizal's psychic abilities: "the prescience" (that is, the ability to foresee) of Rizal, in which dreams contributed only a small part, was extraordinary, verging on the psychic. In his novels there are numerous scenes, describing incidents which long after the books were published, and heaven knows with no volition on his part, actually took place, in strangely similar conditions, in his own life. In some cases the resemblance between the fictional scene and the subsequent actual event is so close that in memory one is apt to confuse the two I can think of nothing else quite like this in literature."

We also know that Jose Rizal was very courageous and moral and had a great deal of empathy: we can see all of these traits by these words he wrote about why he was going back to the Philippines after the Spanish government was so outraged by the books he wrote about Spanish colonial rule:

"The step that I have taken, or am about to take, is without doubt very hazardous, and I need not say that I have pondered over it a great deal. I realize that almost everyone is opposed to it. But I realize also that almost no one knows what is going on in my heart. I cannot live knowing that many are suffering unjust persecutions on my account; I cannot live seeing my brother, my sisters and their numerous families persecuted like criminals. "

So now our job is to get ready for Jose Rizal's gift to us. Here we are after the 50 years of sequestration, when the assets in the Global Debt Facility can come out for the benefit of humanity. As you recall, the reason for the sequestration was the statute of limitations: to ensure that there were no existing claims so that the beneficiaries of the Global Debt Facility, which is all humanity, would not have to get bogged down in a fight over who the assets belong to.

These assets belong to all of us, and the Board of Governors of the World Bank and IMF are to decide what to do with them. You notice that I did not say that the President of the World Bank or the Managing Director of the IMF, or any of the staff of the Bretton Woods institutions. The Board of Governors has already taken this decision. They are replacing paper currencies with the real deal -- national currencies out of gold where the face value of the currency has the equivalent of gold in the actual bill. That decision was taken on April 14, 2014 <https://s3.amazonaws.com/khudes/breakthrough.pdf> The Board of Governors also is going to be cleaning up Fukushima

This is pretty straightforward. But instead, what we are seeing, is a big ping pong game, where the Network of Global Corporate Control and its agents are trying to break the Bilateral Minesfield Breakthrough Successor Agreement. <https://s3.amazonaws.com/khudes/BILATERAL.pdf> As the Overseer Mandate Trustee, I have been invalidating these attempts to steal the world's assets from the world's peoples.

The Bilateral Minesfield Breakthrough Successor Agreement said that the courts had no jurisdiction. So I invalidated the May 7, 2015 decision of the International Court of Justice which said that all of the accounts and paperwork that Ferdinand Marcos drew up was no longer valid. The CIA tried to enforce this. I made it clear to the Netherlands government that their country, which houses the ICJ, was a rogue among nations after what the ICJ was trying to do. This was a terrible thing. Switzerland, which is where the CIA is headquartered, should also be ashamed.

The Network of Global Corporate Control is bankrupt. You remember, there are over 210 trillion in Treaty of Versailles Bonds which have been compounding interest since the 1930's and are now worth over 2 quadrillion dollars. This is more than the outstanding country debts. No country is going to have to continue to pay country debt any more. This is a big scam. People are no longer going to have to send their income taxes to the Network of Global Corporate Control for payments on country debt.

So when you are hearing in the news about how the world financial system is in a meltdown, you have to realize that what is in a meltdown is the Network of Global Corporate Control. Not us. We have our international monetary gold reserves right where we need them. All of the Network of Global Corporate Control's efforts to steal these assets are being shot down by the Board of Governors of the World Bank and the IMF.

Jim Kim and Christine Lagarde were fired for trying to help the Network of Global Corporate Control steal humanity's assets in the Global Debt Facility. The attempt to renew Christine Lagarde's term was just a big lie. On February 8, 2016 the Board of Governors replaced Marc Sobel on the Board of Executive Directors of the IMF, because Marc Sobel had violated the Articles of the IMF. I did not vote to reappoint Christine Lagarde. <https://s3.amazonaws.com/khudes/Twitter2.8.16.1.pdf> .

The Network of Global Corporate Control does not stand above the Board of Governors of the World Bank and IMF and neither does the World Bank President or the IMF Managing Director. <https://s3.amazonaws.com/khudes/general+assembly3.pdf> That is why Jose Rizal created the Board of Governors of the World Bank and IMF. The attempts of the Network of Global Corporate Control to steal the world's assets in the Global Debt Facility are all invalid.

If there is time, we will discuss my letters to Rome, and the threat of a warrant for my arrest from Interpol

OUTTRO: In today's segment, we got to know Jose Rizal better. Jose Rizal, one of the most accomplished men of his age, if not the most accomplished, fought the Spanish colonial rule in his country, and then went to the Vatican for forty years, where he rose through the ranks and became the Superior General of the Society of Jesus. This put him in charge of the world's wealth, which he then placed in trust for humanity. The Network of Global Corporate Control has been buying our politicians and our companies with our money that belongs to us. This scam is going to end. Until next week, I am your host, Karen Hudes.

I left word for Mayor Bowser at the meeting on February 29, 2016, where I spoke with Beverly Perry, Jason Yuckenberg, and Tommie Jones

<https://s3.amazonaws.com/khudes/Twitter3.1.16.pdf> about the corrupt business environment in the District of Columbia, and hidden martial law.

The District of Columbia's police force may not prevent me from returning to my job as Overseer Mandate Trustee of the Global Debt Facility and Acting General Counsel of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. There is no valid barring notice, because none of the corrupt officials in the World Bank or in Allied Barton have any authority to commit the Board of Governors of the World Bank and IMF, which I represent. I also represent the voice and vote of the United States on the Board of Governors and Boards of Executive Directors of the World Bank and IMF because the US is in interregnum.

Global Debt Facility

These crooks and bullies who have no claim to humanity's wealth in the Global Debt Facility after the 50 years of sequestration that think I am going to keep their bribes and threats secret have another thought coming. First I want to publish an email from the Philippines, speaking eloquently on our behalf. Charles' message also applies the Grey Pope, Pepe Orsini:

Dear Adolfo Nicolás Pachón,

An irrefutable fact is that everything that is born dies. Repent and ask the Creator for forgiveness before that unique opportunity vanishes forever. The evil and their consequences in which you allegedly abetted have caused enormous suffering and countless deaths. You will wish that your death were eternal should you see that retribution for your choices- sans forgiveness.

Think not that Satan, father-of-lies, can intervene. Your penance is to assure by an oath to the ONE God, that the Global Debt Facility holdings are distributed equitably to all humanity.

Health & Happiness for all natural Creation,
Charles

I am not working with anyone now. I am going back to my job as Acting General Counsel of the World Bank. The Board of Governors and I will be meeting to take the necessary decisions. Go away.

Christine Lagarde was not authorized to conclude any agreement with the Vatican to reconvey humanity's patrimony in the Global Debt Facility administered by the Bretton Woods' Board of Governors.
