Avery template 8160

Whether you're creating labels for a hobby of a post-zun hobby or for business correspondence, the Avery 8160 label boasts the standard dimensions - 1 inch by 2.63 inches - seen in most print shows. These dimensions produce a page of 30 labels (three columns of 10 each), which may be printed on the sticky label paper of many companies. You don't have to pay for expensive labels when, with a variety of computer programs, you can print your own Avery 8160 labels on your computer. Open Word and click Tools, then Letters and Tab and select Envelopes and Labels. Click the picture of the label in the lower-right corner, which opens the Label Options window. Scroll down to Avery 8160, click it so it's highlighted, click OK, and then click New Document. A page of delimited labels appears on the page. Type the address or other information on the upper-left label, and then use the Text toolbar at the top of the page to select a font, size, and color. (Optional) Type a word in the Search box, such as Cat, Cupcake, or Soccer. Scroll through the created list and double-click a picture. Drag it into place on the label. Block and copy everything you've created with your mouse. Right-click and select Copy, and then click the mouse into the next label. Right-click and select Paste. Repeat to paste the other 28 labels on the screen. Open Publisher and select Publications to print. Click labels and scroll through the predefined options for Avery 5160 (these labels have the same sizing as 8160). Double-click a label to have it appear in your workspace. In the left pane window, click Multiple page under Copies for sheet. This means you print the 30 labels instead of one. Type the contact information above the predefined placeholder text. Click the Font Schemes link in the Label Options pane, and then select a font family for the label. Double-click a font scheme and the label is updated automatically. Click the Color Schemes link in the Label Options pane, and then select a color scheme. Double-click a set and the label is updated automatically. Open Photoshop and click File, and then select New. File name MyLabel and set the width to 2.63 inches and the height to 1 inches. Change the status to CMYK Color and the content to white. Then click the OK button. Click View and adjust on the screen. It won't increase the size of your label, it just gives you more room to design. Click the Text tool, which looks like a T on the palette tools on the left side of the screen. Notice a new toolbar at the top of the screen. Select your font, color, and size, and then click in the MyLabel box and type Information.
