Preface

This is a true story of Caspar the Manx Cat who was a part of my life for 20 years. A very dear friend was determined to find me a black and white Manx to replace Felix my first Manx, who was living with my elderly parents. I would pick up Felix for the weekends, so was not real keen on finding another cat. My friend was convinced I needed a cat full time. I told her it had to be black and white and a Manx like Felix. It took her a while, but early one morning she phoned to go and see a litter of Manx kittens. There she was – the “runt” of the litter, she did everything possible to get our attention. There was not a doubt in my mind that this was the kitten I wanted, thus the story of Caspar began. I am sure anyone who has owned a cat can relate to this continuing series that I am writing about our life together.

The “Runt” is Adopted

Here I am the runt of the litter, everyday someone comes and chooses one of my brothers or sisters to adopt. Don't they realize that the biggest is not always the best? My Mother tells me not to worry that I am the brightest one, but when will someone pick me? Someone is here now, she is looking at me -- is this going to be it? She says I look almost like her other cat, she wants me –Lucky Day!

She says she is going to name me Caspar, wait until you hear why-- because I am the ghost of Felix, her other cat. How can I be a ghost if I am alive? This is spooky; I will teach her I am no ghost!

Hey, why is she putting me in this box? I don't like confined spaces -- what is she saying? I am having a hard time hearing her in this box. Be calm little kitty, you're going to have a new home and a new Mom. Did she say Mom? Okay Mom, don't you hear me crying? Come on feel sorry for me and get me out of this crate! Ah, crying works every time.

This is fun romping through the car, oops I think I goofed. I jumped on the steering wheel and we almost had a wreck. Well, how was I to know that would happen, I mean I am smart, but cars are a new experience to me. I'll get down on the floor and look scared that way she won't be so mad at me.

She says we have to go the office before we go home, doesn't she know I'm not old enough to work yet – what is this child labor? Oh, she only wants to show me off. Hey I know I am cute, what's the big deal. Everyone wants to pet me – - leave my ears alone and no I didn't have my tail cut off. Don't they realize I am a Manx, famous for no tails, brilliance and loyalty?

Now what is she doing? She's putting me on the copy machine, what am I wanted for something? Maybe she is making up wanted posters-- but I haven't done anything wrong, I'm just a baby! Oh, I get it now, it's my birth certificate! Nice picture if I don't say so myself, but then when you're as beautiful as me how could it turn out bad!

Hey Mom when are we going home? I'm getting tired and hungry. I have had enough of this office routine for one day. Finally she is heading for the car, I'm really excited about seeing my new home. We are almost there, we even have a security gate to go through and check your ID, at least I know I will be living in a safe place. "Well here we are Caspar, I hope you like it." Just put me down so I can check things out.

Wow, is this place neat, lots of windows to look out of, a big screened in patio with a lake view-- not to mention the birds and lizards in my sight. Plenty of furniture to run around on and just look at the size of that refrigerator – she must have bought that to store all my food in! There are even two bathrooms; I prefer the one with the tub, besides the lighting is much better to look at myself in the mirror when I am grooming myself. *

"Caspar Comes Home" is the first book in a series of "Tailless Tales" as told by Caspar, my pet Manx cat. Caspar was a part of my life for twenty years. From the first moment I saw her there was no doubt in my mind that she was the kitten I wanted. As it turned out, she had also made up her mind that with the right training she could make me into the kind of Mom that she wanted. I am sure that anyone who has adopted a kitten will be able to relate to and enjoy these true stories about the wonderful years Caspar and I shared together. Recounting these tales of Caspar allows me to once again enjoy those happy, funny, crazy and special moments I had the privilege of sharing with this unforgettable feline. But just don't take my word about what great times we had; let Caspar tell you her tailless tales in her own words :-).
