Introduction Single, Relationships, Marriage & Motherhood is not as simple as we may think. We take part in all aspects of our family member's daily life. Today you may be a teacher and tomorrow you may be a counselor and Saturday you're probably the taxi driver all the while none of it is directly for yourself. You learn what everyone else around you likes, what makes them happy, meanwhile we put ourselves on the back burner. Have you ever stopped and evaluated your life and said, "I'm exactly where I want to be?" Truth is you may be where you want to be, but how you got there could have been a lot easier and stress free, maybe even peaceful. Most women are given loving, caring souls, and we put our own feelings, thoughts, and emotions to the side to make everyone else happy and comfortable. Whether you're still in the Single Stage of life or the Motherhood Stage of life, having peace just makes life so much more enjoyable. I believe the more you know yourself and what you want out of life, the easier it will be to find peace and happiness.

Reading and Participating within A Women's Guide will teach you to plan and obtain what you want and deserve out of life. It's a journey through all stages of life. From being single to getting married it's time to play by your own rules and decide what you want out of life. Reading and participating with this book will help you get to know yourself if you already haven't found yourself.

Reaching your goals, using your own rules, and doing it your own way has never been so fulfilling.
