Preface This document provides the Data & Contents Specifications for the Tactical & Strategic Report & Database on Control Print Limited. If the Database Contents Specifications described here meet the needs of the users, then the Tactical & Strategic Report & Database on Control Print Limited can be obtained at: TS@datagroup.org

This DataGroup report is designed to provide a complete Tactical and Strategic appraisal of Control Print, together with all necessary background market research and business planning.

The format and content of the reports are similar to that produced by many major strategic Management Consultants - the only difference being that when one commissions a management consultancy firm to undertake such a study, the cost is usually $50,000-$200,000 whereas DataGroup reports are available for only a fraction of that cost.

The reason for the vast difference in cost is due to the fact that these reports are produced entirely by computer, whereas a normal management consultant's report would have been manually produced and thus the labour content (which is the major cost factor) is greater. In addition none of the management consultancy firms have access to the very large databases held by DataGroup and they therefore have to purchase or research the base data needed for their reports.

As DataGroup reports are produced by computer the analysis contained in these reports is uniform and accurate and the objectivity of the conclusions is greater than that of a manually produced study where one has to rely on individual consultants, their (frequently subjective) opinions, and their technical abilities.

For these reasons we believe that DataGroup reports are a more reliable, accurate and effective product than is the usual management consultant's report.

Clearly, readers may encounter difficulties with the interpretation of the data or analysis and therefore DataGroup provide an After-Sales Service whereby readers can obtain additional data and if required, can hold a Seminar (at the Client's offices) on the reports. Furthermore, an unlimited client hotline is available whereby clients can consult with company, market and industry specialists.

Background to the Tactical & Strategic Reports

In 1979 DataGroup produced the world's first entirely computer generated Tactical and Strategic Company Report and its scope and contents was instantly acknowledged as being a vital and unparalleled tool for all managers interested in a Tactical and Strategic appraisal of a target company - be that their own company, an acquisition target or a competitor.

Between 1979 and 1987 DataGroup supplied these reports only to established clients. The main reason being that the DataGroup computers were fully utilized in supplying the demand from existing clients and there was insufficient capacity to enable the reports to be sold more widely. In 1987, because substantial new computer hardware came on-stream, DataGroup was able to offer the Tactical and Strategic Company Reports on a general basis. Between January 1987 and December 1993 DataGroup distributors had supplied more than 30,000 Tactical and Strategic Company Reports to clients. The reports were quickly recognized as being the most important development in corporate planning for very many years. Since 1993 the distribution of DataGroup reports has been strictly controlled and is no longer available to the general public. These documents and their associated databases are supplied via distributors to their own approved client base.

The fact is that DataGroup Tactical and Strategic Company Reports are unique and there is no other comparable publication available.

The DataGroup Tactical & Strategic Report is the most extensive available from any source in the world. The report is designed to give readers a highly detailed insight into companies by providing a comprehensive range of data, beginning with historic financial results through to a series of long-term forecasts on the company's future performance. The report includes data on company markets, performance, competitive position and full results from surveys of the company customer base, suppliers and other contacts.

A DataGroup Tactical & Strategic Report can probably tell you more about a Company, its Markets and Customers, its Suppliers and Industry Sector, than can its Chairman or indeed the whole Board of Directors.

Whatever your interest in a target company, whether as competitor or analyst, shareholder or investor, customer or client, you will not find a more comprehensive, authoritative and compelling report.

The Tactical & Strategic Report on Control Print covers all the items, topics and issues listed in this report description. The report consists of the report and database as an online download or on DVD.

Since 1974 has provided commercial information to managers in business and government.
