This is the Story of How One Guy Went from Broke to $363,496 in Net Profit (and Counting) All Thanks to Business Credit

Everyone likes a good success story, right? Well, here's one that we all can relate to in some way shape or form.

It's about an aspiring entrepreneur and real estate investor by the name of Vaughn Miller. Vaughn suffered heavily from a condition called "IHMJ", most commonly known as the I Hate My Job syndrome.

He was working over 60 hours a week at a job that he absolutely despised and for a boss that had more than a few screws loose. And to make matters worse, he hardly made enough money to cover all of his living expenses. This was hardly the life that Vaughn expected to live after graduating from a prestigious University, but unfortunately, at that moment, that was life.

Frustrated with his current financial position and overwhelmed by the anxiety brought on by his job, Vaughn made an involuntary change at a time when his work stresses became way too much to bear. Illness and high levels of anxiety caused by his job led him to be a shell of the once positive and athletic individual that he once was. As such, he saw no better option but to take a long-term stress related leave of absence.

Vaughn saw this as an opportunity to not only regain his health and repair his damaged mental mind state, but to also uncover his next move to free him from his own personal hell looming ahead of him called "work". Vaughn vowed to never return to the corporate world again, but unfortunately, his tale doesn't end like the ones you see in the movies. He faced many hurdles and setbacks that tested his mental fortitude, determination and will to succeed. *

How many people can relate to this?

The long standing dream of FINALLY investing in real estate, but confronted with one main obstacle &#x2013; finding the capital necessary to finance your first real estate investment deal?

Trust me, you are not alone. Hundreds of thousands of people every day do all they can to learn about real estate investing in order to create passive income and eventually wave goodbye to the 9-to-5 ground, but even after attending all of the real estate investment clubs, networking with current investors, and maybe even shadowing mentors for real time experience, very few people in this circle actually make it to the other side because they lack the financial resources to do so.

In my book, From Nothing to $300K in Real Estate Profits, you will see how I was able to pass along my real estate finance secrets to one of my good friends who struggled for years to scrape enough money together to ignite his fix and flip real estate investment goals. Fast forward just a short year later, my good friend is FINALLY investing in real estate. And you want to know the best part?...

He's been able to do it with ZERO dollars of his own money.

Check out this quick read to see just how he did it!
