College Admissions Common and Coalition Application &ltp&gt;l saw that in the optional report in the shared app, there was a point where you could set your gpa and rank from a certain point at a certain point at a certain point. I failed on a class junior summer, so I could submit this optional report with my rank and gpa from the freshman year to the end of the junior year, which was pretty good. Can I use this to show that I was in a really good academic state before this failed class (already explained that it was a fluke). Can I use the optional report for this, or can I not use it?&ltp&gt;&ltp&gt;Thank you&ltp&gt;&ltp&gt;Talk about the Optional Report that your consultant can submit? The answer is no. This is not a form that the applicant should not fill out or submit under any circumstances. Its purpose is to provide further or amended information after the consultant has submitted the school report that was originally completed. &ltp&gt;&ltp&gt;Schools will see from your transcripts that your cumulative GPA is being shut down by a single low grade, and if you've already explained this grade, you've provided all the necessary information.&ltp&gt;&ltp&gt;All right, thank you. Was just a little confused, so I really appreciate it. :D&ltp&gt; :D&ltp&gt;
