Below you will find our complete list of split syllables worksheets. In these worksheets, students should find the word that has been correctly divided into syllables based on how it is spoken or pronounced. It is important to note that this is often different from how the word is simply divided into syllables as listed in a dictionary. Learning to divide words into spoken syllables teaches students to identify words based on their vocal parts. It also shows them the correct pronunciation of a range of various word sounds when they are written together. Using these worksheets with their stud networks will allow them to more easily pronounce new words correctly in the future, even those they have never seen before.
