IMDG code (supplement) 3. DGL - List of dangerous goods IMDG Code of International Maritime Dangerous Goods Code is accepted as an international directive for the safe transport or transfer of dangerous goods or dangerous substances by water on the ship. Imdg code is intended to protect crew members and prevent marine pollution in the safe transport of hazardous substances by ship. It is recommended to governments for adoption or for use as a basis for national regulations mandatory in conjunction with the obligations of members of the United Nations Government under the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea (SOLAS) and the International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships (MARPOL 73/78). It is intended not only for use by the sailor, but also by all those involved in industries and services related to shipping. Includes advice on terminology, packaging, labelling, placard, markings, storage space, segregation, treatment and emergency response. The HNS Convention covers dangerous and harmful substances contained in the IMDG Code. Zawiera text: Final Act of the International Conference on Liability and Compensation Bunker Oil Pollution Damage, 2001. The International Maritime Act for Dangerous Goods covers the safe transport of dangerous goods by sea, but does not contain all the information on the procedures for packaging dangerous goods or actions to be taken in the event of an emergency or accident involving personnel handling goods at sea. These aspects are addressed in the publications relating to the Code, which are included in this supplement. As part of an ongoing process of reviewing publications relevant to the IMDG code, the EMS Guide: Emergency Response Procedures for ships carrying dangerous goods has been further amended during the 81st session of MSC in May 2006 and the details described in MSC.1/Circ.1025/Add1. The international code for the safe transport of packaged irradiated fuel, plutonium and high-level radioactive waste on board ships has been amended. This supplement also contains texts from the Guide to Medical First Aid, descriptions of the reporting procedures for incidents involving dangerous goods, harmful substances and/or pollutants in the sea, the IMO/ILO/UNECE guidelines for the packaging of freight transport units, the recommendations for the safe use of pesticides in ships and other appropriate resolutions, resolutions and circulars of the Maritime Safety and Circular Committee of the Facilitation Committee and of the Subcommittee on Dangerous Goods, Fixed Cargo and Containers.
