KEY TAKEAWAYS:

- What do you want to do with this gift God has given you called leadership?
- May the Lord so fire up your soul that you may help many other people come to know God through you!
- There are things worth knowing about and not worth knowing about, God give us the wisdom to tell the difference.
- People look for leaders with courage, not reckless courage
- God did not create us in vain
- Temperance is keeping our desires and wishes within honorable limits
- We must assess everyone for ways that they can soar
- What God gives us stewardship over is for one purpose and one purpose only: to point people to God and connect them with each other.
- Leadership rests in inviting people into the vision in the centerpiece of our hearts
- Do the ordinary things well and excellence will happen by itself
- Every good leader seeks out justice
- Pray to learn Jesus, seek to love Jesus, seek to live Jesus
- It is imperative to treat everyone you meet as though they were Jesus Christ and to treat people as they were Jesus Christ.
- There can be no selfishness in leadership
- Don't treat your life or the life of others as a routine
- Our passion for service must drive our leadership. If not, it'll become routine.
- Oh God, help me to lead today as if it were my first day of service, my last day of service, my only day of service.
