The juvenile litigation team provides legal representation to the Washington State's Department of Children, Youth, and Families to protect abused and neglected children in dependency, guardianship, and termination of parental rights cases. This position involves a fast paced litigation workload, with weekly court appearances on the juvenile calendar, and frequent trials. The subject matter can be difficult, but the work is remarkably rewarding. These cases directly influence the lives of children in our state, in a very meaningful way.

This team handles cases in Thurston, Lewis, and Mason counties' juvenile and superior courts and in appellate courts. The team also handles foster care and day care licensing cases before the Office of Administrative Hearings. As an Assistant Attorney General on the team, one will gain considerable litigation, client advice, and appellate experience. The work involves significant time appearing and litigating in superior court, and also involves consulting with clients, identifying and developing legal strategy, directing and participating fully in the development and resolution of administrative and appellate cases. The attorneys also provide ongoing training to DCYF social workers, supervisory staff, and to colleagues in the AGO. This full time position is located in Tumwater, and involves travel to other counties.

If you are an energetic attorney who wants a challenging and rewarding position protecting vulnerable children, a fast-paced atmosphere, and an extremely collaborative and collegial work environment, this would be an excellent fit for you.
